ABSTRACT

In this article, we discuss work from our collaborative research project, Community Engagement and Youth Leadership, a partnership between university scholars/activists with high school youth and their science teacher. A key goal of this work is to explore opportunities for youth empowerment through justice-oriented school science pedagogy. Equally important is communicating our work through the development/use/sharing of accessible conceptual and curricular frameworks that are grounded within the lived realities of science classrooms. It is our hope to engage with justice-oriented others in critical, loving reflection and dialogue on our (collective) efforts, as we join, connect, and grow global networks of social justice practitioners in science education. We look forward to your feedback.

Service Learning For Youth Empowerment And Social Change Volume5:

Service Learning for Youth Empowerment and Social Change Jeff Claus, Curtis Ogden, 1999 Twelve essays present current thinking on the subject of community service learning programs for youth The essays integrate research with descriptions of innovative programs and recommendations for program design advocating an approach that engages youth not only in helping others but in critical reflection Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Service Learning Andrew Furco, Shelley H. Billig, 2002-03-01 The Advances in Service Learning Research book series was established to initiate the publication of a set of comprehensive research volumes that would present and discuss a wide range of issues in this broad field called service learning Service learning is a multifaceted pedagogy that crosses all levels of schooling has potential relevance to all academic and professional disciplines is connected to a range of dynamic social issues and operates within a broad range of community contexts In terms of research there is much terrain to cover before a full understanding of service learning can be achieved This volume the first in the annual book series explores various themes issues and answers that bring us one step closer to understanding the essence of service learning The chapters of this volume focus on a broad range of topics that address a variety of research issues on service learning in K 12 education teacher education and higher education Through a wide scoped research lens the volume explores definitional foundations of service learning theoretical issues regarding service learning the impacts of service learning and methodological approaches to studying service learning Collectively the chapters of the book provide varying and at times opposing perspectives on some of the critical issues regarding service learning research and practice Resources in Education ,2001-10

Research on Service Learning Patti H. Clayton, Robert G. Bringle, Julie A. Hatcher, 2003-07-03 The purpose of this set is to improve service learning research and practice through strengthening its theoretical base Contributing authors include both well known and emerging service learning and community engagement scholars as well as scholars from other fields The authors bring theoretical perspectives from a wide variety of disciplines to bear as they critically review past research describe assessment methods and instruments develop future research agendas and consider implications of theory based research for enhanced practice This set constitutes a rich resource that suggests new approaches to conceptualizing understanding implementing assessing and studying service learning Each chapter offers recommendations for future research Research on Service Learning Conceptual Frameworks and Assessment will be of interest to both new and veteran service learning instructors seeking to enhance their practice by integrating what has been learned in terms of teaching assessment and research Staff and faculty who are responsible for promoting and supporting service learning at higher education institutions evaluating community service programs and working with faculty to develop research on service learning will also find this volume helpful For scholars and graduate students reviewing and conducting research related to service learning this book is a comprehensive resource and a knowledge base about the processes and outcomes of innovative pedagogies such as service learning that will enable them to locate their own work in an expanding and deepening arena of inquiry Both volumes open with chapters focused on defining the criteria for quality research Volume 2A then begins with research related to students comprising chapters that focus on cognitive processes academic learning civic learning personal development and intercultural competence The concluding faculty section presents chapters on faculty development faculty motivation and faculty learning Volume 2B addresses community development and the role of nonprofit organizations in service learning It then focusses on institutions examining the institutionalization of service learning engaged departments and institutional leadership The final section on partnerships in service learning includes chapters on conceptualizing and measuring the quality of partnerships inter organizational partnerships and student partnerships Both volumes are also available separately Active Learning Patricia Ann Mabrouk,2007 This symposium series book focuses on the application of active learning methods in teaching analytical science broadly defined at both the undergraduate and graduate levels The volume includes a wide range of examples of how these methods are being applied at public and private community colleges four year colleges and graduate research universities in the United States and abroad Research in Education ,1974

Handbook of Moral and Character Education Larry Nucci,Tobias Krettenauer,2014-04-24 There is widespread agreement that schools should contribute to the moral development and character formation of their students In fact 80% of US states currently have mandates regarding character education However the pervasiveness of the support for moral and character education masks a high degree of controversy surrounding its meaning and methods The purpose of this handbook is to supplant the prevalent ideological rhetoric of the field with a comprehensive research oriented volume that both describes the extensive changes that have occurred over the last fifteen years and points forward to the future Now in its second edition this book includes the latest applications of developmental and cognitive psychology to moral and character education from preschool to college settings and much more The Translational Design of Schools Kenn Fisher,2016-10-13 This book summarises the deep level of research carried out since 2008 within the emerging evidence based translational design EBD approach to learning environments research This programme has been carried out by the Learning Environments Applied Research Network of the University of Melbourne its partners and colleagues The chapters are based on ten 3 4 year full time doctoral research dissertations with each chapter outlining the key findings from these studies The book links the chapters through the lens of evidence based design which originates from the health planning sector The rigour of that sector is based on the well accepted methodology of translational research used in clinical medicine for many years In adapting that practice translational medicine is akin to translational development When applied to other sectors and disciplines this becomes EBD health planning translational engineering or in the case of evidence based architecture translational design Thus educational planning becomes the translational design of learning environments These doctoral dissertations are examples of this approach The chapters are organised into a narrative that examines evidence based design through three key themes The first explores key issues in learning environments with three chapters covering spatial literacy in pedagogical practice engaging students in learning spaces and re placing classrooms through flexibility The second theme focusses on the socio cultural implications of learning environments exploring student identity formation aligning learning environment affordances for effective professional development in an innovative senior secondary school and occupying curriculum as space in the arts The third theme investigates the design implications for learning environments with four chapters covering corridors nooks and crannies making space for learning the role of the primary school library in learning plans and pedagogies school design as socio spatial assemblage and evaluating the spatial changes in a technology enabled primary years setting

