Melbournes Monuments:

Melbourne's Monuments Ronald T. Ridley, 1996 A guide to the public statuary of Melbourne based on two walks around the inner city Many public monuments are often just accepted as part of the scene but each statue or memorial has a story to tell whether about the sculptor or the person or event it commemorates and all of them represent a small piece of Melbourne history Imperial Culture in Antipodean Cities, 1880-1939 J. Griffiths, 2014-03-11 Drawing on a wealth of primary and secondary sources this book explores how far imperial culture penetrated antipodean city institutions It argues that far from imperial saturation the city Down Under was remarkably untouched by the Empire Walks of Art series. The Art of Melbourne: Swanston Street Denise M Taylor, 2014-02-10 Stroll or tram down Swanston Street aptly referred to as Melbourne's iconic spine and you will encounter contemporary architecture and street art vying for attention beside 19th century old school bronze statues and buildings permanent reminders of Melbourne's early British settlement There are no visible signs of the people who first inhabited this land however you can engage with Aboriginal art in the Australian collection at the National Gallery of Victoria's Ian Potter Centre at the rear of Federation Square This self guided tour begins at the northern end of Swanston Street The University of Melbourne's Ian Potter Museum of Art Before you start you can enjoy a tea or coffee at the Potter cafe which hugs the north east corner of the art gallery Heading south you will eventually reach the Yarra River where Swanston Street becomes St Kilda Road across Princes Bridge The green expanse of the Royal Melbourne Botanic Gardens fans out to the left To the right is the Arts Centre with its spire and further on the imposing bluestone building of the National Gallery of Victoria NGV International houses a range of international art dating from antiquity through to the 21st century The tour finishes here You will engage with many forms of art which speak to each of us differently a work of art may remind us of the past a weathered facade or a history painting represent the present or project an imagined future After you finish this tour along Swanston Street you might ask yourself Is Melbourne developing a distinctive artistic character representative of its past present and perhaps even its future Walks of Art self guided walking tours spotlight urban pockets of Melbourne and Europe with a focus on art in galleries on the streets and in public places As the tours are self paced you can determine for yourself how long you spend at each stop Sometimes looking at a facade is all that is required or a lengthier time may be spent at a gallery or church It's all up to you Most of the galleries and museums of art on the tours are chosen because they either do not charge admission fees except for temporary exhibitions or if they do the fee is deemed reasonable by the author Again you have the choice Each walk includes many works of art with detailed descriptions a map of the route opening and closing times of galleries museums churches institutions photos images at least one inexpensive eatery along the way that is a favourite of the author The author is mindful of those art lovers who are confined to a wheelchair Walks of Art tours consider the ease of wheelchair access along the route Traditional travel guide books are expensive adding bulk and weight to travel bags They can also be out of date very quickly Walks of Art are distributed as e guides to smartphones iPads and Kindles easy to buy and access and eco friendly The author keeps a vigilant eye on any changes to opening hours new installations closures and or removals of works of art This means that information can be updated with the click of a button However for those travellers who prefer reading print on paper rather than on shiny screens a pocket book version of Walks of Art will be available in the near future Look out for the next tour in the Walks of Art series which will focus on a pocket in Rome All tours are intended for those individuals who like the author want to experience art slowly

Where History Happened Peter Spearritt,2018-09-01 Where History Happened reveals the hidden past of some of Australia s most intriguing towns and places from mining settlements and whaling stations to monuments and historic houses in our capital cities The stories that emerge of remote religious communities isolated penal colonies places of Indigenous incarceration and environmental degradation and rejuvenation describe a vast and complex country with a heritage worth preserving Part social architectural military political and industrial history part road trip travel companion this book has something for every reader

Dark Tourism and Place Identity Leanne White,Elspeth Frew,2013-03-20 Dark Tourism including visitation to places such as murder sites battlefields and cemeteries is a growing phenomenon as well as an emergent area of scholarly interest Despite this interest the intersecting domains of dark tourism and place identity have been largely overlooked in the academic literature and this book aims to fill this void The three main themes of Visitor Motivation Destination Management and Place Interpretation are addressed in this book from both a demand and supply perspective by examining a variety of case studies from around the world This edited volume takes the dark tourism discussion to another level by reinforcing the critical intersecting domains of dark tourism and place identity and in particular highlighting the importance of understanding this connection for visitors and destination managers Written by leading academics in the area this stimulating volume of 19 chapters will be valuable reading for postgraduate and advanced undergraduate students in a range of discipline areas researchers and academics interested in dark tourism and other interested stakeholders including those in the tourism industry government bodies and community groups

