Magnetic Resonance In Experimental And Clinical Oncology:

Magnetic Resonance in Experimental and Clinical Oncology Jeffrey L. Evelhoch, William Negendank, Frederick A. Valeriote, Laurence H. Baker, 2012-12-06 Over the past decade techniques have been developed and implemented to observe metabolism noninvasively in localized regions of intact living experimental animals and humans through the use of magnetic resonance spectroscopy MRS At the same time magnetic resonance imaging MRI techniques developed in the 1970s and refined in this decade have been increasingly applied as a powerful clinical tool to probe human anatomy Because of the unusual metabolic and physiologic characteristics of malignant tissues oncology has been one of the primary focuses of the application of both MRS and MRI Although considerable progress has been made in oncologic applications of magnetic resonance MR further research is needed to realize the full potential of MR in this area Consequently the 21st Annual Detroit Cancer Symposium entitled Magnetic Resonance in Experimental and Clinical Oncology was organized to provide a forum for researchers in the field to report the state of the art of MRS and MRI in oncology to discuss future goals for MRS and MRI in oncology and to define the research needed to meet those goals The major emphasis of the symposium was on MRS due to both the recent widespread availability of clinical MRS instrumentation and the extensive amount of animal MRS research performed over the past half decade

Hyperthermia M. Urano, E. Douple, 1994-04 The number of studies on the use of hyperthermia in combination with chemotherapeutic agents is steadily increasing However thermochemotherapy has not yet captured significant clinical interest Therefore this fourth volume in the book series Hyperthermia and Oncology deals with this topic as the editors feel there is a significant potential for this combined modality as an adjuvant to palliative or definitive radiotherapy or the use of chemotherapy alone to treat localized or advanced diseases The articles in this volume deal with various aspects of chemotherapy combined with hyperthermia and will be of value and interest to researchers in this field Congress

L. Buckley, Geoffrey J. M. Parker, 2005-11-02 Dynamic contrast enhanced MRI is now established as the methodology of choice for the assessment of tumor microcirculation in vivo This is assisting clinical practitioners in the management of patients with solid tumors and is finding prominence in the assessment of tumor treatments including anti angiogenics chemotherapy and radiotherapy In this book targeted at both clinical practitioners and basic scientists the principles of the methods their practical implementation and their application to specific tumor types are discussed by the leading authorities in the field today The book will serve as an invaluable single volume reference covering all the latest developments in contrast enhanced oncological MRI Eicosanoids and Other Bioactive Lipids in Cancer and Radiation Injury Kenneth V. Honn, Lawrence J. Marnett, Santosh Nigam, Thomas Walden Jr., 2012-12-06 This volume contains the proceedings of the First International Conference on Eicosanoids and Other Bioactive Lipids in Cancer and Radiation Injury held in Detroit Michigan on October 11 14 1989 The program consisted of 83 oral and 29 poster presentations 74 of which are included in these proceedings The major sponsors of the conference were the Armed Forces Radiobiology Research Institute located in Bethesda Maryland the Radiation Oncology Research and Development Center of the Gershenson Radiation Oncology Center Harper Hospital in Detroit Michigan and Schering AG of West Germany Eighteen other organizations provided additional support The conference was unique in its attempt to link the eicosanoid and lipid researchers in the radiobiology and cancer disciplines The diverse roles that eicosanoids and other bioactive lipids play in these biological phenomena including the participation of lipid oxidation in conversion of procarcinogens positive and negative modulation of tumor growth

Discovery and Development Frederick A. Valeriote, Thomas H. Corbett, Laurence H. Baker, 2012-12-06 The focus of the 22nd Annual Detroit Cancer Symposium was the presentation and discussion of cytotoxic agents with a significant portion of the symposium including the exciting frontiers of drug discovery being explored by the National Cooperative Drug Discovery

Groups NCDDG Program The symposium brought together a large number of investigators from government universities and pharmaceutical companies involved in the discovery and development of new anticancer agents Exciting new leads were presented and the status of others presently under development was discussed Of particular significance has been the initiation of renewed efforts in the area of natural product drug discovery where the discovery of new cytotoxics is very promising at the moment A number of major changes have occurred during the last decade in research on drug discovery of cytotoxic agents Critical reviews of a number of the models and concepts underlying drug discovery represented a continuous thread throughout the meeting being constantly discussed in terms of their advantages disadvantages and capabilities of discovering solid tumor active anticancer agents A recent development which is to be much applauded and which portends to great discoveries is the new relationship formed between Government University of Industry The NCDDG mechanism which stimulates this interaction is an inexpensive manner to greatly magnify the drug discovery and development effort nationally Cytotoxic Anticancer Drugs Models and Concepts for Drug Discovery and Development represents a forum which will become the major mode for bringing together these three different components in the equation to regularly discuss new results and ideas
