Nanook Of The North:

The Third Eye Fatimah Tobing Rony, 1996 Charting the intersection of technology and ideology cultural production and social science Fatimah Tobing Rony explores early twentieth century representations of non Western indigenous peoples in films ranging from the documentary to the spectacular to the scientific Turning the gaze of the ethnographic camera back onto itself bringing the perspective of a third eye to bear on the invention of the primitive other Rony reveals the collaboration of anthropology and popular culture in Western constructions of race gender nation and empire Her work demonstrates the significance of these constructions and more generally of ethnographic cinema for understanding issues of identity In films as seemingly dissimilar as Nanook of the North King Kong and research footage of West Africans from an 1895 Paris ethnographic exposition Rony exposes a shared fascination with and anxiety over race She shows how photographic realism contributed to popular and scientific notions of evolution race and civilization and how in turn anthropology understood and critiqued its own use of photographic technology Looking beyond negative Western images of the Other Rony considers performance strategies that disrupt these images for example the use of open resistance recontextualization and parody in the films of Katherine Dunham and Zora Neale Hurston or the performances of Josephine Baker She also draws on the work of contemporary artists such as Lorna Simpson and Victor Masayesva Jr and writers such as Frantz Fanon and James Baldwin who unveil the language of racialization in ethnographic cinema Elegantly written and richly illustrated innovative in theory and original in method The Third Eye is a remarkable interdisciplinary contribution to critical thought in film studies anthropology cultural studies art history postcolonial studies and women s studies Nanook of the North from 1922 to Today Roswitha Skare, 2016 This study takes as its point of departure the changes Robert Flaherty s Nanook of the North underwent from its premiere to the sound version of 1948 the film s restoration in the 1970s and later editions on VHS and DVD Documentary Film Classics William Rothman, 1997-01-28 A study of classic documentary film

Documenting the Documentary Barry Keith Grant, Jeannette Sloniowski, 1998 Documenting the Documentary features essays by 27 film scholars from a wide range of critical and theoretical perspectives Each essay focuses on one or two important documentaries engaging in questions surrounding ethics ideology politics power race gender and representation but always in terms of how they arise out of or are involved in the reading of specific documentaries as particular textual constructions By closely reading documentaries as rich visual works this anthology fills a void in the critical writing on documentaries which tends to privilege production over aesthetic pleasure As we increasingly perceive and comprehend the world through visual media understanding the textual strategies by which individual documentaries are organized has become critically important Documenting the Documentary offers clear serious and insightful analyses of documentary films and is a welcome balance between theory and criticism abstract conceptualization and concrete analysis Nanook of the North Robert Flaherty, 2010 Presents a documentary on the life of an Eskimo family pitting their strength against a vast and inhospitable Arctic Juxtaposes their struggle for survival against the elements with the warmth of the little family as they go about their daily affairs Engaging Film Tim Cresswell, Deborah Dixon, 2002 Engaging Film is a creative interdisciplinary volume that explores the engagements among film space and identity and features a section on the use of films in the classroom as a critical pedagogical tool Focusing on anti essentialist themes in films and film production this book examines how social and spatial identities are produced or dissolved in films and how mobility is used to create different experiences of time and space From popular movies such as Pulp Fiction Bulworth Terminator 2 and The Crying Game to home movies and avant garde films the analyses and teaching methods in this collection will engage students and researchers in film and media studies cultural geography social theory and cultural studies The Future of Visual Anthropology Sarah Pink, 2006 An eminent author in the field presents a groundbreaking examination of developments within the field of visual anthropology develops a new approach and examines the way forward for this sub discipline in the twenty first century

The New Republic Herbert David Croly, 1925 The Spell of the Midnight Sun Maurice R. Cloughley, 1995 In all their postings Maurice and Katie enthusiastically explored their surroundings on foot by canoe or by dog team camping in tents or igloos and relishing the spectacular landscapes Documentary Erik Barnouw, 1993 Presents a history of the documentary film Defamiliarizing the Aboriginal Julia Emberley, 2007-01-01 In Defamiliarizing the Aboriginal Julia V Emberley examines the historical production of aboriginality in colonial cultural practices and its impact on the everyday lives of indigenous women youth and children Beyond Document Charles Warren, 1996-05-31 Critics and writers consider nonfiction film both as document and as creative work with strong artistic political and moral implications In essays by eleven of America s foremost writers critics and filmmakers Beyond Document explores the full spectrum of nonfiction film and its creative possibilities In addition to Charles Warren s broad introductory history of the genre the book takes a close look at ethnographic films cinema verit memoir and autobiography docudramas essay films and newsreels from classics like Night and Fog and Nanook of the North to more recent important work like Film about a Woman Who Harlan County U S A Sans Soleil and Forest of Bliss Representations of reality are increasingly contested in courtrooms and in Congress as well as in art Asking what the art of film can achieve Helene Keyssar considers the history of nonfiction films by women Jay Cantor discusses film investigations of the Holocaust Patricia Hampl looks at how autobiographical films render experience into narrative Robert Gardner questions the filmmaker s impulse to preserve and poet Susan Howe explores structures of mourning in several filmmakers All the book s essays provide deeply felt understanding of documentary film and of how we live with and within images CONTRIBUTORS Jay Cantor Robert Gardener Patricia Hampl Maureen Howard Susan Howe Helene Keyssar Phillip Lopatte Vlada Petric William Rothman Charles Warren Eliot Weinberger Transcultural English Studies Frank Schulze-Engler, Sissy Helff, 2009 What is most strikingly new about the transcultural is its sudden ubiquity Following in the wake of previous concepts in cultural and literary studies such as creolization hybridity and syncretism and signalling a family relationship to terms such as transnationality translocality and transmigration transcultural terminology has unobtrusively but powerfully edged its way into contemporary theoretical and critical discourse The four sections of this volume denote major areas where transcultural questions and problematics have come to the fore theories of culture and literature that have sought to account for the complexity of culture in a world increasingly characterized by globalization transnationalization and interdependence realities of individual and collective life worlds shaped by the ubiquity of phenomena and experiences relating to transnational connections and the blurring of cultural boundaries fictions in literature and other media that explore these realities negotiate the fuzzy edges of ethnic or national cultures and participate in the creation of transnational public spheres as well as transcultural imaginations and memories and finally pedagogy and didactics where earlier models of teaching other cultures are faced with the challenge of coming to terms with cultural complexity both in what is being taught and in the people it is taught to and where target cultures have become elusive The idea of locating culture and literature exclusively in the context of ethnicities or nations is rapidly losing plausibility throughout an English speaking world that has long since been multi rather than monolingual Exploring the prospects and contours of Transcultural English Studies thus reflects a set of common challenges and predicaments that in recent years have increasingly moved centre stage not only in the New Literatures in English but also in British and American studies

