Meeting Place Aboriginal Life In Toronto:

The Meeting Place Frances Sanderson, Native Canadian Centre of Toronto, 1997      Keeping the Campfires Going Susan Applegate Krouse, 2009 The essays in this groundbreaking anthology Keeping the Campfires Going highlight the accomplishments of and challenges confronting Native women activists in American and Canadian cities Since World War II Indigenous women from many communities have stepped forward through organizations in their families or by themselves to take action on behalf of the growing number of Native people living in urban areas This collection recounts and assesses the struggles successes and legacies of several of these women in cities across North America from San Francisco to Toronto Vancouver to Chicago      Aboriginal Peoples in Canadian Cities Heather A. Howard, Craig Proulx, 2011-04-12 Since the 1970s Aboriginal people have been more likely to live in Canadian cities than on reserves or in rural areas Aboriginal rural to urban migration and the development of urban Aboriginal communities represent one of the most significant shifts in the histories and cultures of Aboriginal peoples in Canada The essays in Aboriginal Peoples in Canadian Cities Transformations and Continuities are from contributors directly engaged in urban Aboriginal communities they draw on extensive ethnographic research on and by Aboriginal people and their own lived experiences The interdisciplinary studies of urban Aboriginal community and identity collected in this volume offer narratives of unique experiences and aspects of urban Aboriginal life They provide innovative perspectives on cultural transformation and continuity and demonstrate how comparative examinations of the diversity within and across urban Aboriginal experiences contribute to broader understandings of the relationship between Aboriginal peoples and the Canadian state and to theoretical debates about power dynamics in the production of community and in processes of identity formation      Around the Sacred Fire J. Treat, 2016-04-30 Around the Sacred Fire is a compelling cultural history of intertribal activism centered on the Indian Ecumenical Conference an influential movement among native people in Canada and the U S during the Red Power era Founded in 1969 the Conference began as an attempt at organizing grassroots spiritual leaders who were concerned about the conflict between tribal and Christian traditions throughout Indian country By the mid seventies thousands of people were gathering each summer in the foothills of the Rockies where they participated in weeklong encampments promoting spiritual revitalization and religious self determination Most historical overviews of native affairs in the sixties and seventies emphasize the prominence of the American Indian Movement and the impact of highly publicized confrontations such as the Northwest Coast fish ins the Alcatraz occupation and events at Wounded Knee The Indian Ecumenical Conference played a central role in stimulating cultural revival among native people partly because Conference leaders strategized for social change in ways that differed from the militant groups Drawing on archival records published accounts oral histories and field research James Treat has written the first comprehensive study of this important but overlooked effort at postcolonial interreligious dialogue      The Lives of Lake Ontario Daniel Macfarlane, 2024-09-03 Lake Ontario has profoundly influenced the historical evolution of North America For centuries it has enabled and enriched the societies that crowded its edges from fertile agricultural landscapes to energy production systems to sprawling cities In The Lives of Lake Ontario Daniel Macfarlane details the lake's relationship with the Indigenous nations settler cultures and modern countries that have occupied its shores He examines the myriad ways Canada and the United States have used and abused this resource through dams and canals drinking water and sewage trash and pollution fish and foreign species industry and manufacturing urbanization and infrastructure population growth and biodiversity loss Serving as both bridge and buffer between the two countries Lake Ontario came to host Canada's largest megalopolis Yet its transborder exploitation exacted a tremendous ecological cost leading people to abandon the lake Innovative regulations in the later twentieth century such as the Great Lakes Water Quality Agreements have partially improved Lake Ontario's health Despite signs that communities are reengaging with Lake Ontario it remains the most degraded of the Great Lakes with new and old problems alike exacerbated by climate change The Lives of Lake Ontario demonstrates that this lake is both remarkably resilient and uniquely vulnerable

Indigenous in the City Evelyn Peters, Chris Andersen, 2013-04-22 Research on Indigenous issues rarely focuses on life in major metropolitan centres Instead there is a tendency to frame rural and remote locations as emblematic of authentic or real Indigeneity and as central to the survival of Indigenous cultures and societies While such a perspective may support Indigenous struggles for territory and recognition as distinct peoples it fails to account for large swaths of contemporary Indigenous realities not the least of which is the increased presence of Indigenous people and communities in cities The chapters in this volume explore the implications of urbanization on the production of distinctive Indigenous identities in Canada the United States New Zealand and Australia Instead of viewing urban experiences in terms of assimilation and social and cultural disruption this book demonstrates the resilience creativity and complexity of the urban Indigenous presence both in Canada and internationally

