Reading Pictures What We Think About When We Look At Art:

Reading Pictures Alberto Manguel, 2002 Writing and Seeing Rui Manuel G. de Carvalho Homem, Maria de Fátima Lambert, 2006 The essays in this volume are informed by a variety of theoretical assumptions and of critical methodologies but they all share an interest in the intersections of word and image in a variety of media This unifying rationale secures the present collection's central position in the current critical context defined as it predominantly is by ways of reading that are based on a relational nexus The intertextual the intermedial the intersemiotic are indeed foregrounded and combined in these essays conceptually as much as in the critical practices favoured by the various contributions Studies of literature in its relation to pictorial genres enjoy a relative prominence in the volume but the range of media and of approaches considered is broad enough to include photography film video television comic strips animated film public art material culture The backgrounds of contributors are likewise diverse culturally academically linguistically The volume combines contributions by prominent scholars and critics with essays by younger scholars from a variety of backgrounds The resulting plurality of perspective is indeed a source of new insights into the relations between writing and seeing and it contributes to making this collection an exciting new contribution to word and image studies Teaching Australian Literature Brenton Doecke, Larissa McLean Davies, Philip Mead, 2011 What role should Australian literature play in the school curriculum What principles should guide our selection of Australian texts To what extent should concepts of the nation and a national identity frame the study of Australian writing What do we imagine Australian literature to be How do English teachers go about engaging their students in reading Australian texts This volume brings together teachers teacher educators creative writers and literary scholars in a joint inquiry that takes a fresh look at what it means to teach Australian literature The immediate occasion for the publication of these essays is the implementation of The Australian Curriculum English which several contributors subject to critical scrutiny In doing so they question the way that literature teaching is currently being constructed by standards based reforms not only in Australia but elsewhere The essays assembled in this volume transcend the divisions that have sometimes marred debates about the place of Australian literature in the school curriculum They all recognise the complexity of what secondary English teachers do in their efforts to engage young people in a rich and meaningful curriculum They also highlight the need for both secondary and tertiary educators to cultivate an awareness of the cultural and intellectual traditions that mediate their professional practice and to encourage a critically responsive pedagogy Autobiographical Comics Elisabeth El Refaie, 2012-10-24 A troubled childhood in Iran Living with a disability Grieving for a dead child Over the last forty years the comic book has become an increasingly popular way of telling personal stories of considerable complexity and depth In Autobiographical Comics Life Writing in Pictures Elisabeth El Refaie offers a long overdue assessment of the key conventions formal properties and narrative patterns of this fascinating genre The book considers eighty five works of North American and European provenance works that cover a broad range of subject matters and employ many different artistic styles Drawing on concepts from several disciplinary fields including semiotics literary and narrative theory art history and psychology El Refaie shows that the traditions and formal features of comics provide new possibilities for autobiographical storytelling For example the requirement to produce multiple drawn versions of one s self necessarily involves an intense engagement with physical aspects of identity as well as with the cultural models that underpin body image The comics medium also offers memoirists unique ways of representing their experience of time their memories of past events and their hopes and dreams for the future Furthermore autobiographical comics creators are able to draw on the close association in contemporary Western culture between seeing and believing in order to persuade readers of the authentic nature of their stories

Reading Picture Books with Children Megan Dowd Lambert, 2015-11-03 A new interactive approach to storytime The Whole Book Approach was developed in conjunction with the Eric Carle Museum of Picture Book Art and expert author Megan Dowd Lambert's graduate work in children's literature at Simmons College offering a practical guide for reshaping storytime and getting kids to think with their eyes Traditional storytime often offers a passive experience for kids but the Whole Book approach asks the youngest of readers to ponder all aspects of a picture book and to use their critical thinking skills Using classic examples Megan asks kids to think about why the trim size of Ludwig Bemelman's Madeline is so generous or why the typeset in David Wiesner's Caldecott winner The Three Pigs appears to twist around the page or why books like Chris Van Allsburg's The Polar Express and Eric Carle's The Very Hungry Caterpillar are printed landscape

instead of portrait The dynamic discussions that result from this shared reading style range from the profound to the hilarious and will inspire adults to make children's responses to text art and design an essential part of storytime

Double Exposures Mieke Bal, 1996 Bringing together an immense range of presentations museum displays stories paintings postcards and philosophy Mieke Bal offers fresh insights into showing and telling analyzing the effects of display and of the different sorts of looking they encourage What is the difference between looking at art and looking at animals in a museum of natural history What is involved in looking at paintings and at postcards what about paintings and stories of the Rape of Lucrece or colonial postcards and books

Language Lost and Found Niklas Forsberg, 2013-09-26 Language Lost and Found takes as its starting point Iris Murdoch's claim that we have suffered a general loss of concepts By means of a thorough reading of Iris Murdoch's philosophy in the light of this difficulty it offers a detailed examination of the problem of linguistic community and the roots of the thought that some philosophical problems arise due to our having lost the sense of our own language But it is also a call for a radical reconsideration of how philosophy and literature relate to each other on a general level and in Murdoch's authorship in particular
