Muslims formed a disparate and unwieldy community in Bombay in the nineteenth century The Islam that was professedly held in common by various groups could barely provide a sense of unity or cohesion to people so widely diverse in terms of language customs and also of forms and practices of belief By the middle of the nineteenth century a class of wealthy ship owners ship builders and merchants belonging to the varied communities that constituted the city of which Muslims formed an important part had emerged This class was outward looking modern and generally reformist in outlook Gujarati or Maharashtrian its goals of social reform education as well as political awareness were gradually beginning to be perceived as goals held across communities and increasingly across different regions The questions that were being raised in the social turmoil of the period amongst Hindus were over issues of female education the age of marriage widow remarriage and female seclusion These issues were not foreign to the Muslim community and the part played by Muslim leaders in Bombay in discussing and negotiating them was not an insignificant one taking into account the size and relative backwardness of the community Within this context this book traces the evolving identity of a Bombay family and its changing social and political views in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries using three main sources their family journals an individual memoir journal and letters written home from Europe Cricket Cauldron Shaharyar M. Khan, Ali Khan, 2013-04-30

Pakistan is a country beset with politicised instabilities economic problems ethnic conflicts religious fervour and crises of identity It is also a country in which the game of cricket has become a nationwide obsession How has that happened How does a Muslim country jealous of its independence and determined to forge a Pakistani identity so passionately embrace the alien gentleman s game imported by the distant and departed former colonial masters What do we learn of Pakistan from its attitudes and responses to cricket This book sees Pakistan its history politics and society through the prism of cricket Shaharyar Khan and Ali Khan describe how cricket defines national identity and boosts morale even while Pakistan struggles to contain internal political conflict and the influence of the Taliban near and within its borders they show how the game shapes the political social and cultural landscape of Pakistan and its fractured relations with India But with recent betting scandals and accusations of spot fixing throwing Pakistani cricket into the global media spotlight what does cricket tell us about condition of Pakistani society today The former Chairman of the Pakistan Cricket Board a man with an unparalleled insight into the establishment Shaharyar Khan examines how this very Western sport came to embed itself in the psyche of Pakistanis old and young transcending social and class boundaries The authors illuminate Pakistan for readers by offering an unusual and highly original perspective that in understanding the state of cricket in Pakistan can we gain a deeper understanding of the state of Pakistan itself Demonstrating how the turbulence around cricket has much wider political implications this book will fascinate general readers and cricket enthusiasts at the same time proving essential reading for observers of Pakistan India and the South Asia region

Muslim Women, Reform and Princely Patronage Siobhan Lambert-Hurley, 2007-01-24 This is a new and engaging examination of the emergence of a Muslim women s movement in India The state of Bhopal a Muslim principality in central India was ruled by a succession of female rulers throughout the nineteenth and twentieth centuries most notably the last Begam of Bhopal Nawab Sultan Jahan Begam Siobhan Lambert Hurley puts forward the importance for early Muslim female activists to balance continuity and innovation By operating within the framework of Islam these women built on traditional norms in order to introduce incremental change in terms of veiling female education marriage motherhood and women s political rights For the first time this book analyzes the role of the daughters of reform the first generation of Muslim women who contributed to the reformist discourse particularly at the regional level Based on numerous primary sources in Urdu including the tracts books reports letters and journal articles of Sultan Jahan Begam and the other women of Bhopal along with official records such as the reports of early organizations and institutions in the Bhopal State the author sheds light on an important part of India s history

Elusive Lives Siobhan Lambert-Hurley, 2018-07-31 Muslim South Asia is widely characterized as a culture that idealizes female anonymity women s bodies are veiled and their voices silenced Challenging these perceptions Siobhan Lambert Hurley highlights an elusive strand of autobiographical writing dating back several centuries that offers a new lens through which to study notions of selfhood In Elusive Lives she locates the voices of Muslim women who rejected taboos against women speaking out by telling their life stories in written autobiography To chart patterns across time and space materials dated from the sixteenth century to the present are drawn from across South Asia including present day India Pakistan and Bangladesh Lambert Hurley uses many rare autobiographical texts in a wide array of languages including Urdu English Hindi Bengali Gujarati Marathi Punjabi and Malayalam to elaborate a theoretical model for gender autobiography and the self beyond the usual Euro American frame In doing so she works toward a new globalized history of the field Ultimately Elusive Lives points to the sheer diversity of Muslim women s lives and life stories offering a unique window into a history of the everyday against a backdrop of imperialism reformism nationalism and feminism Strategy, Diplomacy, Humanity Sahabzada Yaqub Khan,2005

