Behind the glass, several out-of-focus, warm-toned lights (orange and yellow) are visible, creating a bokeh effect. The overall color palette is a mix of cool blues and greens from the glass and background, and warm oranges and yellows from the lights. The text is overlaid on the lower portion of the image.

Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher Researchers Bernie Sullivan, Máirín Glenn, Mary Roche, Caitriona McDonagh, 2016-04-28. Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher Researchers provides crucial direction for educators looking to improve their teaching and maximise learning. While many students can grasp the basic elements of researching their practice and can write about practitioner research, some need guidance and assistance to reflect meaningfully on their teaching practice so as to articulate their educational values. This book provides this guidance. By exploring how to engage in an authentic, practical and personalised framework, the book encourages critical reflection and action on educational practice. Moving through the process of reflecting on practice, engaging in critical thinking and planning and taking action, it helps the reader to subsequently generate educational theory from their own personal learning. Examples from the authors' experiences illustrate the issues raised in each section with Pause and Reflect activities, guidelines for conducting a research project and annotated further reading available for every chapter. Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher Researchers is based on the idea that reflection is in itself a deliberate action and something we must live; it is key to understanding our practice and is a core component of action research. This book is a valuable guide for teachers, trainee teachers and researchers interested in reflecting on and enhancing their teaching practice.
