China's Economic Development and Democratization Yanlai Wang, 2017-03-02 China's Economic Development and Democratization examines China's transformation from an institutional perspective It proposes an analytical framework comprising six macro institutional environments international ideological political economic constitutional and civil social to analyze the Chinese transition Through an institutional analysis of the ruling elite's policy institutionalization it tries to answer three main questions Will China's economic reforms lead to a meaningful political reform Will economic freedom lead to political freedom Will economic development lead to political democratization The major findings from the institutional analysis of the dynamic interactions between political actors and institutions suggest that China is moving closer towards democracy Students and scholars who are studying or conducting researches on the Chinese economy society or politics will find this book of particular interest

Constructing the U.S. Rapprochement with China, 1961-1974 Evelyn Goh, 2004-11-22 With Nixon's historic reconciliation with China in 1972 Sino American relations were restored and China moved from being regarded as America's most implacable enemy to a friend and tacit ally Existing accounts of the rapprochement focus on the shifting balance of power between the USA China and the Soviet Union but in this book Goh argues that they cannot adequately explain the timing and policy choices related to Washington's decisions for reconciliation with Beijing Instead she applies a more historically sensitive approach that privileges contending official American constructions of China's identity and character. This book demonstrates that ideas of reconciliation with China were already being propagated and debated within official circles in the USA during the 1960s. It traces the related policy discourse and imagery and examines their continuities and evolution into the early 1970s that facilitated Nixon's new policy. Air University Review, 1978
