Language of the Snakes traces the history of the Prakrit language as a literary phenomenon starting from its cultivation in courts of the Deccan in the first centuries of the common era Although little studied today Prakrit was an important vector of the kavya movement and once joined Sanskrit at the apex of classical Indian literary culture The opposition between Prakrit and Sanskrit was at the center of an enduring language order in India a set of ways of thinking about naming classifying representing and ultimately using languages As a language of classical literature that nevertheless retained its associations with more demotic language practices Prakrit both embodies major cultural tensions between high and low transregional and regional cosmopolitan and vernacular and provides a unique perspective onto the history of literature and culture in South Asia      The Heritage of Sufism Leonard Lewisohn, 2018-04-30

Twentieth Century Metapoetry and the Lyric Tradition reveals the unique value of metapoems for exploring twentieth century poetry By placing these texts into a hitherto barely investigated literary historical perspective it demonstrates that modern metapoetry is steeped in the lyric tradition to a much greater extent than previously acknowledged Since these literary continuities that cut across epochal boundaries can be traced across all major poetic movements they challenge established accounts of the history of twentieth century poetry that postulate a radical break with the immediate past Moreover the finding that metapoems perpetuate traditional forms and topoi distinguishes metapoetry historically and systematically from metafiction and metadrama After highlighting the most important differences as regards to the function of metareference in poetry on the one side and in fiction and drama on the other the book concludes with a discussion of how to account for these generic differences theoretically With its extraordinarily subtle and perceptive Ronald Bush St John's College Oxford interpretive readings of over one hundred metapoems by canonical anglophone authors it offers the first representative selection of twentieth century poems about poetry in English
