Prevention of Cardiovascular Diseases Jadelson Andrade, Fausto Pinto, Donna Arnett, 2015-08-28 The present book reveals the importance of preventive medicine in cardiology and public health addressing the lack of a broad discussion of this topic in the current literature It examines the most important risk factors for different cardiovascular diseases discussing them in detail from a clinical standpoint and presenting important information from a preventive medicine perspective Further specific chapters discuss the burden of cardiologic risk factors in special contexts such as in women child and adolescents and in low income populations Lastly a number of conditions that are often overlooked in terms of their cardiological impact are discussed such as Chagas disease rheumatic cardiomyopathy and post traumatic stress disorder Cardiovascular diseases are still the major cause of death in the world even though they are considered preventable clinical conditions The increased prevalence of some risk factors for cardiovascular diseases is an important concern for cardiologists around the world On the other hand primary prevention programs have proven their efficacy concerning some known and treatable risk factors such as with hypercholesterolemia hypertension diabetes and smoking but still need to be made more of a priority in public health

Preventive Cardiology Jo Anne Micale Foody, 2007-11-03 Preventive cardiology is a fast moving field that places emphasis on the prevention and treatment of coronary disease Preventive Cardiology Insights Into the Prevention and Treatment of Cardiovascular Disease Second Edition is intended for clinical cardiologists internists primary care providers and allied health care professionals who wish to extend their knowledge and expertise in the rapidly expanding field of preventive cardiology. It is the mission of this book to provide clinicians with the understanding and tools necessary to implement prevention in their daily practices. Recent changes in the delivery of health care in the United States and abroad in conjunction with new scientific evidence supporting the role of preventive strategies in the maintenance of cardiovascular health have focused new attention and efforts on the field of cardiovascular disease prevention. The field of cardiology is thus making a gradual transition from the technology driven intervention oriented perspective of the last several decades to a new preventive molecular based perspective. As fresh evidence amasses that preventive measures produce a considerable decrease in the incidence of both primary and secondary cardiac events and mortality there is growing widespread acknowledgment that health care providers from all arenas must initiate preventive strategies in the management and care of their patients.