Indigenous Invisibility in the City Deirdre Howard-Wagner, 2020-11-18 Indigenous Invisibility in the City contextualises the significant social change in Indigenous life circumstances and resurgence that came out of social movements in cities It is about Indigenous resurgence and community development by First Nations people for First Nations people in cities Seventy five years ago First Nations peoples began a significant post war period of relocation to cities in the United States Canada Australia and Aotearoa New Zealand First Nations peoples engaged in projects of resurgence and community development in the cities of the four settler states First Nations peoples who were motivated by aspirations for autonomy and empowerment went on to create the foundations of Indigenous social infrastructure This book explains the ways First Nations people in cities created and took control of their own futures A fact largely wilfully ignored in policy contexts Today differences exist over the way governments and First Nations peoples see the role and responsibilities of Indigenous institutions in cities What remains hidden in plain sight is their societal function as a social and political apparatus through which much of the social processes of Indigenous resurgence and community development in cities occurred The struggle for self determination in settler cities plays out through First Nations people s efforts to sustain their own institutions and resurgence but also rights and recognition in cities This book will be of interest to Indigenous studies scholars urban sociologists urban political scientists urban studies scholars and development studies scholars interested in urban issues and community building and development Phantom Past, Indigenous Presence Colleen E. Boyd,2011 The imagined ghosts of Native Americans have been an important element of colonial fantasy in North America ever since European settlements were established in the seventeenth century Native burial grounds and Native ghosts have long played a role in both regional and local folklore and in the national literature of the United States and Canada as settlers struggled to create a new identity for themselves that melded their European heritage with their new North American frontier surroundings In this interdisciplinary volume Colleen E Boyd and Coll Thrush bring together scholars from a variety of fields to discuss this North American fascination with the phantom Native American Phantom Past Indigenous Presence explores the importance of ancestral spirits and historic places in Indigenous and settler communities as they relate to territory and history in particular cultural political social historical and environmental contexts From examinations of how individuals reacted to historical cases of hauntings to how Native phantoms have functioned in the literature of North Americans to interdisciplinary studies of how such beliefs and narratives allowed European settlers and Indigenous people to make sense of the legacies of colonialism and conquest these essays show how the past and the present are intertwined through these stories No Place for Fairness David T. McNab,2009-10-01 Aboriginal policy and claims negotiation in Canada is seen to be a murky and perplexing world that has become an important public issue and has significant policy implications for government spending Aboriginal land policy in Canada began as an Aboriginal initiative In No Place for Fairness David McNab a long time advisor on land and treaty rights for both government and First Nations groups looks at the Bear Island Indigenous rights case initiated by the Teme Augama Anishinabe to explore why governments fail to deal effectively with Aboriginal land claims The book divided into two sections includes a survey of the historical background of the Bear Island claim followed by a more personal series of reflections about what happened as the claim encountered decades of policy hurdles court cases public protests and above all resistance by the Temagami First Nation McNab provides details of how ministers and their senior officials resisted real efforts to resolve problems as well as examples of field staff resisting government attempts at resolution He also shows that government entities such as the Indian Commission of Ontario and the Native Affairs Directorate were largely used as mailboxes where successive federal and provincial governments sent things they wanted to bury No Place for Fairness is the story of what happens when Aboriginal peoples political rights are crammed into the Euro Canadian legal system McNab makes a clear case that a legalistic approach to these problems is wholly inadequate and that more important things like fairness must be recognized as paramount if a just and lasting Aboriginal land policy is to be created The Nature of Empires and the Empires of Nature Karl S. Hele,2013-09-28 Drawing on themes from John MacKenzie's Empires of Nature and the Nature of Empires 1997 this book explores from Indigenous or Indigenous influenced perspectives the power of nature and the attempts by empires United States Canada and Britain to control it It also examines contemporary threats to First Nations communities from ongoing political environmental and social issues and the efforts to confront and eliminate these threats to peoples and the environment It becomes apparent that empire despite its manifestations of power cannot control or discipline humans and nature Essays suggest new ways of looking at the Great Lakes watershed and the peoples and empires contained within it The Story of Radio Mind Pamela E. Klassen, 2018-04-23 At the dawn of the radio age in the 1920s a settler mystic living on northwest coast of British Columbia invented radio mind Frederick Du Vernet Anglican archbishop and self declared scientist announced a psychic channel by which minds could telepathically communicate across distance Retelling Du Vernet's imaginative experiment Pamela Klassen shows us how agents of colonialism built metaphysical traditions on land they claimed to have conquered Following Du Vernet's journey westward from Toronto to Ojibwe territory and across the young nation of Canada Pamela Klassen examines how contests over the mediation of stories via photography maps printing presses and radio lucidly reveal the spiritual work of colonial settlement A city builder who bargained away Indigenous land to make way for the railroad Du Vernet knew that he lived on the territory of Ts'msyen Nisga'a and Haida nations who had never ceded their land to the onrush of Canadian settlers He condemned the devastating effects on Indigenous families of the residential schools run by his church while still serving that church Testifying to the power of radio mind with evidence from the apostle Paul and the philosopher Henri Bergson Du Vernet found a way to explain the world that he his church and his country made Expanding approaches to religion and media studies to ask how sovereignty is made through stories Klassen shows how the spiritual invention of colonial nations takes place at the same time that Indigenous peoples including Indigenous Christians resist colonial dispossession through stories and spirits of their own Canadian Climate of Mind Timothy B. Leduc, 2016-05-01 The twenty first century is a period of great environmental and social transformation as climate change increasingly marks lives at levels that are personal familial communal national and global A Canadian Climate of Mind presents stories that emerge from the waters lands and climate of Canada and which have the potential to renew a compassionate energy for changing human relations with each other and with our world The turbulent effects of climate change are popularly discussed in the modern language of scientific knowledge political policies economic mechanisms and technological innovation While there is much to be learned from these views Timothy Leduc suggests a more profound call for change by returning to past understandings of the land and climate He argues that the world is initiating us into a broader and humbler sense of what it is to be human in an interconnected reality The world is doing this by responding to unsustainable practices such as our devastating reliance on fossil fuels Weaving together voices from numerous backgrounds and time periods with Indigenous views on present and past environmental challenges A Canadian Climate of Mind illuminates a world that is being shaken to its core while we

