The Presence of Thought-- Marilyn S. Sternglass,1988

Conversations of the Mind Rebecca William

Mlynarczyk,2013-10-18 Asking students to write journals that reflect on their learning has become a widespread pedagogical practice in recent years However the scholarly literature does not address certain key questions about how journal writing aids learning Is there something inherent in journal writing that encourages students to write reflectively What psycholinguistic or cognitive factors help to explain the power of journal writing Why do some students use journals to write prolifically and creatively while others limit their responses to summarizing the assigned course reading Why do teachers find some journal entries so much more engaging than others How do teachers ways of responding to journals affect their students development as writers and thinkers This book addresses such questions through a careful analysis of the journal writing of the students in the author s ESL classes at a large urban college It contains detailed case studies of five culturally and linguistically diverse students with widely differing responses to journal writing To teachers of composition for both first and second language students and to teachers of graduate courses in education and qualitative research this book offers a contextualized description of journal writings as a complex social activity By emphasizing the need for educators to reexamine their pedagogy and to learn from their students Conversations of the Mind is an indispensable contribution to the emerging literature of teacher research and reflective practice

Development and Teaching of the four Language Skills Esther Usó-Juan,Alicia Martínez-Flor,2008-08-22

Current Trends in the Development and Teaching of the four Language Skills builds connections from theory in the four language skills to instructional practices It comprises twenty one chapters that are grouped in five sections The first section includes an introductory chapter which presents a communicative competence framework developed by the editors in order to highlight the key role the four skills play in language learning and teaching The next four sections each represent a language skill Section II is devoted to listening Section III to speaking Section IV to reading and Section V to writing In order to provide an extensive treatment of each of the four skills each section starts with a theoretical chapter which briefly illustrates advances in the understanding of how each skill is likely to be learned and taught followed by four didactically oriented chapters authored by leading international specialists These pedagogical chapters deal specifically with four key topics 1 areas of research that influence the teaching of a particular skill 2 an overview of strategies or techniques necessary for developing a particular skill 3 an approach to the academic orientation of a particular skill and 4 unique aspects of teaching each skill Moreover all chapters incorporate two common sections pre reading questions at the beginning of the chapter in order to stimulate readers interest in its content and a section entitled suggested activities at the end of the chapter in order to allow readers put the ideas and concepts presented into practice The accessible style and practical focus of the volume make it an ideal tool for teachers teacher trainers and teacher trainees who are involved in teaching the four language skills in a second or foreign language context Handbook of Writing and Text Production Eva-Maria Jakobs, Daniel Perrin, 2014-08-19 Writing matters and so does research into real life writing The shift from an industrial to an information society has increased the importance of writing and text production in education in everyday life and in more and more professions in the fields of economics and politics science and technology culture and media Through writing we build up organizations and social networks develop projects inform colleagues and customers and generate the basis for decisions The quality of writing is decisive for social resonance and professional success This ubiquitous real life writing is what the present handbook is about The de Gruyter Handbook of Writing and Text Production brings together and systematizes state of the art research The volume contains five sections focussing on I the theory and methodology of writing and text production research as well as on problem oriented and problem solving approaches related to II authors III modes and media IV genres and V domains of writing and text production Throughout the 21 chapters exemplary research projects illustrate the theoretical perspectives from globally relevant research spaces and traditions Both established and future scholars can benefit from the handbook s fresh approach to writing in the context of multimodal multi semiotic text production Writing and Cognition Mark Torrance, Luuk van Waes, David Galbraith, 2007-01-01 Writing is central to the functioning of developed societies However the psychological processes that allow us to transform complex ideas into language and express them on paper or computer screen are poorly understood Writing and Cognition goes some way towards remedying this It describes new and diverse work both by field leaders and by newer researchers exploring the complex relationships between language the mind and the environments in which writers work Chapters range in focus from a detailed analysis of single word production to the writing of whole texts They explore the basic processes involved in writing the effects of writing on thought and how these vary across different educational and workplace contexts

Methods and Methodology in Composition Research Gesa Kirsch, Patricia A. Sullivan, 1992 In original essays fourteen nationally known scholars examine the practical philosophical and epistemological implications of a variety of research traditions Included are discussions of historical theoretical and feminist scholarship case study and ethnographic research text and conversation analysis and cognitive experimental and descriptive research Issues that cross methodological boundaries such as the nature of collaborative research and writing methodological pluralism the classification and coding of research data and the politics of composition research are also examined Contributors reflect on their own research practices and so reflect the current state of composition research itself Changing the Way We Teach Sally Barr Ebest, 2005 Changing the Way We Teach Writing and Resistance in the Training of Teaching Assistants draws on eighteen case studies to illustrate the critical role writing plays in overcoming graduate student resistance to instruction facilitating change and developing professional identity Sally Barr Ebest argues that teaching assistants in English must be actively engaged in the theory and practice underlying composition pedagogy in order to better understand how to alter the way they teach and why such change is necessary In illustrating the potential for change when the paradigm shift in composition is applied to graduate education Ebest considers recent discussions of composition pedagogy post secondary teaching theories cognitive social cognitive and educational psychology and issues of gender voice and writing Stemming from research conducted over a five year period this volume explores how a cross section of teaching assistants responded to pedagogy as students and how their acceptance of pedagogy affected their performance as instructors Investigating reasons behind manifestations of resistance and necessary elements for overcoming it Ebest finds that engagement in composition strategies reflective writing journaling drafting and active learning and restoration of feelings of self efficacy are the primary factors that facilitate change Concerned with gender as it relates to personal construct Changing the Way We Teach traces the influence of familial expectations and the effects of literacy experiences on students and draws correlations between feminist and composition pedagogy Ebest asserts that the phenomena contributing to the development of a strong unified voice in women self knowledge empathy positive role models and mentors should be essential elements of a constructivist graduate curriculum To understand composition pedagogy and to convince students of its values Ebest holds that educators must embrace it themselves and trace the effects through active research By providing graduate students with pedagogical sites for research and reflection faculty enable them to express their anger or fear study its sources and quite often write their way to a new understanding