Introduction to Documentary, Third Edition Bill Nichols, 2017-03-27 The third edition of Bill Nichols's best selling text provides an up to date introduction to the most important issues in documentary history and criticism A new chapter I Want to Make a Documentary Where Do I Start guides readers through the steps of planning and preproduction and includes an example of a project proposal for a film that went on to win awards at major festivals Designed for students in any field that makes use of visual evidence and persuasive strategies Introduction to Documentary identifies the genre's distinguishing qualities and teaches the viewer how to read documentary film Each chapter takes up a discrete question from How did documentary filmmaking get started to Why are ethical issues central to documentary filmmaking Here Nichols has fully rewritten each chapter for greater clarity and ease of use including revised discussions of earlier films and new commentary on dozens of recent films from The Cove to The Act of Killing and from Gasland to Restrepo Lowering the Boom Jay Beck, Tony Grajeda, 2008-08-08 Amplifying the importance of sound in cinema Repetition and International Law Wouter Werner, 2022-02-03 Acts of repetition abound in international law Security Council Resolutions typically start by recalling recollecting recognising or reaffirming previous resolutions Expert committees present restatements of international law Students and staff extensively rehearse fictitious cases in presentations for moot court competitions Customary law exists by virtue of repeated behaviour and restatements about the existence of rules When sources of international law are deployed historically contingent events are turned into manifestations of pre given and repeatable categories This book studies the workings of repetition across six discourses and practices in international law It links acts of repetition to similar practices in religion theatre film and commerce Building on the dialectics of repetition as set out by S ren Kierkegaard it examines how repetition in international law is used to connect concrete practices to something that is bound to remain absent unspeakable or unimaginable The Movies are Carl Sandburg,2000 A compilation of hundreds of Sandburg s writings on film during the silent era for the Chicago Daily News showing how this great American writer was an early champion of movies and their possibilities and thus set the stage for future film criticism Picturing Culture Jay Ruby,2000-08-15 Here Jay Ruby a founder of visual anthropology distills his thirty year exploration of the relationship of film and anthropology Spurred by a conviction that the ideal of an anthropological cinema has not even remotely begun to be realized Ruby argues that ethnographic filmmakers should generate a set of critical standards analogous to those for written ethnographies Cinematic artistry and the desire to entertain he argues can eclipse the original intention which is to provide an anthropological representation of the subjects The book begins with analyses of key filmmakers Robert Flaherty Robert Garner and Tim Asch who have striven to generate profound statements about human behavior on film Ruby then discusses the idea of research film Eric Michaels and indigenous media the ethics of representation the nature of ethnography anthropological knowledge and film and lays the groundwork for a critical approach to the field that borrows selectively from film communication media and cultural studies Witty and original yet intensely theoretical this collection is a major contribution to the field of visual anthropology Image Ethics in the Digital Age Larry P. Gross,John Stuart Katz,Jay Ruby,2003 Image Ethics in the Digital Age brings together leading experts in the fields of journalism media studies law to address the challenges presented by new technology assess the implications for personal societal values behavior The Birth of Whiteness Daniel Bernardi,1996 As indelible components of the history of the United States race and racism have permeated nearly all aspects of life cultural economic political and social In this first anthology on race in early cinema fourteen scholars examine the origins dynamics and ramifications of racism and Eurocentrism and the resistance to both during the early years of American motion pictures Any discussion of racial themes and practices in any arena inevitably begins with the definition of race Is race an innate and biologically determined essence or is it a culturally constructed category Is the question irrelevant Perhaps race exists as an ever changing historical and social formation that regardless of any standard definition involves exploitation degradation and struggle In his introduction Daniel Bernardi writes that early cinema has been a clear partner in the hegemonic struggle over the meaning of race and that it was steadfastly aligned with a Eurocentric world view at the expense of those who didn t count as white The contributors to this work tackle these problems and address such subjects as biological determinism miscegenation Manifest Destiny assimilation and nativism and their impact on early cinema Analyses of The Birth of a Nation Romona Nanook of the North and Madame Butterfly and the directorial styles of D W Griffith Oscar Micheaux and Edwin Porter are included in the volume