Capitalism and Dispossession David P. Thomas, Veldon Coburn, 2022-05-25T00:00:00Z This edited collection brings together a broad range of case studies to highlight the role of Canadian corporations in producing deepening and exacerbating conditions of dispossession both at home and abroad Rather than presented as instances of exceptional greed or malice the cases are described as expected and inherent consequences of contemporary capitalism and or settler colonialism A core purpose of the book is to combine and synthesize analyses of dispossession within and outside of Canada While the literature tends to treat the two as distinct and unrelated phenomena these processes are often connected as the normalization of settler colonialism at home can lead to indifference and acceptance of dispossession caused by Canadian companies abroad This book brings local and global cases together in order to present a rigorous analysis of the role of Canadian corporate activity in processes of dispossession The book includes a diversity of theoretical approaches related to the overarching theme of capitalism and dispossession however they share a critical analysis of capitalism and its implications on marginalized peoples at home and abroad Included are political economy approaches that draw on the work of theorists such as David Harvey important interventions from Indigenous and settler colonial studies feminist approaches using the work of scholars such as Silvia Federici and the concept environmental racism which draws on both critical race theory and environmental justice literature

Bridging Knowledge Cultures, 2023-11-20 Establishing truly respectful mutually beneficial and equitable knowledge creation partnerships with diverse communities poses significant challenges for academia Bridging Knowledge Cultures provides valuable insights into the dynamics involved and the obstacles encountered when attempting to establish meaningful research partnerships between different knowledge domains This book goes beyond exploration by offering practical recommendations to overcome these challenges and forge effective collaboration between mainstream research institutions and community groups and organizations This book includes ten compelling case studies conducted by research and training hubs established through the global Knowledge for Change Consortium These case studies encompass community university research partnerships across various geographical locations tackling a wide range of societal issues and acknowledging the wealth of knowledge created by local communities The overarching goal of this book is to inspire the next generation of researchers and professionals to embrace the richness of diverse perspectives and knowledge cultures By advocating for the construction of bridges through practical approaches the book encourages a shift from competition to collaboration in research Ultimately it aims to foster an environment where different forms of knowledge can intersect and thrive leading to a more inclusive and comprehensive understanding of the world around us
