Evolution of Sexual Reproduction in Marine Invertebrates Andrew (Andrey N.) Ostrovsky, 2013-12-16 Three major aspects that distinguish this book are that 1 it contains the most detailed analysis of the sexual reproduction oogenesis fertilization and embryonic incubation in a particular phylum of the aquatic invertebrates Bryozoa ever made this analysis is based on an exhaustive review of the literature on that topic published over the last 260 years as well as extensive original histological anatomical and morphological data obtained during studies of both extant and extinct species 2 this broad analysis has made it possible to reconstruct the major patterns stages and trends in the evolution of sexual reproduction in various bryozoan clades showing numerous examples of parallelisms during transitions from broadcasting to embryonic incubation from planktotrophic to non feeding larvae and from lecithotrophy to placentation corresponding shifts in oogenesis fertilization and embryonic development are discussed in detail and 3 the key evolutionary novelties acquired by Bryozoa are compared with similar innovations that have evolved in other groups of marine invertebrates showing the general trends in the evolution of their sexual reproduction Ecological background of these innovations is considered too Altogether these aspects make the monograph an Encyclopedia of bryozoan sexual reproduction offering an integral picture of the evolution of this complex phenomenon

Reproduction and Development of Marine Invertebrates of the Northern Pacific Coast Megumi F. Strathmann, 2017-09-05 This reference work is designed to provide background information on an array of northeastern Pacific marine invertebrate species so that they can be more easily included in comparative studies of morphology cell biology reproduction embryology larval biology and ecology It is meant to serve biologists who are new to the field as well as experienced investigators who may not be familiar with the invertebrate fauna of the northern Pacific Coast The species discussed in this volume are mostly from the cold temperate waters of the San Juan Archipelago near Puget Sound and the Strait of Georgia but the information and methods given will be useful in laboratories from Alaska to central California and applicable to some extent in other coastal or inland facilities An introductory chapter discusses basic procedures for collecting and maintaining mature specimens for initiating spawning and for culturing embryos and larvae in the laboratory Subsequent chapters summarize reproduction and development in thirty different invertebrate groups and provided recent references through which additional information can be traced cite monographs or keys needed to identify species and give methods useful for studying an array of selected species Available information on habitat diet reproductive mode egg size developmental pattern developmental times larval type and conditions for settlement and metamorphosis is reported for over 450 species Comparative Aspects of Tumor Development Hans E. Kaiser, 2012-12-06 Of the interaction and relationship of both systems is chal In this volume aspects of neoplastic spread already elucidated in Volumes I-IV of this series are considered lending indeed against a broad biological background The mammalian The volume also reviews environmental oncology and species specific aspects of environmental chain reactions It orders constituting the logical framework for man as focal point of a comparative oncology are reviewed Selected is apparent that the environment plays a significant role in examples of neoplastic progression in various taxonomic the development of neoplasms Neoplasms among the spe units are provided beginning with the opposite pole of ci es have become much more common as a result of man s taxonomic development the vascular plants where no impact on the environment The latter chapters present a metastasis of malignant neoplasms occur Among in brief review of geologic and technologic and cultural vertebrates vertebrates and vascular plants lining mem changes and the implications of species specific cancer pro branes epithelia exhibit the highest degree of comparabil gression The remainder of this section outlines a number of ity Metastases also occur but more rarely in invertebrates selected chain reactions leading to neoplastic development and are discussed as they are found in the nonmammalian in certain members of these chains A discussion of the vertebrates in fish amphibians reptiles and birds Diseases storage of chemical carcinogens in plants and their interac of the leukemia leucosis lymphoma complex are present in tion with other causes of neoplastic growth is also included Check List of California Tertiary Marine Mollusca

Angeline Myra Keen, 1944 Structure and Evolution of Invertebrate Nervous Systems Andreas Schmidt-Rhaesa, Steffen Harzsch, Günter Purschke, 2015-12-17 The nervous system is particularly fascinating for many biologists because it controls animal characteristics such as movement behavior and coordinated thinking Invertebrate neurobiology has traditionally been studied in specific model organisms whilst knowledge of the broad diversity of nervous system architecture and its evolution among metazoan animals has received less attention This is the first major reference work in the field for 50 years bringing together many leading evolutionary neurobiologists to review the most recent research on the structure of invertebrate nervous systems and provide a comprehensive and authoritative overview for a new generation of researchers Presented in full colour throughout Structure and Evolution of Invertebrate Nervous Systems synthesizes and illustrates the numerous new findings that have been made possible with light and electron microscopy These include the recent introduction of new molecular and optical techniques such as immunohistochemical staining of neuron specific antigens and fluorescence in situ hybridization combined with visualization by confocal laser scanning microscopy New approaches to analysing the structure of the nervous system are also included such as micro computational tomography cryo soft X ray tomography and various 3 D visualization techniques The book follows a systematic and phylogenetic structure covering a broad range of taxa interspersed with chapters focusing on selected topics in nervous system functioning which are presented as research highlights and perspectives This comprehensive reference work will be an essential companion for graduate students and researchers alike in the fields of metazoan neurobiology morphology zoology phylogeny and evolution
