Mapping Indigenous Land Ana Pulido Rull,2020-05-28 Between 1536 and 1601 at the request of the colonial administration of New Spain indigenous artists crafted more than two hundred maps to be used as evidence in litigation over the allocation of land. These land grant maps or mapas de mercedes de tierras recorded the boundaries of cities, provinces, towns, and places; they made note of markers and ownership and at times the extent and measurement of each field in a territory along with the names of those who worked it. With their corresponding case files, these maps tell the stories of hundreds of natives and Spaniards who engaged in legal proceedings either to request land, to oppose a petition, or to negotiate its terms. Mapping Indigenous Land explores how, as persuasive and rhetorical images, these maps did more than simply record the disputed territories for lawsuits. They also enabled indigenous communities and sometimes Spanish petitioners to translate their ideas about contested spaces into visual form, offered arguments for the defense of these spaces, and in some cases even helped protect indigenous land against harmful requests. Drawing on her own paleography and transcription of case files, author Ana Pulido Rull shows how much these maps can tell us about the artists who participated in the lawsuits and about indigenous views of the contested lands. Considering the mapas de mercedes de tierras as sites of cross-cultural communication between natives and Spaniards, Pulido Rull also offers an analysis of medieval and modern Castilian law, its application in colonial New Spain, and the possibilities for empowerment it opened for the native population. An important contribution to the literature on Mexico's indigenous cartography and colonial art, Pulido Rull's work suggests new ways of understanding how colonial space itself was contested, negotiated, and defined.
