The Child in American Evangelicalism and the Problem of Affluence David A. Sims, 2009-06-01 This work presents an evangelical theology of the child nurtured in the context of American evangelicalism and affluence. It employs an eclectic theological critical method to produce a theological anthropology of the affluent American evangelical child (AAEC) through interdisciplinary evangelical engagement of American history, sociology, and economics. Sims articulates how affluence constitutes a significant impediment to the evangelical nurture of the AAEC in the discipline and instruction of the Lord. Thus the problem he addresses is nurture in evangelical affluence conceived as a theological anthropological problem. Nurture in the cultural matrices of the evangelical affluence generated by technological consumer capitalism in the U.S. impedes spiritual and moral formation of the AAEC for discipleship in the way of the cross. This impediment risks disciplinary formation of the AAEC for capitalist culture cultivates delusional belief that life consists in an abundance of possessions and hinders the practice of evangelical liberation of the poor on humanity's underside. The result is the AAEC's spiritual/moral lack in late modernity. Chapter 1 introduces the problem of the AAEC. Chapters 2 and 3 provide a diachronic lens for the theological anthropology of the AAEC through critical assessment of the theological anthropologies of the child in Jonathan Edwards, Horace Bushnell, and Lawrence Richards. Chapters 4 and 5 constitute the synchronic perspective of the AAEC. Chapter 4 presents an evangelical sociology of the AAEC drawing upon William Corsaro's theory of interpretive reproductions, and chapter 5 constructs an evangelical theology of the AAEC through critical interaction with John Schneider's moral theology of affluence. Chapter 6, "Whither the AAEC," concludes with a recapitulation of the work and a forecast of possible futures for the AAEC in the twenty-first century.

Children and Childhood in American Religions Don S. Browning, Bonnie J. Miller-McLemore, 2009-02-16 Whether First Communion or bar mitzvah, religious traditions play a central role in the lives of many American children. In this collection of essays, leading scholars reveal for the first time how various religions interpret, reconstruct, and mediate their traditions to help guide children and their parents in navigating the opportunities and challenges of American life. The book examines ten religions among other topics: How the Catholic Church confronts the tension between its teachings about children and actual practice; The Oglala Lakota's struggle to preserve their spiritual tradition; The impact of modernity on Hinduism. Only by discussing the unique challenges faced by all religions and their followers can we take the first step toward a greater understanding for all of us.

The Equal-Regard Family and Its Friendly Critics John Witte, M. Christian Green, Amy Wheeler, 2007-10-17 This volume is both a celebration and an evaluation of the work on sex, marriage, and family life by Don S. Browning, the dean of modern family studies in theological ethics and practical theology. Scholars probe a number of Browning's contributions, particularly his call for an ethic of equal regard within the household and wider society. This book is a true interdisciplinary

Quivering Families Emily Hunter McGowin, 2018-05-01 American evangelicals are known for focusing on the family but the Quiverfull movement intensifies that focus in a significant way Often called Quiverfull due to an emphasis on filling their quivers with as many children as possible Psalm 127 5 such families are distinguishable by their practices of male only leadership homeschooling and prolific childbirth Their primary aim is multigenerational faithfulness ensuring their descendants maintain Christian faith for many generations Many believe this focus will lead to the Christianization of America in the centuries to come Quivering Families is a first of its kind project that employs history ethnography and theology to explore the Quiverfull movement in America The book considers a study of the movement s origins its major leaders and institutions and the daily lives of its families Quivering Families argues that despite the apparent strangeness of their practice Quiverfull is a thoroughly evangelical and American phenomenon Far from offering a countercultural vision of the family Quiverfull represents an intensification of longstanding tendencies The movement reveals the weakness of evangelical theology of the family and underlines the need for more critical and creative approaches

The World of Jesus and the Early Church Craig A Evans, 2022-05-03 How do religious texts impact the way communities of faith understand themselves In The World of Jesus and the Early Church Identity and Interpretation in Early Communities of Faith Craig Evans leads an interdisciplinary team of scholars to discover and explain how the dynamic relationship between text and community enabled ancient Christian and Jewish communities to define themselves To this end scholars composed two sets of essays The first examines how communities understood and defined themselves and the second looks at how sacred texts informed communities about their own self understanding and identity in earliest stages of Christianity and late Second Temple Judaism Whether revealing new understandings of Jesus before Pilate the rituals governing the execution and burial of criminals or the problems of dating ancient manuscripts The World of Jesus and the Early Church draws the reader into the world of the early Christian and Jewish communities in fresh and insightful ways

New Perspectives on Mutual Dependency in Care-Giving Adéla Souralová, 2016-03-09 Many scholars see caregiving relationships as being based on mutual dependency or interdependency Extensively cited notions of the global care chain or international division of reproductive labour have prepared the ground for analysis of global interdependencies in several domains This book goes further by taking mutual dependency as a starting point for analysing all relationships Using the example of Vietnamese families in the Czech Republic and the Czech native nannies it shows how paid caregiving is contextualized in terms of various relationships between three types of actors employer employee caring for the child and mother child All of these ties are based on ontologically different principles and each of them operates as a piece of a puzzle which is meaningful only in relation to each other Souralová considers caregiving to be a formative activity that establishes ties between the concerned actors whose subjectivities are mutually shaped in the daily practice of caregiving With its stress on mutuality in care work this ground breaking book illuminates the new forms of interpersonal interethnic and intergenerational relationships and highlights the mechanisms and processes in which kinship ties are negotiated and reproduced
