Toy Stories Vanessa Smith, 2023-09-05 Toy Stories Analyzing the Child in Nineteenth Century Literature explores the stakes of recurrent depictions of children's violent damaging and tenuously restorative play with objects within a long nineteenth century of fictional and educational writing As Vanessa Smith shows us these scenes of aggression and anxiety cannot be squared with the standard picture of domestic childhood across that period. Instead they seem to attest to the kinds of enactments of infant distress we would normally associate with post psychoanalytic modernity creating a ripple effect in the literary texts that nest them regressing developmental narratives giving new value to wooden characters exposing Realism's solid objects to odd fracture and troubling distinctions between artificial and authentic interiority. Toy Stories is the first study to take these scenes of anger and overwhelm seriously challenging received ideas about both the nineteenth century and its literary forms. Radically re-conceiving nineteenth century childhood and its literary depiction as anticipating the scenes theories and methodologies of early child analysis Toy Stories proposes a shared literary and psychoanalytic discernment about child's play that in turn provides a deep context for understanding both the development of the novel and the keen British uptake of Melanie Klein's and Anna Freud's interventions in child therapy. In doing so the book provides a necessary reframing of the work of Klein and Freud and their fractious disagreement about the interior life of the child and its object mediated manifestations.

Borderline Alexander Kriss, PhD, 2024-04-30 An intimate compassionate and expansive portrait of Borderline Personality Disorder that rejects the conventional wisdom that this condition is untreatable told by a psychologist who specializes in BPD. Mental illness is heavily stigmatized within our society and within this already marginalized group folks with BPD are deemed especially untreatable and hopeless. When as a graduate student Alex Kriss first began working as a therapist in the field his supervisors warned him that borderline patients were manipulative difficult and had a tendency to drop out of treatment. Yet years later when Kriss was establishing his private practice and a borderline patient known as Ana came to his office he felt compelled to try to help her despite all of the warnings he'd heard. Borderline is the story of his work with Ana how his successes with her led him to open his doors to other BPD patients and advocate for them. Borderline is also the story of the disorder itself. Kriss traces accounts of the condition going back to antiquity showing how this disease has been known by many names over the millennia most of them gendered possession hysteria witchcraft moral insanity. All referred to a person usually a woman whose behavior and personality were seen as fractured unstable unpredictable and uncontrollable. Kriss guides us through this history up through the emergence of psychotherapy the development of the modern diagnosis and attitudes toward treatment today.

Memory Unbound Lucy Bond, Stef Craps, Pieter Vermeulen, 2016-11-01 Though still a relatively young field memory studies has undergone significant transformations since it first coalesced as an area of inquiry. Increasingly scholars understand memory to be a fluid dynamic unbound phenomenon a process rather than a reified object. Embodying just such an elastic approach this state of the field collection systematically explores the transcultural transgenerational transmedial and transdisciplinary dimensions of memory four key dynamics that have sometimes been studied in isolation but never in such an integrated manner Memory Unbound places leading researchers in conversation with emerging voices in the field to recast our understanding of memory's distinctive variability After Sex? On Being One's Self Sharon Numa, 2022-09-05 On Being One's Self emerges from discussions in John Steiner's Workshop and investigates the meanings of self and identity including the many ways in which the development of personal identity can be subverted interrogating what can facilitate the development of a reasonably stable identity The variety of problems that can arise in relation to the development of a unique identity is reflected in rich clinical material that vividly illustrates identities felt to be weak unformed fluid or brittle in many cases demonstrating how the sense of self is held together by pathological defences and organisations The book examines several long term adult analytic cases suggesting that a mature personal identity involves not only knowing who one is but also the capacity for empathic identification with the experience of others as separate human beings The question of having an identity or the fear of losing it is a central concern of individuals and this volume which will be of interest to psychoanalysts and psychotherapists alike considers these issues by looking at the deepest conflicts around self and identity as they emerge and are relived in the transference relationship

The Feeling of Certainty Nikolay Mintchev, R. D. Hinshelwood, 2017-11-09 This book explores the concept of certainty a term which is widely used in everyday language to designate a psychological experience or feeling but is rarely considered controversial or politically charged The Feeling of Certainty argues that conversely this most ordinary of feelings plays a key role in shaping identity formation social exclusion prejudice and commitment to political causes The authors question what it means for the subject to feel certainty about her or his relationships to self and others From where does the feeling of certainty originate and how does it differ from modes of thought that are open to scepticism about the order of things They draw on a wide range of theories including those of Freud Klein Lacan Wittgenstein Bion and Jung challenging readers to consider the world of ideologies symbols and stereotypes in which certainty is entrenched as well as the inter and intra psychic processes and defence mechanisms which form the unconscious foundation of the experience of certainty This collection will offer valuable insight to scholars of psychology politics social science and history The Handbook of Child
