Storey, 2021-09-01 World War II was the biggest and most destructive war in history For two centuries wars had grown ever larger with the use of more terrible weapons and rising casualties culminating in the cataclysmic global events of 1939-45 And then quite suddenly large international wars have all but disappeared What caused wars to grow in size to such an extent and then shrink so precipitously Is this a permanent state of affairs or could big wars make a comeback Lawyer and historian John P Storey explores these questions by looking at the evolution of military technology and tactics over the long history of warfare From ancient bronze spears and chariots to World War II tanks and warplanes from the nuclear weapons of the Cold War to the drones and robotics of the future the changes in our methods of waging war has had and will continue to have a major impact on their size and destructiveness The sobering conclusion Storey makes is that based on past trends and the weapons in the pipeline for the future there is a much higher risk of there being much bigger wars in the coming decades Biological and Environmental Effects of Nuclear War United States. The Causes of War and the Spread of Peace Azar Gat,2017-04-14 Azar Gat sets out to resolve one of the age old questions of human existence why people fight and can they stop Spanning warfare from prehistory to the 21st century the book shows that neither an irresistible drive nor a cultural invention deadly violence and warfare have figured prominently in our behavioural toolkit since the dawn of our species People have always alternated between cooperation peaceful competition and violence to attain evolution shaped human desires A marked shift in the balance between these options has occurred since the onset of the industrial age Rather than modern war becoming more costly it hasn't it is peace that has become more rewarding Scrutinizing existing theories concerning the decline of war such as the democratic peace and capitalist peace Gat shows that they in fact partake of a broader Modernization Peace that has been growing since 1815 By now war has disappeared within the world's most developed areas Finally Gat explains why the Modernization Peace has been disrupted in the past as during the two World Wars and how challenges to it may still arise They include claimants to alternative modernity such as China and Russia anti modernists and failed modernizers that may spawn terrorism potentially unconventional While the world has become more peaceful than ever before there is still much to worry about in terms of security and no place for complacency
