The Individual and the Authority Figure in Egyptian Prose Literature Yona Sheffer,2018-05-15 The Individual and the Authority Figure in Egyptian Prose Literature explores and analyses political conflicts between individuals and authority figures as those conflicts are depicted in thirteen Egyptian novels written from 1957 to the last years of Mubarak s presidency The book discusses the various reasons that lead an individual or a group of people from all strata of society common people intellectuals and public figures to confront policemen senior security officials and even the heads of the state It further examines how the conflicts develop and what their outcomes are in the short term as well as in the long term for both the individuals and the authority figures In this context the volume also examines the possibility of standing against an oppressive regime and even overcoming it This text argues that while the authority figure initially subdues individuals who confront them their victory is short term In the long term their cruelties bring about sown deaths either by the individuals themselves or by their relatives Furthermore large assemblies of people can confront the regime with success These discoveries along with other findings presented in the book remain relevant to the reality in the Middle East and the events leading to the Arab Spring Joyce Cary : A Critical Study A. Meets Art Third Edition ISBN 978 1 4625 3897 3 Emotions through Literature Mariano Longo, 2019-07-23 Engaging with the wide sociological literature on emotions this book explores the social representation of emotions their management and their effects by making reference to creative sources With a specific focus on literary narrative including the works of figures such as Dante Austen Manzoni Tolstoy and Kundera the author draws out the capacity of literary works to describe and represent both the external aspects of social relations and the inner motivations of the involved actors An interdisciplinary study that combines sociology narratology philosophy historical analysis and literary criticism Emotions through Literature invites us to re think the role of emotions in sociological analysis employing literary narratives to give plausible intellectual responses to the double nature of emotions their being both individual and social Fiction and the Ways of Knowing

Avrom Fleishman, 2014-07-03 In this highly individual study Avrom Fleishman explores a wide range of literary references to human culture the culture of ideas facts and images Each critical essay in Fiction and the Ways of Knowing takes up for sustained analysis a major British novel of the nineteenth or the twentieth century The novels are analyzed in the light of social historical philosophical and other perspectives that can be grouped under the human sciences The diversity of critical contexts in these thirteen essays is organized by Avrom Fleishman's governing belief in the interrelations of literature and other ways of interpreting the world The underlying assumptions of this approach as explained in his introductory essay are that fiction is capable of encompassing even the most recondite facts and recalcitrant ideas that fiction though never a mirror of reality is linked to realities and takes part in the real and that a critical reading may be informed by scientific knowledge without reducing the literary work to a schematic formula Fleishman investigates the matters of fact and belief that make up the designated meanings the intellectual contexts and the speculative parallels in three types of novel Some of the novels discussed make it clear that their authors are informed on matters beyond the nonspecialist's range these essays help bridge this information gap Other fictional works are only to be grasped in an awareness of the cultural lore tacitly distributed in their own time a modern reader must make the effort to fathom their anachronisms And other novels can be found to open passageways that their authors can only have glimpsed intuitively these must be pursued with great caution but equal diligence The novels discussed include Little Dorrit The Way We Live Now Daniel Deronda The Return of the Native and The Magus Also examined are Wuthering Heights Vanity Fair Northanger Abbey To the Lighthouse Under Western Eyes Ulysses and A Passage to India Fiction and Social Reality Mariano Longo, 2016-03-09 In spite of their differing rhetorics and cognitive strategies sociology and literature are often concerned with the same objects social relationships action motivation social constraints and relationships for example As such sociologists have always been fascinated with fictional literature

This book reinvigorates the debate surrounding the utility of fiction as a sociological resource examining the distinction between the two forms of writing and exploring the views of early sociologists on the suitability of subjecting literary sources to sociological analysis. Engaging with contemporary debates in this field, the author explores the potential sociological use of literary fiction, considering the role of literature as the exemplification of sociological concepts, a non-technical confirmation of theoretical insights, and a form of empirical material used to confirm a set of theoretically oriented assumptions. A fascinating exploration of the means by which the sociological eye can be sharpened by engagement with literary sources, Fiction and Social Reality offers a set of methodological principles according to which literature can be examined sociologically. As such, it will appeal to scholars of sociology and literary studies with interests in research methods and interdisciplinary approaches to scholarly research. The Dawn of Industrial Agriculture in Iowa E. Paul

Durrenberger, 2021-11-15 In The Dawn of Industrial Agriculture in Iowa E. Paul Durrenberger recounts the transformation of Iowa's family farms into today's agricultural industry through the lens of the lives and writings of Iowa novelist Paul Corey and poet Ruth Lechlitner. This anthropological biography analyzes Corey's fiction, Lechlitner's poetry, and their professional and personal correspondence to offer a new perspective on an era (1925-1947) that saw the collapse and remaking of capitalism in the United States, the rise of communism in the Soviet Union, the rise and defeat of fascism around the world, and the creation of a continuous warfare state in America. Durrenberger tells the story that Corey aimed to record and preserve of the industrialization of Iowa's agriculture and the death of its family farms. He analyzes Corey's regionalist focus on Iowa farming and regionalism's contemporaneous association in Europe with rising fascism. He explores Corey's adoption of naturalism, evident in his resistance to heroes and villains, to plot structure and resolution, and to moral judgment, as well as his ethnographic tendency to focus on groups rather than individuals. An unusual and wide-ranging study, The Dawn of Industrial Agriculture in Iowa offers important insight into the relationships among fiction, individual lives, and anthropological practice, as well as into a pivotal period in American history. Paradox and Society Louis Schneider, The writings of Bernard Mandeville mark an important transition between enlightenment social philosophy and modern science. Born in Holland in 1670 and educated as a physician, Mandeville spent the greater part of his working life in England, where he died in 1733. In some respects, Mandeville can be compared to Voltaire. Mandeville's junior by twenty-four years, Mandeville had the knack of making controversies volcanic and of arousing heated debate about any topic on which he chose to comment, and he chose to comment on virtually everything. He was especially¹ interested in social evolution, morality, and society, prostitution, and romantic love, crime, and its deterrence, and in social aspects of religion. His views on these and countless other topics cohere in his continual fascination with the consequences of social and economic actions that run counter to anticipations and intentions, and in the paradoxical or ironic cast that such outcomes often have. In Paradox and Society, Louis Schneider is the first to offer a full consideration of Mandeville as a sociologist. Schneider offers an intellectual and characterological portrait of Mandeville examining his writings and reactions to him over time Schneider goes on to review Mandeville's theory of human nature and explores his hotly contested notion of the paradox of private vices and public benefits that the arousal of desires is a necessary precondition for the stimulation of social and economic development Social action outside the marketplace and Mandeville's problematic theory of social evolution are next considered The volume ends with an examination of paradox irony and satire in society In this detailed analysis of one of the world's most controversial social critics Schneider shows us that Mandeville offers a vision of human society that is of enduring significance He challenges the reader to consider how that vision might operate in today's world Social Sciences and Cultural Studies Asunción Lopez-Varela Azcárate, 2012-09-19 This is a unique and groundbreaking collection of questions and answers coming from higher education institutions on diverse fields and across a wide spectrum of countries and cultures It creates routes for further innovation collaboration amidst the Sciences both Natural and Social and the Humanities and the private and the public sectors of society The chapters speak across socio cultural concerns education welfare and artistic sectors under the common desire for direct responses in more effective ways by means of interaction across societal structures