Social Work and Service Learning Meryl Nadel, Virginia Majewski, Marilyn Sullivan-Cosetti, 2007 Service learning and social work education comprise an exciting yet underutilized partnership This book represents the first comprehensive overview of this active and empowering approach to learning in social work Both educators and practitioners will discover conceptual and practical guidance for developing productive community based projects Often envisioned as located at the midpoint on a continuum from volunteer work to internship service learning combines the opportunity to serve with the opportunity to learn It offers community agencies a chance to collaborate with academic colleagues to meet identified community needs frequently with an explicit social justice dimension The contributors illustrate how service learning facilitates students understanding and interacting with community members as partners not clients Service learning encourages students to use critical thinking skills to reflect on their work and its implications This combination of study action reflection in conjunction with course content is highly effective The book explores its subject from several perspectives The first section serves as a conceptual and theoretical orientation to service learning in social work The second section offers models that illustrate many ways of implementing service learning across the components of the social work curriculum The final two parts of the book focus on evaluation and service learning in the broader context of civic engagement

Learning to Serve Maureen E. Kenny, Lou Anna K. Simon, Karen Kiley-Brabeck, Richard M. Lerner, 2001-12-31 Service learning as defined by the editors is the generation of knowledge that is of benefit to the community as a whole This seventh volume in the Outreach Scholarship book series contributes a unique discussion of how service learning functions as a critical cornerstone of outreach scholarship The sections and chapters of this book marshal evidence in support of the idea that undergraduate service learning infused throughout the curriculum and coupled with outreach scholarship is an integral means through which higher education can engage people and institutions of the communities of this nation in a manner that perpetuate civil society The editors through this series of models of service learning make a powerful argument for the necessity of engaged institutions

Handbook of Adolescent Psychology, Volume 1 Richard M. Lerner, Laurence Steinberg, 2009-04-06 The study of and interest in adolescence in the field of psychology and related fields continues to grow necessitating an expanded revision of this seminal work This multidisciplinary handbook edited by the premier scholars in the field Richard Lerner and Laurence Steinberg and with contributions from the leading researchers reflects the latest empirical work and growth in the field

Serve and Learn Florence Fay Pritchard, George I. Whitehead, III, 2004-07-22 This volume makes two important contributions First it provides a framework grounded in theory and best professional practice that middle and high school teachers their students and community partners can use to design implement and evaluate service learning projects that address authentic community needs Second it demonstrates ways collaborative service learning can enhance students

intellectual development promote their academic achievement strengthen their citizenship skills and accelerate the kinds of educational accountability and reform initiatives emphasized in the national educational standards movement and the 2002 No Child Left Behind Act Serve and Learn Implementing and Evaluating Service Learning in Middle and High Schools provides what may be the only comprehensive guide to implementing assessing and celebrating service learning in today's middle and high schools emphasizes and explicates a collaborative approach to service learning in which teachers students and community partners team together to advance learning and meet genuine community needs demonstrates how service learning teams use key elements of standards based education multiple intelligences theory and cooperative learning to guide project development implementation assessment and evaluation offers optional designs for service learning projects that are suitable for use by interns and beginning teachers as well as by experienced and master teachers and that can be used in a developmental sequence by school and community partners to build from small individual projects toward school system and community wide projects and includes end of chapter activities that help those who use the book as a text to practice the model and its strategies and use results to create their own service learning projects The book is organized in three parts that present service learning along a theoretical to practical continuum Part I lays the foundations for the method by proposing a collaborative model for service learning Part II explicates this model and explains the four sets of processes that teams use to commit to a project cooperatively determine students project outcomes and ways to measure them develop learning activities to help students achieve outcomes and then evaluate their projects and celebrate growth Part III provides resources for carrying out the collaborative model A wide range of educators will find this book useful Its distinctive contributions and features are particularly valuable for teacher educators students and community partners already committed to service learning projects to those who are introducing service learning into their practice and to instructional supervisors school administrators and community agencies seeking to create a climate for service learning or to enrich initiatives already underway
