A living relationship with the wild natural world is our birthright as human beings But centuries of civilization patriarchy transcendental monotheism reductionist science and capitalism have broken the connection between humankind and nature To be Neo Pagan today is to reclaim our original relation with the world It is nothing more and nothing less than to be fully human again To re learn what this means we need to strip away the layers of estrangement that have accreted to our collective soul over the centuries So we look back to our pagan ancestors Though separated by time there is a connection between us and them We carry it in our flesh and blood At our most fundamental we are still the same human beings we were then We can be pagan again today because we live under the same Sun and on the same Earth we feel the same wind blowing through our hair and the same rain falling on our skin The Greatest Classics

Eze, 2008 In this book, the author, relying on the research he carried out in Igboland, Nigeria, leads us to see the action of God's grace already active in the Igbo religious culture called Omenala Ndigbo before the coming of Christian missionaries and how these cultural values have prepared the people to receive the Gospel. But as he points out, these cultural values on which the Christian message ought to have been built from the beginning were grossly misunderstood and neglected. The Igbo people are now mainly Christians. But because the Gospel has not yet become their culture, some of them have double allegiance to the doctrines of the Church and to the practices of Omenala Ndigbo. The author opines that to build the Catholic Church in Igboland on a solid foundation, the Eucharist must take the central place since the Eucharist makes the Church and is the source and summit of the life of the Church. Thus, the work, which uses the analytical and hermeneutical method known as inculturation, is on Eucharistic Ecclesiology from an Igbo perspective and will be useful for the Church both at the local and universal levels for self-understanding and renewal, ecumenism, dialogue, and mission.
