Teaching Literature to Adolescents Richard Beach, Deborah Appleman, Bob Fecho, Rob Simon, 2020-12-28 Now in its fourth edition this popular textbook introduces prospective and practicing English teachers to current methods of teaching literature in middle and high school classrooms This new edition broadens its focus to cover important topics such as critical race theory perspectives on teaching fiction nonfiction and drama the integration of digital literacy and teacher research for ongoing learning and professional development It underscores the value of providing students with a range of different critical approaches and tools for interpreting texts It also addresses the need to organize literature instruction around topics and issues of interest to today's adolescents By using authentic dilemmas and contemporary issues the authors encourage preservice English teachers and their instructors to raise and explore inquiry based questions that center on the teaching of a variety of literary texts both classic and contemporary traditional and digital

New to the Fourth Edition Expanded attention to digital tools multimodal learning and teaching online New examples of teaching contemporary texts Expanded discussion and illustration of formative assessment Revised response activities for incorporating young adult literature into the literature curriculum Real world examples of student work to illustrate how students respond to the suggested strategies Extended focus on infusing multicultural and diverse literature in the classroom Each chapter is organized around specific questions that preservice teachers consistently raise as they prepare to become English language arts teachers The authors model critical inquiry throughout the text by offering authentic case narratives that raise important considerations of both theory and practice A companion website a favorite of English education instructors <http://teachingliterature.pbworks.com> provides resources and enrichment activities inviting teachers to consider important issues in the context of their current or future classrooms

Teaching and Learning at a Distance Michael Simonson, Susan Zvacek, 2024-01-01 Teaching and Learning at a Distance is written for introductory distance education courses for preservice or in service teachers and for training programs that discuss teaching distant learners or managing distance education systems This text provides readers with the basic information needed to be knowledgeable distance educators and leaders of distance education programs The teacher or trainer who uses this book will be able to design courses evaluate programs and identify issues and trends affecting the field In this text we take the following themes The first theme is the definition of distance education Before we started writing the first edition of Teaching and Learning at a Distance we carefully reviewed the literature to determine the definition that would be at the foundation of our writing This definition is based on the work of Desmond Keegan but is unique to this book and has been adopted by the Association for Educational Communications and Technology and by the Encyclopedia Britannica The second theme of the book is the importance of research to the development of effective courses and programs offered at a distance The best practices presented in Teaching and Learning at a Distance are validated by scientific evidence Certainly there are rules of thumb but we have always attempted to only include recommendations that can be supported by research The third theme of Teaching and Learning at a Distance is derived from Richard Clark s famous quote published in the Review of Educational Research asserting that media are mere vehicles that do not directly influence achievement Clark s controversial work is discussed in the book but is also fundamental to the book s advocacy for distance education in other words we authors do not make the claim that education delivered at a distance is inherently better than other ways people learn Distance delivered instruction is not a magical approach that makes learners achieve more Equivalency theory is the fourth theme of the book Here we present the concept that instruction should be provided to learners that is equivalent rather than identical to what might be delivered in a traditional environment Equivalency theory helps the instructional designer approach the development of instruction for each learner without attempting to duplicate what happens in a face to face classroom The final theme for Teaching and Learning at a Distance is the idea that the book should be comprehensive that it should cover as much of the various ways instruction is made available to distant learners as is possible It can serve as a stand alone source of information Forum, 1980 Supporting Adult Learners through Games and Interactive Teaching Chandni Hirani, Caroline Varin, 2022-11-30 Games based teaching offers an engaging way for students and adult learners to interact with concepts and build their problem solving and communication skills This exciting book will help educators integrate games into their classes and shows how this method of teaching improves motivation as well as diversifies and solidifies learners skill sets Bringing together expert contributors from the Professors Without Borders global network who have effectively used interactive games based approaches in their teaching the book features 13 unique games that teach a wide variety of skills across a range of difficulty levels The chapters highlight the skills of strategy decision making communication teamwork problem solving reflective thinking and empathy being used by participants alongside the pedagogical principles that underpin each game Suitable for online and in person teaching this book will be valuable reading for educators working with student and adult learners looking to adopt innovative and interactive teaching methods as well as those interested in learning about how game based teaching can improve vital skills Teaching Shakespeare Rex Gibson, 2016-04-21 An improved larger format edition of the Cambridge School Shakespeare plays extensively rewritten expanded and produced in an attractive new design Resources in Education, 2001 Teaching English Carol Evans, Alyson Midgley, Phil Rigby, Lynne Warham, Peter Woolnough, 2009-03-26 Reflective practice is at the heart of effective teaching and this book helps you develop into a reflective teacher of English Everything you need is here guidance on developing your analysis and self evaluation skills the knowledge of what you are trying to achieve and why and examples of how experienced teachers deliver successful lessons The book shows you how to plan lessons how to make good use of resources and how to assess pupils progress effectively Each chapter contains points for reflection which encourage you to break off from your reading and think about the challenging questions that you face as a new teacher The book comes with access to a companion website www.sagepub.co.uk/secondary where you will find Videos of real lessons so you can see the skills discussed in the text in action Links to a range of sites that provide useful additional support Extra planning and resource materials If you are training to teach English this book will help you to improve your classroom performance by providing you with practical advice but also by helping you to think in depth about the key issues It also provides examples of the research evidence that is needed in academic work at Masters level essential for anyone undertaking an M level PGCE Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations For 2007, Part 6, March 2, 2006, 109-2 Hearings, *, 2006 Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations for 2007 United States.
