Memoirs Of Many In One By Alex Xenophon Demirjian Gray:

Memoirs of Many in One, by Alex Xenophon Demirjian Gray Patrick White, 1986 Alex Xenophon Demirjian Gray's fiktive selvbiografi skrevet af Patrick White Review of Memoirs of Many In One, by Alex Xenophon Demirjian Gray, Edited by Patrick White, 1986 Memoirs of Many in One, by Alex Xenophon Demirjian Gray Patrick White, 1986 What at first glance for Nobelist White reads like a romp broadly comic and seemingly flyweight is yet a book quite consistent with the theme of personal transubstantiation that has involved the author in other more serious modes The Twyborn Affair Alex Gray is an old woman and old friend of Patrick White She has had in vivid fantasy if not in fact an extraordinary life liberally soaked in reincarnation She's been a Greek Orthodox nun an internationally scandalous character she's going on a theatrical tour of the Australian outback as an Isadora Duncan-ish interpretrix she's involved in a London avant garde theater troop funny she befriends and then kidnaps a bum from the park believing him to be the Messiah And all these scenes she records tersely but colorfully in a notebook a literary property that one day will be handled by her executor Patrick White Except that White seems to be in league with Alex's drab and beleaguered spinster daughter Hilda in regretfully coming to the opinion that Alex has flipped her wig Alex however knows better According to the vision of myself in the glass I could not be dismissed as a geriatric nut Certainly ravaged I still radiated the strength of will of those who are being saved up for some final scene in the terrifying theatre of life You couldn't refer to death as Hilda and Patrick might if they dared abandon their bourgeois discretion which oh so subtly seems to deliver a lampooned White self portrait a prig scribbling in a desperate attempt to justify his staleness that in fact is a sly explanation of the ideas of multifariousness White's been working out in his latest endeavors Seeming fluff but look again and as always savor the startling twists of White's style Kirkus Memoirs of Many in One Patrick White, 2019-06-04 An essential late novel from one of the foremost novelists of the twentieth century now a part of the Text Classics series Memoirs of Many in One Patrick White, 1986 Janet Frame Matthew Paul Pierre, 2011-05-12 In Janet Frame Semiotics and Biosemiotics in Her Early Fiction Paul Matthew St Pierre exploits the linguistic discipline of semiotics and the neurobiological discipline of biosemiotics to propose an original and dynamic reading of the first four works of fiction by New Zealand writer Janet Frame 1924 2004 The Lagoon Stories 1951 Owls Do Cry 1957 Faces in the Water 1961 and The Edge of the Alphabet 1962 Opposing the prevailing reading of Frame's early fiction as autobiographical deriving from her medical history he argues her books are singular evocations of her astonishing imagination His purpose is to fix this historical record and provide an alternative model for interpreting one of the 20th century's most stylistically demanding and rewarding writers Semiotics and biosemiotics are his means for unlocking the early fiction and her later works to a polemical analysis focusing on language sign transmissions writing the body and the biosemiotic self In The Lagoon Owls Do Cry Faces in the Water and The Edge of the Alphabet Frame produced what St Pierre interprets as an original semiotic and biosemiotic modeling system that she applied throughout her oeuvre of twenty books comprising eight story collections seven novels a book of poetry a children s novel and three volumes of autobiography Using this modeling system she designed her fiction as a visual verbal field consisting of still and moving images generated in the imagination located in the brains and central nervous systems of her narrators characters and readers and primarily of the author herself The author discusses the significations of 1 Frame s image signs in water glass photographs film membranes skin and clothing 2 her primary sign repertoire of objects language and human persons in the figures of blood skin and sun 3 her body signs including those generated in the circulatory and neurological systems of all human organisms as biosemiotic living s
