Magnificent Milwaukee Architectural Treasures 1850-1920:

Magnificent Milwaukee H. Russell Zimmermann, 1987-01-01 Milwaukee in Stone and Clay Raymond Wiggers, 2024-04-15 Milwaukee in Stone and Clay follows directly in the footsteps of Raymond Wiggers's previous award winning book Chicago in Stone and Clay. It offers a wide ranging look at the fascinating geology found in the building materials of Milwaukee County's architectural landmarks. And it reveals the intriguing and often surprising links between science, art and engineering. Laid out in two main sections, the book first introduces the reader to the fundamentals of Milwaukee's geology and its amazing prehuman history, then provides a site by site tour guide. Written in an engaging informal style, this work presents the first in depth exploration of the interplay among the region's most architecturally significant sites, the materials they're made of, and the sediments and bedrock they're anchored in. Raymond Wiggers crafted Milwaukee in Stone and Clay as an informative and exciting overview of this city. His two decades of experience leading architectural geology tours have demonstrated the popularity of this approach and the subject matter. The Sandstone Architecture of the Lake Superior Region Kathryn Bishop Eckert, 2000. From 1870 to 1910, the prosperity of the copper and iron mining, lumbering and shipping industries of the Lake Superior region created a demand for more substantial buildings. In satisfying this demand, architects, builders and clients preferred local red sandstone. They found this stone beautiful, colorful, carvable, durable and fireproof. Because it was extracted easily in large blocks and shipped cheaply by water, it was economical. The red sandstone city halls, county courthouses, churches, schools, libraries, banks, commercial blocks and houses gave the Lake Superior region a distinct identity. Kathryn Bishop Eckert studies this region as a built environment and examines the efforts of architects and builders to use local red sandstone. Eckert stresses the importance of the building materials as she explores the architectural history of a region whose builders wanted to reflect the local landscape.

Marble Palaces, Temples of Art Ingrid A. Steffensen-Bruce, 1998. The era from 1890 to 1930 constituted a building boom for American art museums designed in a monumental classical style. Both the proliferation of the buildings and the ubiquity of the style seem to indicate an architectural as well as a sociocultural phenomenon. The present work is an attempt to place the American art museum building of this period into its historical milieu and employs over one hundred illustrations and sociocultural analysis to explain the significance of both the institutions and the structures housing them to those who came into regular contact with them, including architects, patrons, journalists and museum personnel. A Crowded Hour KEVIN ABING, 2017-06-25 The Wisconsin Magazine of History Milo Milton Quaife, Joseph Schafer, Edward Porter Alexander, 1986 Exclusively Yours, 1995 The Captain Frederick Pabst Mansion John C. Eastberg, 2009. The Pabst Residence on Grand Avenue is one of the most handsomest in the city. It is a model of what wealth, luxury and good taste can secure. Yenowine's Illustrated News, September 1894. Little did Captain Frederick Pabst, Milwaukee's famed beer baron, know that when he began construction of his new mansion in 1890, it would survive and thrive into the twenty-first century as a testament to America's Gilded Age John C Eastberg sets the context for this architectural landmark by drawing out the intimate character of Captain Pabst his family and his brewing empire As a leading figure of Milwaukee's society Captain Pabst and his wife Maria became consummate art collectors filling their mansion with priceless treasures After the Pabst descendants sold the house in 1908 it became the archbishop's residence and the center of the Roman Catholic Archdiocese of Milwaukee for over sixty years When it was sold in 1975 for the second time in its history the mansion was nearly torn down to make way for a parking lot After a three year crusade for its preservation the Pabst Mansion was spared demolition and has been under active restoration ever since This highly illustrated history includes hundreds of current and historical photographs documenting the extraordinary history of this exceptional residence America Restored Carol M. Highsmith, Ted Landphair, 1994 Here are represented recognizable and grand spaces such as Ellis Island in New York Harbor and the Chicago Theater as well as small and intimate places such as the Dowse Sod House in Nebraska and Saint Philomena Church in Hawaii And more than beautiful pictures are captured Each site has a special story to tell Grand schemes led to the creation of Cleveholm Castle in Colorado while an especially creative solution to a space problem helped to establish the Custer County Art Center in Montana One woman's determined and sturdy dedication brought about the Frontier Nursing Service in Kentucky which continues to serve mountain women in need These and many other stories provide a moving and informative text that captures the human drama surrounding the restoration of these landmarks some for a new use and others so they might continue as before Association for Preservation Technology International Communique Association for Preservation Technology, 1985
