questions as to why certain past periods still fascinate how an emergent present is accompanied by cinematic treatment and what kind of futures we like to speculate about by watching alternative futures on film This temporal interest was complemented in the second book Wit's End by examination of qualitative interest discussing how and why certain movies come to be regarded and remembered by the movie culture as great and memorable Even though there is obviously no unanimous agreement on which movies are canonical there is enough consensus among those who study and value films for us to constitute inquiry into why some films are thought great This third book in this sustained inquiry poses the question of not only why we think some movie comedies are great but also what is unique and enduring in the legacy of comedy on film The book looks at comedy with humane interest entertaining the proposition that comedy may well be motion picture's greatest achievement If so then it behooves inquirers to understand what movie audiences enjoy and cherish about movie comedy and what it is about the film medium that so adequately communicates the comedic across such vast audiences and why they never tire of certain kinds of comedy These interests will inspire students of the remarkable medium of film to inquire further into not only these questions but also others that they find interesting and illuminating about the film experience

John Huston as Adaptor Douglas McFarland, Wesley King, 2017-01-27 Argues that understanding Huston's film adaptations of literary works is essential to understanding his oeuvre as a filmmaker John Huston as Adaptor makes the case that adaptation is the salient element in Huston's identity as a filmmaker and that his early and deep attraction to the experience of reading informed his approach to film adaptation Thirty four of Huston's thirty seven films were adaptations of literary texts and they stand as serious interpretations of literary works that could only be made by an astute reader of literature Indeed Huston asserted that a film director should be above all else a reader and that reading itself should be the intellectual and emotional basis for filmmaking The seventeen essays in this volume not only address Huston as an adaptor but also offer an approach to adaptation studies that has been largely overlooked How an adaptor reads the works to which he is drawn and how his literary interpretations can be brought to the screen without relegating film to a subservient role are some of the issues addressed by the contributors An introductory chapter identifies Huston as the quintessential Hollywood adaptor and argues that his skill at adaptation is the mark of his authorial signature The chapters that follow focus on fifteen of Huston's most important films including The Maltese Falcon 1941 The Treasure of the Sierra Madre 1948 The African Queen 1951 The Night of the Iguana 1964 Under the Volcano 1984 and The Dead 1987 and are divided into three areas aesthetics and textuality history and social context and theory and psychoanalysis By offering a more comprehensive account of the centrality of adaptation to Huston's films John Huston as Adaptor offers a greater understanding of Huston as a filmmaker
