Loss Of Habitat:

Deforestation and Habitat Loss Jaime Simmons, 2017-12-15 Forests are essential to human and animal survival. Trees produce the oxygen animals need to live. They also provide homes for animals and resources for people. However, Earth's forests are under attack. Deforestation is caused by fires, clear cutting, logging, and climate change. Forests are important to mitigating climate change because they suck up harmful carbon dioxide. Without forests, many plant and animal species would be at risk of becoming endangered or extinct. Complete with manageable text and stunning photographs of forests both healthy and threatened, this book covers essential concepts featured in elementary earth science curricula. Habitat

Fragmentation and Landscape Change David B. Lindenmayer, Joern Fischer, 2013-02-22 Habitat loss and degradation that comes as a result of human activity is the single biggest threat to biodiversity in the world today. Habitat Fragmentation and Landscape Change is a groundbreaking work that brings together a wealth of information from a wide range of sources to define the ecological problems caused by landscape change and to highlight the relationships among landscape change, habitat fragmentation, and biodiversity conservation. The book synthesizes a large body of information from the scientific literature, considers key theoretical principles for examining and predicting effects, examines the range of effects that can arise, explores ways of mitigating impacts, reviews approaches to studying the problem, discusses knowledge gaps and future areas for research and management. Habitat Fragmentation and Landscape Change offers a unique mix of theoretical and practical information, outlining general principles and approaches and illustrating those principles with case studies from around the world. It represents a definitive overview and synthesis on the full range of topics that fall under the widely used but often vaguely defined term habitat fragmentation. Loss of Biodiversity David M. Barker, 2011 This title examines one of the world's critical issues: human trafficking. Readers will learn the historical background of this issue, leading up to its current and future impact on society. Various forms of modern slavery, including debt bondage, child labor, prostitutes, sex slaves, and child soldiers, are discussed in detail, as well as risk factors for trafficking such as poverty, violence, and cultural, traditional, or religious views. Also covered are the physical, psychological, and spiritual impact on trafficking survivors, experience laws intended to combat human trafficking, the tier system, and organizations such as the United Nations and UNICEF. Engaging text, informative sidebars, and color photographs present information realistically, leaving readers with a thorough, honest interpretation of human trafficking. Features include a timeline, facts, additional resources, Web sites, a glossary, a bibliography, and an index. Essential Issues is a series in Essential Library, an imprint of ABDO Publishing Company.

Essentials of Landscape Ecology Kimberly A. With, 2019 Presents the principles, theory, methods, and applications of landscape ecology and is supplemented by numerous examples and case studies from a variety of systems. Forest Fragmentation James Arthur Rochelle, Leslie A. Lehmann, Joe Wisniewski, 1999-01-01 The book contains 15 chapters and provides an overview and synthesis of forest fragmentation and its influences on key ecological processes and vertebrate productivity Land use practices and their effects on vertebrate populations and productivity are discussed and examples of several planning approaches to address landscape level management effects are described Biodiversity and

Richard J. Ladle,2009 The Root Causes of Biodiversity Loss Alexander Wood,Pamela Stedman-Edwards,Johanna Mang,2013-11-05 The world is losing species and biodiversity at an unprecedented rate The causes go deep and the losses are driven by a complex array of social economic political and biological factors at different levels Immediate causes such as over harvesting pollution and habitat change have been well studied but the socioeconomic factors driving people to degrade their environment are less well understood This book examines the underlying causes It provides analyses of a range of case studies from Brazil Cameroon China Danube River Basin India Mexico Pakistan Philippines Tanzania and Vietnam and integrates them into a new and interdisciplinary framework for understanding what is happening From these results the editors are able to derive policy conclusions and recommendations for operational and institutional approaches to address the root causes and reverse the current trends It makes a contribution to the understanding of all those from ecologists and conservationists to economists and policy makers working on one of the major challenges we face Final Environmental
