mediated with the use of parataxis allusions and absurd metaphors and similes On the other in his I do this I do that poems he names the events of his lunch hour in an effort among other things to experience time as a moment of fullness rather than as a moment of loss The book argues furthermore that O Hara s view of the self as both an expression of the creative force at work in the world and as the temporal aggregate of finite experiences places him between so called Romantic and postmodern theories of the lyric While it is often argued that O Hara is a forerunner of a new critically informed materialist poetics this study concludes that O Hara s work is somewhat less radical in its understanding of poetic meaning than is often claimed Moreover while O Hara is preoccupied with his experience in his poems the book argues that he espouses in some respects a rather traditional view of love In addition to being a metaphor for the creative act love for O Hara is the chance coming together of two entities Yet one of the ironies of this is that while love is for O Hara a feeling that is the result of movement or the unexpected coming together of two otherwise separ

Stranger Than Fiction Edwin Frank,2024-11-19 One of the Washington Post s 50 Best Nonfiction Books of 2024 A New York Times Book Review Editors Choice Ambitious intelligent and happily unpretentious Louis Menand The New Yorker Convincing idiosyncratic and often felicitous Alexandra Jabobs The New York Times Book Review A legendary editor s reckoning with the twentieth century novel and the urgent messages it sends How can we live differently a young woman urgently demands in Virginia Woolf's novel The Waves It is the 1930s war and death are in the air but her question was asked again and again in the course of a century where things changed fast and changed all the time The century brought world wars revolutions automobiles movies and the internet votes for women death camps The century brought questions Novelists in the twentieth century had a question of their own how can we write a novel as startling and unforeseen as the world we live in Again and again they did transforming the novel as the century remade the world Imagine the history of the twentieth century novel recounted with the urgency and intimacy of a novel That's what Edwin Frank the legendary editor who has run the New York Review Books publishing imprint since its inception does in Stranger than Fiction With penetrating insight and originality Frank introduces us to books some famous some little known from the whole course of the century and from around the world Starting with Dostoevsky's Notes from Underground of 1864 Frank shows how its twitchy self-undermining and never-satisfied narrator established a voice that would echo through the coming century He illuminates the political vision of H.G. Wells's science fiction Colette and André Gide's subversions of traditional gender roles and Gertrude Stein's untethering of the American sentence He describes the monumental ambition of books such as Mrs Dalloway The Magic Mountain and The Man Without Qualities to rebuild a world of human possibility upon the ruins of World War I and explores how Japan's Natsume Soseki and Nigeria's Chinua Achebe broke open European models to reflect their own distinct histories and experience Here too are Vasily Grossman Anna Banti and Elsa Morante reckoning in specific ways with the traumas of World War II while later chapters range from Marguerite Yourcenar and V.S. Naipaul to Gabriel García Márquez and W.G. Sebald The story as a whole is one of fearless often reckless exploration as well as unfathomable desolation Throughout we discover the power of the novel to reinvent itself to find a way for itself to live differently Stranger than Fiction offers a new vision of the history and art of the novel and of a dark and dazzling time in whose light and shadow we still stand F.P. The European Roman d'Analyse Adele Kudish, 2020-01-23 Through close readings of a selection of European novels and novellas written between 1340 and 1827 this study of analytical fiction examines how unconsummated love stories probe the frailty of self knowledge Tracing elements of what the French call the roman d analyse in the works of Boccaccio Marguerite de Navarre Cervantes Marie de Lafayette Samuel Richardson Jane Austen and Stendhal Adele Kudish discusses how the metaphor of unconsummated love is deployed to represent a fundamental lack of insight into the self Rather than depicting the mind as transparent analytical fiction deals in the opacity of the mind Narrators and characters are faced with deception misprision doubt and confusion leading to self deception jealousy and crises of self The European Roman d Analyse reads such epistemological failures as symptoms of a more fundamental preoccupation with the human psyche as un chartable and bizarre In this way the authors of romans d analyse enact a larger philosophical project an anatomy of the psyche wherein we are unable or unwilling to know ourselves

The Hand of the Interpreter G. F. Mitrano, Eric Jarosinski, 2009 This collection of essays by scholars and artists of different disciplines and from different countries is designed to navigate the labyrinth of contemporary aesthetic ideologies with the aim of reassessing how we read both the way in which texts touch us and we them Theory has transformed texts into mute interlocutors exposed to infinite indeterminacy While the response to this sense of silence that undermines meaning is often informed by a nostalgia for older notions of close reading the essays in this volume work towards a re evaluation of key subjects such as reader writer and text The contributors engage with topics such as digital books popular culture alternative ways of book making visual verbal collaborations and thematic explorations of the hand in literature

Identity: A Very Short Introduction Florian Coulmas, 2019-02-21 Identity has become one of the most widely used terms today appearing in many different contexts Anything and everything has an identity and identity crises have become almost equally pervasive Yet identity is extremely versatile meaning different things to different people and in different scientific disciplines To many its meaning seems self evident since its various uses share common features so often the term is used without a definition of what exactly is meant by it This provokes the core question What exactly is identity In this Very Short Introduction Florian Coulmas provides a survey of the many faces of the concept of identity and discusses its significance and varied meanings in the fields of philosophy sociology and psychology as well as politics and law Tracing our concern with identity to its deep roots in Europe's intellectual history individualism and the felt need to draw borderlines Coulmas identifies the most important features used to mark off individual and collective identities and demonstrates why they are deemed important He concludes with a glimpse at the many ways in which literature has engaged with problems of identity throughout history
