Epidemiology and the Delivery of Health Care Services Denise M. Oleske, 2007-05-08 In the previous edition of this book the predominant theme was applying epidemiology to assist managers in dealing with an environment in which the structure of health care financing was rapidly changing to managed care and in which there was increasing competition among health care providers While these phenomena continue to exist new challenges have emerged and in particular the explosion of information technology has given way to a global society and decision making that is increasingly shared with consumers because of their access to the same sets of data Thus the questions with which health care managers are confronted on a daily basis are now exceedingly more complex 1 How can a population be defined considering that both exposures and diseases originating in one corner of the globe can rapidly become a threat to any nation s security 2 Where do influences on a population begin and end 3 How can we protect and promote health in that population or any population if privacy is preeminent This edition brings in this editor s view of the increasing need for health care managers be they in private or public settings to use epidemiological concepts and methods The challenges posed by health care delivery in the 21st century are immense ranging from redefining life and health given the advances in genetic technology global environmental changes and multinational simultaneous increases in poverty and longevity to economic decisions regarding technology and service levels that fewer and fewer can afford

Family Medicine A.K. David, T.A. Jr. Johnson, D.M. Phillips, J.E. Scherger, Robert B. Taylor, 2013-06-29 Much is new in Family Medicine since the last edition of our textbook For example not only is the therapy of human immunodeficiency virus HIV disease and the acquired immunodeficiency syndrome AIDS much different than a few years ago the epidemiology of the disease has also changed and more than half of the family physicians in a rural state such as Oregon have already managed patients with HIV disease or AIDS 1 There are new immunization recommendations for children and new antibiotics for the treatment of bacterial infections Computers are bringing medical informatics and on line consultation into office practice Medicare physician payment reform is underway and the reality of rationing medical care has been recognized There has been a recent increase in student interest in a family practice career 2 coincidental with a Council on Graduate Medical Education COGME recommendation that at least 50 percent of all residency graduates 3 should enter practice as generalists Also there is increasing awareness of the need for a 4 Center for Family Practice and Primary Care at the National Institutes of Health This all new fourth edition is intended to present the scientific and practical basis of family medicine with special attention to what s new in family medicine The emphasis is on how the physician provides continuing and comprehensive care for persons of all ages with clinical content selected from the perspective of family physicians The format of the book like the practice of family medicine continues to change      Fanaroff and Martin's Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine E-Book Richard J.