Time To Know Them Marilyn S. Sternglass, 2017-09-25 In a time of declining resources in institutions of higher education we grapple with how priorities are to be set for the limited resources available Most vulnerable are those students labeled underprepared by colleges and universities Should we argue that the limited resources available ought to be used to support these students through their undergraduate years And if we decide that we want to do that what evidence of their potential for success can we provide that will justify the use of these resources Through longitudinal research that follows students who have been so labeled over all their college years we can begin to find answers to these questions Time to Know Them is the first book that follows the experiences of a group of students over their entire academic experience No previous studies have brought together the factors incorporated in this study examining writing and learning on a true longitudinal basis studying a multicultural urban population investigating the relationship between writing and learning by examining papers written over time for regularly assigned academic courses across a range of disciplines and taking into consideration non academic factors that influence academic performance such as race gender socio economic status and ideological orientation Through interviews twice a semester over six years the collection of papers written for all courses observations of instructional settings and analysis of required institutional tests of writing the author has been able to pull together a more complete picture of writing and intellectual development over the college years than has previously been available in any study Students are seen to acquire the ability to handle more complex reasoning tasks as they find themselves in more challenging intellectual settings and where risk taking and exploration of new ideas are valued. The integration of students' previous life experiences into their academic studies allows them to analyze, critique, modify, and apply their previously held world views to their new learning. These changes are seen to occur over time with instructional settings and support providing key roles in writing development. Personal factors in students' lives present difficulties that require persistence and dedication to overcome. Never before have the complexities of real individual lives as they affect academic performance been so clearly presented.

Speaking About Writing Alain Coulon, 1994-04-29 This volume makes a powerful case for the analysis of the spoken word as a source of data to study writing. The contributors focus on issues involved in the collection, analysis, and interpretation of data. Their approaches go beyond simple quantitative/qualitative differences, examining the very underpinnings of the various assumptions of distinct methodologies. Divided into four major areas of inquiry, the book looks at different aspects of conducting think aloud protocol, analysis, retrospective accounts, discourse analysis, and interviews in the field.

Resources in Education, 1990

Intertexts Marguerite Helmers, 2003-01-30 Addresses the question: What place does reading have in the college writing classroom? Brings together compositionists engaged in teaching, writing, criticism, and technology to re-think the separation of reading and writing and to re-theorize reading.

Wiki Writing Matthew Barton, Robert Cummings, 2009-12-10 An indispensable and engaging guide to using wikis in the classroom.

When Dead Tongues Speak John Gruber-Miller, 2006-11-02 When Dead Tongues Speak introduces classicists to the research that linguists, psychologists, and language teachers have conducted over the past thirty years and passes along their most important insights. The essays cover a broad range of topics including cognitive styles, peer teaching, and collaboration, learning disabilities, feminist pedagogy, speaking and writing. Each contributor addresses a different problem in the learning process based on his or her own teaching experience, and each chapter combines a theoretical overview with practical examples of classroom activities. The book was developed for classroom use in Greek and Latin methodology classes in M.A. and M.A.T. programs. It will also appeal to Latin and Greek language instructors who want to get current with the latest scholarship and pedagogical models.

Effective Learning and Teaching of Writing Gert Rijlaarsdam, Huub Bergh, Michel Couzijn, 2007-11-23 Effective Learning and Teaching of Writing is a handbook on research on the effective teaching and learning of writing. It is a reference for researchers and educators in the domain of written composition in education. Effective Learning and Teaching of Writing covers all age ranges and school settings and it deals with various aspects of writing and text types. Research methodology varies from experimental studies to reflective classroom practitioners' research. This new volume in the series Studies in Writing brings together researchers from all kinds of disciplines involved in writing research and countries in their endeavour to improve the teaching of written composition. It is the result of co-operation of researchers all over the world and shows that in spite of the differences in educational regions over the world, research in writing shares similar problems and tries to find answers and generate new questions. The body of knowledge in this volume will inspire researchers and teachers to improve research and practice      The Psycholinguistics of Readable Writing Alice S. Horning,1993 This book reviews research in linguistics psychology reading and writing and brings this work to bear on the problem of readable writing The research supports the theory that two factors in text are crucial to its readable quality psycholinguistic redundancy and cohesion The book also reports the results of three empirical studies and a case study that further illustrates this theory The findings have important theoretical and practical implications because they shed light on the nature of reading and writing processes from both linguistic and psychological perspectives and suggest practical approaches to the production and comprehension of readable writing The book also draws on research in second language acquisition and is pertinent to readable writing in both first and second languages      Teaching Writing in Middle and Secondary Schools Margot Soven,1998 Handbook for English language arts teachers of students in grades 6 12      The Literacy Connection Ronald A. Sudol,Alice S. Horning,1999 This collection of reports and studies focuses on the long term growth of literacy skills The contributors explore the ways that formal education supports the growth of literacy and also show that literacy can be encouraged outside of formal educational settings      Revision Revisited Alice S. Horning,2002 Revision is essential to writing This unique volume reviews the primary findings of key studies of revision re examines data on the relevance of personality type preferences for understanding revising explores the text features writers tend to focus on when they rework a text reviews the teaching advice given in books on revising by teachers and writers and presents detailed case studies both in academia and the workplace      Forthcoming Books Rose Arny,1989-05
