Prevention in Clinical Oral Health Care David P. Cappelli, Connie Chenevert Mobley, 2007-10-26 This book focuses on oral health promotion and the impact of systemic disease in the development of oral disease as well as how to introduce, apply and communicate prevention to a patient with a defined risk profile. Prevention in Clinical Oral Health Care integrates preventive approaches into clinical practice and is a valuable tool for all health care professionals to integrate oral health prevention as a component of their overall preventive message to the patient. Discusses risk-based approaches to prevent problems such as caries, periodontal disease and oral cancer. Topics are written at a level that can be understood by both practicing dental health team members and by dental hygiene and dental students so strategies can be applied to better understand the patient's risk for oral disease and how to prevent future disease. Identifies the barriers oral health care needs and preventive strategies for special populations such as children, the elderly and the physically or mentally disabled. Explores the development of a culturally sensitive dental practice and strategies to make the dental environment more welcoming to individuals with different cultural backgrounds. Discusses how to gather patient information, the synthesis of the patient's data and the application of the information collected in order to evaluate the patient's risk for disease.

The Prevention of Dental Disease John J. Murray, 1989 The first edition of this book summarized current knowledge of factors such as diet, fluoride, oral cleanliness, fissure sealants and vaccination in the reduction of dental disease. In this updated second edition, the discussion of diet, fluoride and fissure sealants have been expanded. A new chapter on changes in the prevalence of dental caries has been added and further consideration has been given to the changing pattern of dental treatment. The scope of the book has been widened with new material on dental health education and on prevention in old age and among the handicapped.
