Melmon and Morrellis's Clinical Pharmacology Kenneth L. Melmon, 1992      Clinical Pharmacology Kenneth L.

Melmon, Howard F. Morrelli, 2000      A Primer of Human Behavioral Pharmacology Alan Poling, 2013-06-29 vii Drugs and sex are two topics about which most people have strong opinions and weak understanding Knowledge of each can be gained in many ways all with associated rewards and risks Like all textbooks this one was written in the belief that reading can foster learning The book is intended to introduce principles of behavioral pharmacology to readers with little or no knowledge of the discipline but with an interest in how drugs affect human behavior Gleaning anything of value from the text requires two things from the reader The first is a willingness to accept an analysis of drug effects that shares little with folklore or common sense notions of drug action The second is a willingness to accept the fact that the behavioral effects of drugs are complex and depend upon a sizable number of pharmacological and behavioral variables Unless one is aware of these factors and how they determine a drug's actions the behavioral effects of drugs can be neither predicted nor meaningfully explained If it does nothing else this volume will make it obvious that the behavioral effects of drugs are lawful and can be predicted and understood on the basis of well established relations between empirical phenomena Describing these relations and exploring how they allow behavioral pharmacologists to make sense of drug effects that are otherwise incomprehensible was a major goal in preparing the text

The Evaluation of New Antiarrhythmic Drugs
J. Morganroth, E. Neil Moore, L.S. Dreifus, E.L. Michelson, 2012-12-06 Thus there are now several chronic canine myocardial infarction ventricular tachyarrhythmia models which are available for the evaluation of new antiarrhythmic drugs Table I The available models fulfill many but not all of the requirements for an ideal chronic arrhythmia model Table 11 The sustained arrhythmias initiated in these models using programmed pacing presumably have the same localized reentrant mechanism that characterizes chronic human myocardial infarction and chronic coronary artery disease However these models are not suitable for determining whether a new drug will abolish spontaneously occurring PVCs In addition these models are of unproven value in the study of acute spontaneously occurring sudden death although recently initiated provocative work may shed further light on this subject Most importantly the available models do seem well suited to the evaluation of new drugs intended for use in chronic coronary artery disease patients at risk for sustained reentrant ventricular tachycardia or VF Notably the results of preliminary electropharmacologic studies in these canine models parallel closely those findings reported in human patients with sustained life threatening ventricular tachyarrhythmias Table III Therefore increased use of these chronic models for new antiarrhythmic drug testing is strongly recommended TABLE II Ideal vs Available Chronic Canine Arrhythmia Models Ideal Available 1 a Arrhythmia mechanism comparable to Yes patients with chronic CAD Reentry b Pathophysiology similar e g atherogenic CAD No 2 Susceptible to a spontaneous PVCs No 1 No b spontaneous VT VF c inducible VT VF Yes 3
