African-American Middle-Income Parents

Ethel Swindell Robinson, 2007-09-01 Ethel Robinson has written an amazing book As she wisely argues despite a rapidly growing middle and upper class popular media and public debates continue to view African American families from a deficit perspective Portrayals of African American families in newspapers television and contemporary scholarship tend to focus on single parent households low parental expectations and lack of family involvement in schooling The families you will meet in this book contradict these stereotypes In carefully crafted vignettes Dr Robinson paints an alternative portrait of life in African American households In this marvelous book you will see eight intact families intimately involved in the academic and social lives of their children. Some volunteer in their children's classrooms; others serve as devoted tutors and mentors; still others are active advocates arguing passionately for school services. All hold fast to the hope that their children will achieve their piece of the American dream. This book is a powerful antidote to the negative portrayals of African American families that abound in mainstream media. It is a must read for researchers, educators, and all who wish to look beyond and beneath the stereotypes of African American family life. Susan Hynds, Ph.D., Professor of English Education, Syracuse University, Reading and Language Arts Center

Despite the fact that Episcopalians are among the best educated Christian groups in the United States, they also rank among the least biblically literate denomination. The author maintains we can do Bible better and shows why it is absolutely critical to do so. How can this weakness become a strength and source of spiritual growth for Episcopalians, their churches, and dioceses? As an evangelist for biblical literacy and spiritual nourishment, Zabriskie shows the way forward for the Episcopal Church and the Anglican Communion.
