civilizations each diverging toward its own unique destination The Russian state portrays itself as defending the right of all civilizations to chart their own independent path of development and is having some success in using this logic to win allies around the world Paul Robinson recounts how ideas of inevitable convergence once dominated Russian thought as well but were gradually pushed out by civilizational theories He outlines where these theories came from what they propose and how they became popular Russia s World Order thereby reveals the true nature of today s New Cold War and the challenge that Russian civilizationism poses to the West

Global Rivalry John Albert White, 2002-06-27 During the years before the First World War the realignment of world powers resulted in agreements concluded in 1904 and 1907 between Britain France Russia and Japan John Albert White terms this a Quadruple Entente a more accurate and complete description than the more commonly used Triple Entente which omits

Japan His more inclusive view leaves undisturbed the conception of Europe as the centre of political gravity but at the same time calls proper attention to the enhanced role which Japan had won through her victories in the Sino Japanese and Russo Japanese wars and by her careful management of her entry into the larger family of nations This wider perspective on the crucial pre war years shows how in its political context as well as its geographical terrain and its general impact the First World War was a world war in every sense
