dedicated suicide bombers who have access to modern technology for mass destruction and who intend to cause maximum human suffering and casualties democratic governments have hard choices to make The premise of this book is that for intelligence organizations in democratic states to be able to face up to the challenges of global terrorism they must think outside the box and utilize all of their resources effectively and creatively To overcome the enemy we must also secure the peace Winning the hearts and minds of the terrorists pool of potential recruits will be essential to cutting off the supply of suicide bombers This book therefore addresses not only the question of how intelligence organizations can improve their efficacy in pre empting terrorist outrages but also the wider issue of removing the forces that sustain global terrorism as a scourge of the twenty first century The general public in the target countries and recruiting grounds must also be persuaded that despite their rhetoric the terrorists are not engaged in a holy war Intelligence services of various countries need to find convincing evidence to prove this point But it is up to governments civil society and the media in different parts of the world to work together if the evidence unearthed by national intelligence services is to be accepted by the general public Unless the emotional or quasi religious appeal of the global terrorists can be removed the simple arrest of bin Laden and his close associates or even the destruction of Al Qaeda as an organization will not be sufficient to prevent others from rising to replace them
