Making Senses of the Past Jo Day, 2013-03-19 Since the nineteenth century museums have kept their artifacts in glass cases to better preserve them and drawings and photographs have become standard ways of presenting the past These practices have led to an archaeology dominated by visual description even though human interaction with the surrounding world involves the whole body and all of its senses In the past few years sensory archaeology has become more prominent and Making Senses of the Past is one of the first collected volumes on this subject This book presents cutting edge research on new theoretical issues The essays presented here take readers on a multisensory journey around the world and across time In ancient Peru a site provides sensory surprises as voices resound beneath the ground and hidden carvings slowly reveal their secrets In Canada and New Zealand the flicker of reflected light from a lake dances on the faces of painted rocks and may have influenced when and why the pigment was applied In Mesopotamia vessels for foodstuffs build a picture of a past cuisine that encompasses taste and social activity in the building of communities While perfume and flowers are examined in various cultures in the chamber tombs of ancient Roman Palestine we are reminded that not all smells are pleasant Making Senses of the Past explores alternative ways to perceive past societies and offers a new way of wiring archaeology that incorporates the senses Canadian Books in Print 2002 Edited by Butler Marian, Marian Butler, 2002-02 Containing more than 48000 titles of which approximately 4000 have a 2001 imprint the author and title index is extensively cross referenced It offers a complete directory of Canadian publishers available listing the names and ISBN prefixes as well as the street e mail and web addresses Painting Rivers from Source to Sea Rob Dudley, 2018-01-12 Rivers can be enchanting or exciting but are always absorbing They provide a myriad of painting opportunities and challenges for the artist Focusing on watercolour one of the most direct of mediums this practical book explains how to paint a river and capture its life light movement colour and interest With over 200 colour images Rob Dudley shares his methods techniques and ideas to make this beautiful book a must have for all landscape and en plein air artists It explains each stage of a painting inspiration and focus sketching and information gathering planning and painting and advises on how to paint water so that it captures the colour shape and tone of light and reflections It also looks at the various moods and characters of rivers from the early streams and cascades through to strong busy waterways and finally to the tidal estuary where the river meets the sea and instructs on how to bring a painting to life by including the features of a river the boats wildlife people and bridges Finished paintings examples and step by step sequences are used throughout to support the detailed instruction Beautifully illustrated with 233 colour images