Possession Bain Attwood,2015-02-04 It contemplates why these agreements were forged how the Aboriginal people understood their terms why government repudiated them and how settlers claimed to be the rightful owners of the land Bain Attwood also reveals the ways in which the settler society has endeavoured to make good its act of possession by repeatedly creating histories that have recalled or repressed the memory of Batman the treaties and the Aborigines destruction and dispossession and charts how Aboriginal people have unsettled this matter of history through their remembering

Monuments and the Millennium Jeanne Marie Teutonico,John Fidler,2001 Twenty four papers taken from an international conference on conservation issues concerning public sculpture and monuments held at the Victoria and Albert Museum in 1998 The papers are divided by subject into those that deal with approaches to art historical conservation and inventory issues others which discuss technical approaches case studies and discussions of the future and commissioning of new public sculpture The authors derive from a range of different backgrounds including English Heritage Imperial War Museum art galleries conservation architects Historic Scotland university departments Antipodal Shakespeare Gordon McMullan, Philip Mead, Ailsa Grant Ferguson, Mark Houlahan, Kate Flaherty, 2018-02-08 Despite a recent surge of critical interest in the Shakespeare Tercentenary a great deal has been forgotten about this key moment in the history of the place of Shakespeare in national and global culture much more than has been remembered This book offers new archival discoveries about and new interpretations of the Tercentenary celebrations in Britain Australia and New Zealand and reflects on the long legacy of those celebrations This collection gathers together five scholars from Britain Australia and New Zealand to reflect on the modes of commemoration of Shakespeare across the hemispheres in and after the Tercentenary year 1916 It was at this moment of remembering in 1916 that global Shakespeare first emerged in recognizable form Each contributor performs their own antipodal reading assessing in parallel events across two hemispheres geographically opposite but politically and culturally connected in the wake of empire Stone Tim Edensor, 2020-06-01 In undertaking a systematic analysis of urban materiality this book investigates one kind of material in Melbourne stone The work draws on a range of pertinent current theories that consider materiality assemblages networks phenomenology resource and extraction geographies memorialisation maintenance and repair place identity skill sensation and affect haunting and the vitalism of the non human In appealing to the general reader academics and students this book provides a highly readable account replete with evocative examples and fascinating historical and contemporary stories about stone in Melbourne Australian Citizenship Brian Galligan, Winsome Roberts, 2004 Australians have much to celebrate in the hundred years of their citizenship but also a good deal to be ashamed of The authors argue that good citizenship depends on moral citizens able to discern between what is worthy of respect and pride and what is shameful in national life Galligan and Roberts from Uni of Melbourne New Suburban Stories Martin Dines, Timotheus Vermeulen, 2013-09-12 Exploring fiction film and art from across the USA South America Asia Europe and Australia New Suburban Stories brings together new research from leading international scholars to examine cultural representations of the suburbs home to a rapidly increasing proportion of the world's population Focussing in particular on works that challenge conventional attitudes to suburbia the book considers how suburban communities have taken control of their own representation to tell their own stories in contemporary novels poetry autobiography cinema social media and public art Sacred Places K. S. Inglis, Jan Brazier, 2008 Memorials to Australian participation in wars abound in our landscape From Melbourne's huge Shrine of Remembrance to the modest marble soldier obelisk or memorial hall in suburb and country town they mourn and honour Australians who have served and died for their country Surprisingly they have largely escaped scrutiny Ken Inglis argues that the imagery rituals and rhetoric generated around memorials constitute a civil religion a cult of ANZAC Sacred Places traces three elements which converged to create the cult the special place of war in the European mind when nationalism was at its zenith the colonial condition and the death of so many young men in distant battle which impelled the bereaved to make substitutes for the graves of which history had deprived them The war memorial movement attracted conflict as well as commitment Inglis looks at uneasy acceptance even rejection of the cult by socialists pacifists feminists and some Christians and at its virtual exclusion of Aborigines He suggests that between 1918 and 1939 the making dedication and use of memorials enhanced the power of the right in Australian public life Finally he examines a paradox Why as Australia s wars recede in public and private memory and as a once British Australia becomes multicultural have the memorials and what they stand for become more cherished than ever Sacred Places spans war religion politics language and the visual arts Ken Inglis has distilled new cultural understandings from a familiar landscape