Speaking of the Self Anshu Malhotra,Siobhan Lambert-Hurley,2015-10-23 Many consider the autobiography to be a Western genre that represents the self as fully autonomous The contributors to Speaking of the Self challenge this presumption by examining a wide range of women s autobiographical writing from South Asia Expanding the definition of what kinds of writing can be considered autobiographical the contributors analyze everything from poetry songs mystical experiences and diaries to prose fiction architecture and religious treatises The authors they study are just as diverse a Mughal princess an eighteenth century courtesan from Hyderabad a nineteenth century Muslim prostitute in Punjab a housewife in colonial Bengal a Muslim Gandhian devotee of Krishna several female Indian and Pakistani novelists and two male actors who worked as female impersonators The contributors find that in these autobiographies the authors construct their gendered selves in relational terms Throughout they show how autobiographical writing in whatever form it takes provides the means toward more fully understanding the historical social and cultural milieu in which the author performs herself and creates her subjectivity Contributors Asiya Alam Afshan Bokhari Uma Chakravarti Kathryn Hansen Siobhan Lambert Hurley Anshu Malhotra Ritu Menon Shubhra Ray Shweta Sachdeva Jha Sylvia Vatuk     The Nine Lives of Pakistan: Dispatches from a Precarious State Declan Walsh, 2020-11-17 Winner of the 2021 Overseas Press Club of America Cornelius Ryan Award The former New York Times Pakistan bureau chief paints an arresting up close portrait of a fractured country Declan Walsh is one of the New York Times's most distinguished international correspondents His electrifying portrait of Pakistan over a tumultuous decade captures the sweep of this strange wondrous and benighted country through the dramatic lives of nine fascinating individuals On assignment as the country careened between crises Walsh traveled from the raucous port of Karachi to the salons of Lahore and from Baluchistan to the mountains of Waziristan He met a diverse cast of extraordinary Pakistanis a chieftain readying for war at his desert fort a retired spy skulking through the borderlands and a crusading lawyer risking death for her beliefs among others Through these nine lives he describes a country on the brink a place of creeping extremism and political chaos but also personal bravery and dogged idealism that defy easy stereotypes Unbeknownst to Walsh however an intelligence agent was tracking him Written in the aftermath of Walsh's abrupt deportation The Nine Lives of Pakistan concludes with an astonishing encounter with that agent and his revelations about Pakistan's powerful security state Intimate and complex attuned to the centrifugal forces of history identity and faith The Nine Lives of Pakistan offers an unflinching account of life in a precarious vital country     A Princess's Pilgrimage Sikandar Begum (Nawab of Bhopal), 2007 Sikandar Begum's critical and often surprising description provides unique insight into the factors that went into writing this quintessentially Muslim journey in a colonial environment     The Indian Diary of Vera Luboshinsky (1938-1945) Vera Luboshinsky, 2024-03-13 The Indian Diary of Vera Luboshinsky narrates life at the Indian princely court of Bhopal during the 1940s Vera was the daughter of Professor M J Herzenstein a member of the State Duma in pre revolutionary Russia and married to Count Mark Luboshinsky After the Bolshevik revolution they emigrated to Czechoslovakia where they met Hamidullah Khan Nawab of Bhopal an important political figure during the last decades of the British Empire and India's fight for independence Impressed by Mark Luboshinsky's managerial abilities the Nawab invited him to come to India to manage his estates The couple spent seven years in India winter 1938 winter 1945 They stayed in and around Bhopal taking part in palace business or travelling across India accompanying the Nawab's family on long journeys The Diary is a unique and completely unknown text to the Anglophone world a rich primary source for historians of India's princely states providing an interesting and uncommon depiction of the Nawab his family acquaintances associates and more generally the life of Indians and foreigners in India during World War II With literary flair Vera describes not only her life in India but also her intimate relationship with the Begum and British residents of Bhopal as well as meetings with well known people like Jawaharlal Nehru Sarojini Naidu Fatima Jinnah or Anandamayi Ma and Paul Brunton Importantly the Diary also offers an extremely rare Eastern European female voice in late colonial India a voice that both
