Rebellious Frasers Not Yorkes Magazine In The Days Of Maginn Thackeray And Carlyle:

Visions of Science James A. Secord, 2015-04-03 The first half of the nineteenth century witnessed an extraordinary transformation in British political literary and intellectual life There was widespread social unrest and debates raged regarding education the lives of the working class and the new industrial machine governed world At the same time modern science emerged in Europe in more or less its current form as new disciplines and revolutionary concepts including evolution and the vastness of geologic time began to take shape In Visions of Science James A Secord offers a new way to capture this unique moment of change He explores seven key books among them Charles Babbage's Reflections on the Decline of Science Charles Lyell's Principles of Geology Mary Somerville's Connexion of the Physical Sciences and Thomas Carlyle's Sartor Resartus and shows how literature that reflects on the wider meaning of science can be revelatory when granted the kind of close reading usually reserved for fiction and poetry These books considered the meanings of science and its place in modern life looking to the future coordinating and connecting the sciences and forging knowledge that would be appropriate for the new age Their aim was often philosophical but Secord shows it was just as often imaginative projective and practical to suggest not only how to think about the natural world but also to indicate modes of action and potential consequences in an era of unparalleled change Visions of Science opens our eyes to how genteel ladies working men and the literary elite responded to these remarkable works It reveals the importance of understanding the physical qualities of books and the key role of printers and publishers from factories pouring out cheap compendia to fashionable publishing houses in London's West End Secord's vivid account takes us to the heart of an information revolution that was to have profound consequences for the making of the modern world

Lives of Victorian Literary Figures, Part V, Volume 3 Ralph Pite, William Baker, Judith L Fisher, Andrew Gasson, Andrew Maunder, 2024-05-31 Considers the reputations and biographical portrayal of three innovative and controversial writers Mary Elizabeth Braddon Wilkie Collins and William Thackeray These anthologies of contemporary biographical material shed light on the processes at work in the establishment of a public image and a critical reputation

Becoming a Woman of Letters Linda Peterson, 2021-06-08 During the nineteenth century women authors for the first time achieved professional status secure income and public fame How did these women enter the literary profession meet the demands of editors publishers booksellers and reviewers and achieve distinction as women of letters Becoming a Woman of Letters examines the various ways women writers negotiated the market realities of authorship and looks at the myths and models women writers constructed to elevate their place in the profession Drawing from letters contracts and other archival material Linda Peterson details the careers of various women authors from the Victorian period Some like Harriet Martineau adopted the practices of their male counterparts and wrote for periodicals before producing a best seller others like Mary Howitt and Alice Meynell began in literary partnerships with their husbands and pursued independent careers later in life and yet others like Charlotte Brontë and her successors Charlotte Riddell and Mary

Cholmondeley wrote from obscure parsonages or isolated villages hoping an acclaimed novel might spark a meteoric rise to fame Peterson considers these women authors successes and failures the critical esteem that led to financial rewards and lasting reputations as well as the initial successes undermined by publishing trends and pressures Exploring the burgeoning print culture and the rise of new genres available to Victorian women authors this book provides a comprehensive account of the flowering of literary professionalism in the nineteenth century

The Lure of Illustration in the Nineteenth Century L. Brake, M. Demoor, 2009-01-15 This volume tackles the subject of illustration technically metaphorically and historically in nineteenth century periodicals displaying the ubiquity of the visual in the press the articles cover material illustration graphics and design and metaphorical use of images in the letterpress offering specific examples and theoretical approaches

The Architectural Novel Nicola Minott-Ahl, 2021-09-22 Scholars in disciplines from architecture and the fine arts to the various branches of history and social studies will find this study timely given contemporary European controversies over what constitutes national identity and what parts are played by race philosophy and religion economics immigration and invasion Many major European national identities barely predate the nineteenth century and were shaped not just by wars philosophies industrial change and governmental policies but also by artistic manipulation of how people perceived public spaces landscapes cityscapes religious and cultural structures museums and monuments commemorating conflict Among the most masterful manipulators of the day were popular nineteenth century French and British novelists who gave famous buildings a special prominence in their writing Some like Victor Hugo are still read and respected by scholars Others like Alexandre Dumas though still widely read are undervalued by contemporary critics Still others like William Harrison Ainsworth a prolific English writer are all but forgotten These three writers authored architectural novels which gave major ancient Gothic buildings a new and portable cultural presence well beyond their physical location During these revolutionary times when national symbolism was being questioned and challenged the threatened rupture with the past was admirably addressed through their art

Reflections on the Classical Canon in Economics Evelyn L.
