Secrets In Families And Family Therapy:

Secrets in Families and Family Therapy Evan Imber-Black, 1993-01-01 Secret keeping is a seemingly unavoidable part of human interaction from governments to married couples Unlike privacy which in the West is considered a healthy characteristic of the autonomous adult secrets are often troublesome creating distorted perceptions and strained relationships Secrets moreover are complex They differ in significance a surprise party versus hidden incest in the ways they shape family relationships who knows what about whom in their location between family members or between the family and society and in their effects on individual functioning Does the secret affect only one relationship or the overall way the individual responds to others Because of this complexity secrets are resistant to simple rules Therapy must comprise more than opening up the secret or addressing only the context and not the content or vice versa Therapists are confronted with the difficult task of examining their own values regarding secrecy while at the same time providing an effective therapeutic environment Practical issues of individual safety the meaning of the secret for the family the therapist's attitude towards secrets in general and the family's secret in particular all must be considered in order for treatment to be effective Here Imber Black and her contributors offer a vast array of approaches to helping families deal with secrets involving sexuality race violence parentage substance abuse illness and death The contributors explore the therapeutic social and political issues of secrets while always keeping families firmly in mind Through the many case examples they show us how families at first constricted by the need to maintain secrecy can gain strength through greater openness Part I sets the stage by defining secrets and their often shame bound origins Part II examines secrets throughout the family life cycle in couples between parents and children and with loss Part III shows how addictions such as drug abuse and eating disorders are often symptoms of unhealthy secrets In Part IV secrets of violence and abuse are discussed Part V offers a comprehensive look at social secrets involving sexism heterosexism and taboos Part VI discusses two very charged topics secret keeping involving race and racism and with AIDS Part VII concludes the book by offering a pattern for teaching and handling secrets in therapist training This diverse cast of talented therapists provides an elastic model for treating family secrets while compelling us to reevaluate our own thinking about secrets

The Secret Life of Families Evan Imber-Black, 1999-09-01

Secrets come in all shapes and sizes And for families as well as individuals they are built on a complex web of shifting motives and emotions But today when personal revelations are posted on the Internet or sensationalized on afternoon talk shows we risk losing touch with how important secrets are how they are used and abused their power to harm and heal In this important work Evan Imber Black explores the nature of secrets helping us understand The distinction between healthy privacy and toxic secrecy What to tell and not to tell young children How to safely confront a family zone of silence Why adolescents need to have some secrets and where to draw the line The effect of official secrets like sealed adoption records and medical testing What to consider before revealing an important secret And much more Filled with moving first person stories The Secret Life of Families provides perspective on some of today's most sensitive personal and social issues Giving voice to our deepest fears and to our power to overcome them this is a book that will be talked about for years to come

Ethnicity and Family Therapy Monica McGoldrick, Joe Giordano, Nydia Garcia Preto, 2005-08-18 This widely used clinical reference and text provides a wealth of knowledge on culturally sensitive practice with families and individuals from over 40 different ethnic groups Each chapter demonstrates how ethnocultural factors may influence the assumptions of both clients and therapists the issues people bring to the clinical context and their resources for coping and problem solving

Boss,2018-08-28 All losses are touched with ambiguity Yet those who suffer losses without finality bear a particular burden Pauline Boss the principal theorist of the concept of ambiguous loss guides clinicians in the task of building resilience in clients who face the trauma of loss without resolution Boss describes a concrete therapeutic approach that is at once directive and open to the complex contexts in which people find meaning and discover hope in the face of ambiguous losses In Part I readers are introduced to the concept of ambiguous loss and shown how such losses relate to concepts of the family definitions of trauma and capacities for resilience In Part II Boss leads readers through the various aspects of and target points for working with those suffering ambiguous loss From meaning to mastery identity to ambivalence attachment to hope these chapters cover key states of mind for those undergoing ambiguous loss The Epilogue addresses the therapist directly and his or her own ambiguous losses Closing the circle of the therapeutic process Boss shows therapists how fundamental their own experiences of loss are to their own clinical work In Loss Trauma and Resilience Boss provides the therapeutic insight and wisdom that aids mental health professionals in not going for closure but rather building strength and acceptance of ambiguity What readers will find is a concrete therapeutic approach that is at once directive and open to the complex contexts in which people find meaning and discover hope in the face of ambiguous losses The Dance of Deception Harriet Goldhor Lerner,1993 An exploration of the role of pretending and truth telling in women s lives discusses the difference between privacy and secrecy how women are encouraged to pretend and how pretending prevents a deeper intimacy

Shared Obliviousness in Family Systems Paul C. Rosenblatt, 2009-07-02 The modern family is inundated with information and no family can attend to it all families must set priorities and remain oblivious to much Obliviousness is the intriguing subject of Paul C Rosenblatt's speculative and theoretical work The hidden undersides of what families are aware of know and talk about are vast and complex maintained at times with great effort linked to important matters in the family and in society necessary for family functioning but also at times a source of great difficulty How are areas of obliviousness built up and maintained How does a family overcome obliviousness that creates difficulty Drawing on work in family systems family therapy whiteness and privilege and social construction among other research this book is enlightening for all who work with study and care about the family

Black Families in Therapy Nancy Boyd-Franklin, 2006-04-20 This classic text helps professionals and students understand and address cultural and racial issues in therapy with African American clients Leading family therapist Nancy Boyd Franklin explores the problems and challenges facing African American communities at different socioeconomic levels expands major therapeutic concepts and models to be more relevant to the experiences of African American families and individuals and outlines an empowerment based multisystemic approach to helping clients mobilize cultural and personal resources for change

The Therapeutic Alliance J. Christopher Muran, Jacques P. Barber, 2011-02-25 This state of the art book presents research based practice guidelines that clinicians of any orientation can use to optimize the therapeutic alliance Leading proponents of the major psychotherapeutic approaches explain just what a good alliance is how to create it and how to recognize and repair alliance ruptures Applications in individual group couple and family therapy are explored case examples vividly illustrate the concepts and techniques Links between the quality of the alliance and client outcomes are elucidated A section on training fills a major gap in the field reviewing proven strategies for helping therapists to develop key relationship building skills

Assisted Human Reproduction Dani Singer, Myra Hunter, 2006-02-22 With contributions from Eric Blyth Ken Daniels Julia Feast Robert Lee Nina Martin Alexina McWhinnie Derek Morgan Clare Murray Sharon Pettle Claire Potter Jim Richards and Francoise Shenfield The separation of procreation from conception has broadened notions of parenthood and created novel dilemmas A woman may carry a foetus derived from gametes neither or only one of which came from her or her partner or she may carry a foetus created using in vitro fertilisation IVF with the purpose of handing it to two other parents one neither or both of whom may be genetically related to the prospective child Parents may consist of single sex couples only one of them genetically related to the child the prospective mother may be past her menopause and genetic parenthood after death is now achievable In a world increasingly reliant on medical science how can the argument that equates traditional with natural and novel with unnatural unethical be justified Should there be legislation which is notoriously slow to change in a field driven by dazzling new possibilities at ever faster rate particularly when restrictions differ from country to country so that those who can afford it travel elsewhere for their treatment of choice Whose rights are paramount the adults hoping to build a family or the prospective child ren s future well being On what basis can apparently competing rights be regulated or adjudicated and how and to what extent can these be enforced in practice
