Crow,1970 Memoirs of the Late Captain Hugh Crow of Liverpool Hugh Crow,1830 Memoirs of Captain Hugh Crow of Liverpool Hugh Crow,1830 The Memoirs of Captain Hugh Crow Hugh Crow,2007 Hugh Crow was the captain of a slave trading vessel which made one of the last legal journeys across the Atlantic with its human cargo This is a first hand account written by a staunch defender of the slave trade Memoirs of Captain Hugh Crow of Liverpool; Comprising a Narrative of His Life Together with Descriptive Sketches of the Western Coast of Africa; Part Hugh Crow,2013-09 This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher Not indexed Not illustrated 1830 edition Excerpt They are used about the thirkness of aquill and the end being chewed the white fine fibre of the wood soon formsahrush with which the teeth may be eflectrially cleaned by rubbing them up and down These sticks impart an agreeable flavour to the mouth and are sold in the public markets of the West indies in little bundles for a mere trifle U keeping the ship clean and orderly which was always my hobby the success of our voyage mainly depended The individual who at this time acted as my chief mate and who in consequence of the African trade being done away with before I got home to Liverpool had been represented as captain of the ship on her clearing out began to conduct himself in a very improper manner although every indulgence was granted him which a man in his situation could desire He took every opportunity of making me and all on board as unhappy as he could and at one time he had instigated the crew to an almost open state of mutiny by constantly plying them with spirits For the safety of the ship and that the object of the voyage might not be frustrated I was reluctantly obliged to call a meeting of the captains then at Bonny to obtain their opinions and if necessary as authorized by my instructions to put him upon his trial The result was that an investigation took place during which he had every facility allowed him for a defence and the unanimous opinion was that he should be dismissed from his situation Indeed the unfortunate man himself acknowledged the propriety of the decision It was fortunate that I was in possession of documents from my owners authorizing me should he not conduct himself in a proper manner to refer the case to the decision of masters The man was almost constantly in a

Memoirs of the Late Capt. Hugh Crow of Liverpool Hugh Crow, 1830 Bibliography of Nigeria Nduntuei O.

Ita, 2019-05-23 First published in 1971 this major bibliography devoted to Africa's most populous country Nigeria is therefore a timely contribution which must be welcomed by all The Bibliography of Nigeria contains over 5 400 entries in archaeology all branches of anthropology linguistic and relevant historical and sociological studies Many of the entries carry indicative or informative annotations which have greatly enhanced the usefulness of the work The history and culture of Africa constitutes a rich area of study and research which is attracting an ever increasing number of scholars the world over The new impetus which African studies is receiving in the major centre of learning today has added urgency to the long neglected problem of bibliographical control of the vast literature The dearth of bibliographies in the field of African studies has been a main source of frustration to all those working in this area The book is divided into two parts part one deals with Nigeria as a whole and lists general works or those concerned with several regions or several ethnic groups Part two is devoted to the various ethnic groups An analytical table of contents a comprehensive ethnic index an author index and an index of Islamic studies together with generous cross referencing ensure ready and easy location of individual entries The Architecture of the Bight of Biafra Joseph Godlewski, 2024-03-06 The Architecture of the Bight of Biafra challenges linear assumptions about agency progress and domination in colonial and postcolonial cities adding an important sub Saharan case study to existing scholarship on globalization and modernity Intersected by small creeks rivulets and dotted with mangrove swamps the Bight of Biafra has a long history of decentralized political arrangements and intricate trading networks predating the emergence of the Atlantic world While indigenous merchants in the region were active participants in the transatlantic slave trading system they creatively resisted European settlement and maintained indigenous sovereignty until the middle of the nineteenth century Since few built artifacts still exist this study draws from a close reading of written sources travelers accounts slave traders diaries missionary memoirs colonial records and oral histories as well as contemporary fieldwork to trace transformations in the region's built environment from the sixteenth century to today With each chapter focusing on a particular spatial paradigm in this dynamic process this book uncovers the manifold and inventive ways in which actors strategically adapted the built environment to adjust to changing cultural and economic circumstances In parallel it highlights the ways that these spaces were rhetorically constructed and exploited by foreign observers and local agents Enmeshed in the history of slavery colonialism and the modern construction of race the spatial dynamics of the Biafran region have not been geographically delimited The central thesis of this volume is that these spaces of entanglement have been productive sites of Black identity formation involving competing and overlapping interests occupying multiple positions and temporalities and ensnaring real imagined and sometimes contradictory aims This book will be of interest to researchers and students of architecture architectural history urban geography African studies and Atlantic studies Undercurrents of Power Kevin Dawson,2021-05-07 Kevin Dawson considers how enslaved Africans carried aquatic skills swimming diving boat making even surfing to the Americas Undercurrents of Power not only chronicles the experiences of enslaved maritime workers but also traverses the waters of the Atlantic repeatedly to trace and untangle cultural and social traditions
