Workforce, Committee to Study the National Needs for Biomedical, Behavioral, and Clinical Research Personnel, 2011-02-28 Comprehensive research and a highly trained workforce are essential for the improvement of health and health care both nationally and internationally During the past 40 years the National Research Services Award NRSA Program has played a large role in training the workforce responsible for dramatic advances in the understanding of various diseases and new insights that have led to more effective and targeted therapies In spite of this program the difficulty obtaining jobs after the postdoc period has discouraged many domestic students from pursuing graduate postdoc training In the United States more than 50 percent of the postdoc workforce is made up of individuals who obtained their Ph D s from other countries Indeed one can make a strong argument that the influx of highly trained and creative foreigners has contributed greatly to U S science over the past 70 years Research Training in the Biomedical Behavioral and Clinical Research Sciences discusses a number of important issues including the job prospects for postdocs completing their training questions about the continued supply of international postdocs in an increasingly competitive world the need for equal excellent training for all graduate students who receive NIH funding and the need to increase the diversity of trainees The book recommends improvements in minority recruiting more rigorous and extensive training in the responsible conduct of research and ethics increased emphasis on career development more attention to outcomes and the requirement for incorporating more quantitative thinking in the biomedical curriculum Scientific and Technical Aerospace Reports ,1995 Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1998, 1997 Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1998 United States. The Word As Scalpel Samuel William Bloom, 2002-05 A doctor can damage a patient as much with a misplaced word as with a slip of the scalpel In this statement from Lawrence J Henderson a famous physician whose name is part of the basic science of medicine epitomizes the central theme of The Word as Scalpel If words the main substance of human relations are so potent for harm how equally powerful they can be to help if used with disciplined knowledge and understanding Nowhere does this simple truth apply more certainly than in the behavior of a physician Medical Sociology studies the full social context of health and disease the interpersonal relations social institutions and the influence of social factors on the problems of medicine Throughout its history medical sociology divides naturally into two parts the pre modern represented by various studies of health and social problems in Europe and the United States until the second World War and the modern post war period The modern period has seen rapid growth and the achievement of the full formal panoply of professionalism This engaging account documents the development of professional associations official journals and programs of financial support both private and governmental Written by a distinguished pioneer in medical sociology The Word as Scalpel is a definitive study of a relatively new but critically important field Energy and Water Development Appropriations for 1996 United States, Congress, House, Committee on Appropriations, Subcommittee on Energy and Water Energy and Water Development Appropriations for 1996: Testimony of members of Congress Development, 1995 and other interested individuals and organizations United States. Office of Planning, Analysis, and Evaluation, 1995 The Changing Governance of the Sciences Richard Whitley, Jochen Gläser, 2008-03-20 This book arose from a conversation between Lars Engwall and Richard Whitley during the 2003 European Group for Organization Studies Colloquium in Copenhagen about important topics for future research We agreed then and this has been amply confirmed by subsequent events that the proliferation of research eval tion schemes especially in Europe was an important feature of the changing re tionships between the state universities and scientific research more generally which needed systematic and comparative analysis With the support of the Bank of Sweden Tercentenary Foundation this discussion led to workshops in Uppsala and Manchester involving colleagues from Australia Germany and the Netherlands at which the main framework for such an analysis was developed This framework then formed the basis for the conference at Bielefeld in 2005 at which earlier versions of most of the papers in this volume were presented and extensively discussed We are very grateful for the support of the PRIME network of the European Commission and the Max Planck Institute for the History of Science for this c ference as well as the invaluable efforts of Peter Weingart of the University of Bielefeld We are also greatly indebted to the members of the Editorial Board who commented on various drafts of these papers as well as to Aant Elzinga Stefan Kuhlmann Philippe Laredo Arie Rip and Nic Vonortas who acted as referees Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 1995 United States. Congress. House. Committee on Appropriations. Subcommittee on the Departments of Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies, 1994 The Changing Frontier Adam B. Jaffe, Benjamin F. Jones, 2015-08-24 In 1945 Vannevar Bush founder of Raytheon and one time engineering dean at MIT delivered a report to the president of the United States that argued for the importance of public support for science and the importance of science for the future of the nation The report Science The Endless Frontier set America on a path toward strong and well funded institutions of science creating an intellectual architecture that still defines scientific endeavor today In The Changing Frontier Adam B Jaffe and Benjamin Jones bring together a group of prominent scholars to consider the changes in science and innovation in the ensuing decades The contributors take on such topics as changes in the organization of scientific research the geography of innovation modes of entrepreneurship and the structure of research institutions and linkages between science and innovation An important analysis of where science stands today The Changing Frontier will be invaluable to practitioners and policy makers alike
