uniquely revealing lens of the London Magdalen Hospital for Penitent Prostitutes The establishment of the London Magdalen House in 1758 is read as the cultural high watermark of sentimental confidence in the compatibility of virtue and commerce It is the product of a whiggish moral sense discourse at its most ebullient and culturally authoritative Equally visible though in this context are the ideological limitations of moral sense thinking and an anticipation of the ways in which its ideas ultimately failed to underwrite commercial virtue Sentimental discourse fractures in the course of the mid century in part it becomes increasingly divorced from the world retreating into a primitivist proto Romantic virtue which claims no purchase on things as they are Where sentimental vocabulary persists in a worldly context it becomes divorced from a vocabulary of moral virtue It is overlaid with a French usage where sentiment and sensibility describe exquisite emotion rather than refined and cultivated virtue Changing Sentiments and the Magdalen Hospital registers the fracturing and shifting ground of sentimental discourse in the changing institutional practise of the Magdalen institution most particularly in its increasingly embrace of evangelical religion Cotswolds Memoir , A Memoir of Thomas Sterry Hunt James Douglas,1898 A Doctor's Memoir of the Romanian Holocaust Arthur Kessler,2024 Based on detailed notes taken during a doctor s incarceration in the concentration camps and ghettos of Romanian ruled Transnistria during the Holocaust this memoir tells a gripping story of calculated murder resistance and survival In the aftermath of the Romanian Holocaust Transnistria a little known region north of Odessa between the Dniester and Bug rivers came to be known as the forgotten cemetery Between 1941 and 1944 an estimated 300 000 Jews were killed or died there from starvation and disease This memoir by Dr Arthur Kessler based on daily notes he kept as a physician during his two year imprisonment in Transnistria s Vapniarka concentration camp and Olgopol ghetto provides a unique perspective of a Jewish medical doctor who witnessed murderous death as well as brave acts of resistance and survival Introduced and annotated by historian Leo Spitzer and translated from German by the late Margaret Robinson Dr Kessler s memoir provides an engrossing account of his infamous discovery that Vapniarka s Romanian authorities routinely and it seems knowingly fed camp inmates a daily soup containing toxic chickling peas Lathyrus sativus that induced paralysis kidney failure and oftentimes death It reveals the daring by which he together with fellow inmate medical associates saved hundreds of lives by organizing a hunger strike that resulted in the camp s dissolution and the prisoners relocation to ghettos throughout Transnistria Kessler s narrative continues with an account of privileges attainable by deportees with useful skills and provides illuminating details about informal systems and practices that enabled many to survive and to provide care to fellow victims of genocidal persecution The memoir is illustrated with moving drawings produced by prisoners in the Vapniarka concentration camp and presented to Dr Kessler in recognition of his brave work of healing The Novels of Henry Fielding ...
