Religious Community Antony Mookenthottam,2001 The Vision of Catholic Social Thought Meghan J.

Clark,2014-04-01 The Vision of Catholic Social Thought traces the emergence of solidarity and human rights as critical theological and philosophical pillars of the anthropology and ethics foundational to the development of Catholic social teaching Meghan J Clark argues that the integration of human rights and the virtue of solidarity at the root of the Catholic social tradition are the unique contributions Catholic thought makes to contemporary debates in ethics political and philosophical theory Building upon the historical framework of the development of Catholic social thought drawing deeply from the papal encyclical tradition and the theological and ethical developments of Vatican II Clark forwards a constructive vision of virtue and social practice applying this critical question of human rights on the international stage Preaching the Cross of Christ Barbara E. Reid,2014-12-15 With an approach that is marked by both sound scripture scholarship and keen pastoral insight Barbara Reid explores the ways that the saving work of Jesus has been approached in preaching She uncovers a rich variety of metaphors symbols analogies some severely limited and others immensely liberating Reid writes I would like to invite preachers to become more cognizant about the possible deleterious effects of some of the ways we preach about the cross and to explore others that have not been adequately mined for the liberative potential Love,

Andrews,2012-02-01 Introduction to Dave Andrews for the 2012 Dave Andrews Legacy Series Introduction to the 2012 Reprinted Edition I kept seeing this guy on the shuttle bus long hair graying beard a gentle 60 s 70 s feel to him He seemed thoughtful intense friendly and quiet like he had a lot on his mind as did I Even though I saw him nearly every time I boarded the shuttle bus we didn t speak beyond him smiling and saying G day and me nodding and saying Hey as we boarded or disembarked It was my first time at Greenbelt a huge festival about faith art and justice held every August in the UK I had always heard great things about the event and so was thrilled when I was invited to speak I was just as thrilled to get a chance to hear in person some musicians and speakers I had only heard about from a distance so I went through the program and marked people I wanted to be sure not to miss It was near the end of the conference when a friend told me to be sure to catch an Australian fellow named Dave Andrews I ve never heard of him I said Oh he s a force of nature my friend said Kind of like Jim Wallis Tony Campolo and Mother Teresa rolled up into one How could I not put a combination like that in one of the last free slots on my schedule I arrived at the venue a few minutes late and there he was the bearded guy from the bus Thoughtful intense and friendly yes but quiet he was not He was nearly exploding with passion passion and compassion in a voice that ranged from fortis simo to fortississimo to furioso How could a guy churning with so much hope love anger energy faith fury and curiosity have been so quiet and unassuming on the bus He was a force of nature indeed evoking from his audience laughter shouts amens reverent silence and even tears before he was done He spoke of justice of poverty of oppression of solidarity across religious differences of service of hope of celebration of the way of Jesus As I listened I wanted to kick myself This is the most inspiring talk I ve heard at this whole festival Why did I miss all those opportunities to get to know this fellow on the bus Now the festival is almost over and I ve missed my chance Later than evening I boarded the shuttle bus for the last ride back to my hotel and there sat Dave and his wife Ange I didn t miss my chance this time I introduced myself and they reciprocated warmly I was a largely unknown American author at the time and hardly known at Greenbelt much less in Australia so I m quite certain Dave and Ange had never heard of me But they couldn t have been kinder and as we disembarked he pulled two books from his backpack and told me they were a gift The next day when I flew home from Heathrow I devoured them both on the plane First I opened Not Religion But Love and read it through from cover to cover Then I opened Christi anarchy and couldn t put it down either When my plane landed I felt I had been on a spiritual retreat or maybe better said in a kind of spiritual boot camp Things I was thinking but had been afraid to say out loud Dave was saying boldly and confidently Ideas I was very tentatively considering he had already been living with for years Complaints and concerns I only shared in highly guarded situations he was publishing from the housetops Hopes and ideals I didn t dare to express he celebrated without embarrassment I think I gave him a copy of one or two of my books as well and I guess he was favorably impressed enough that we stayed in touch and a friendship developed I discovered that we were both songwriters as well as writers that we both had a deep interest in interfaith friendships that we both had some critics and we both had known the pain of labeling and rejection Since then whatever he has written I ve been sure to read knowing that he speaks to my soul in a way that nobody else does We ve managed to get together several times since our initial meeting in England in spite of the fact that we live on opposite sides of the planet We ve spoken together at a few conferences on both hemispheres and I had the privilege of visiting him in Brisbane I ve seen the beautiful things he has been doing in a particularly interesting and challenging neighborhood there walking the streets with him meeting his friends sensing his love for that place and those people He s been in my home in the US as well and we ve been conspiring for some other chances to be and work together in the future In my speaking across North America I frequently refer to Dave s work but until now his books have been hard to come by That s why I m thrilled to introduce this volume to everyone I can in North America Yes you ll find he s one part Tony Campolo one part Jim Wallis and one part Mother Teresa a force of nature as I was told You ll also find he is a serious student of the Bible and a serious theological sage the kind of reflective activist or thinker practitioner that we need more of In a book like Christi anarchy he can boldly and provocatively unsettle you and challenge you Then in a book like Plan Be he can gently and pastorally encourage and inspire you Like the central inspiration of his life he is the kind of person to confidently turn over tables in the Temple one minute and then humbly defend a shamed and abused woman from her accusers the next You ll see in Dave s writings that he is highly knowledgeable about poverty ecology psychology sociology politics and economics not only from an aca demic standpoint but also from a grass roots experiential level His writing on these subjects grows from what he has done on the ground for example nurtur ing a community network that is training young adults to live and serve among the supervising homes for adults who are learning to live with physical and psychiatric disabilities encouraging small businesses to hire people who others would consider unemployable and developing a non profit solar energy co op for local people Dave s writings and friendship have meant so much to me I consider him a friend and mentor Now I am so happy that people across North America can dis cover him too You ll feel as I did so grateful that you didn t miss the chance to learn from this one of a kind un categorizable un containable wild wonder from Down Under named Dave Andrews Brian D McLaren author speaker activist brianmclaren net
