Engineering as a personal remembrance of the lives and outstanding achievements of its members and foreign associates. These volumes are intended to stand as an enduring record of the many contributions of engineers and engineering to the benefit of humankind. In most cases the authors of the tributes are contemporaries or colleagues who had personal knowledge of the interests and the engineering accomplishments of the deceased. Through its members and foreign associates the Academy carries out the responsibilities for which it was established in 1964. Under the charter of the National Academy of Sciences the National Academy of Engineering was formed as a parallel organization of outstanding engineers. Members are elected on the basis of significant contributions to engineering theory and practice and to the literature of engineering or on the basis of demonstrated unusual accomplishments in the pioneering of new and developing fields of technology. The National Academies share a responsibility to advise the federal government on matters of science and technology. The expertise and credibility that the National Academy of Engineering brings to that task stem directly from the abilities, interests, and achievements of our members and foreign associates, our colleagues and friends whose special gifts we remember in this book.

The Collateral Bible William McCorkle, Ezra Stiles Ely, Gregory Townsend Bedell, 1828

On the Psychology of Individual Differences L. William Stern, 1924-10-12. This book presents an English translation by Nicolas and Lamiell of the entirety of a German language text authored by William Stern 1871-1938 and published in 1900. Its publication is widely considered to mark the founding of that sub discipline of psychology devoted to the systematic study of individual and group differences. The book includes an introductory chapter by Nicolas and Lamiell placing Stern's work into historical context and discussing its influence on the work of scholars who followed. By making this available for the first time for an Anglophone audience it fills a significant gap in the history of psychology literature and offers a springboard into much needed critical discourse on the contemporary state of psychological testing in particular and on the study of individual and group differences more broadly. It holds fresh insights for those specializing in the fields of personality psychology, educational psychology and industrial/organizational psychology as well as to practitioners in the fields of personal and educational counseling.

Migrancy, Memory and Repossession Úna Ní Aodha, 2009. The writing of women's history has witnessed a huge increase in recent decades. In the past the focus of some of this work was the representation of the oeheroine or the oegrand dame. Recent theoretical writing particularly as relating to historical anthropology has focussed on a more oerounded view of women. TM's historical representation and experience however. This book explores aspects of Western visual culture and the cultures of so called oemarginal groups, groups which have as yet seen little light shed on them. By analysing the discursive and oehidden histories of a range of women artists who worked on the periphery of oemainstream society or whose representational subjects were deemed oemarginal Travellers, Roma, Gypsies and Circus people it is possible to come to some new conclusions regarding the historical relationships that have existed between different cultures and peoples. Such a process can generate a better understanding of the shifting power dynamic as between diverse historical phenomena It is through such explorations also that we can enable the historical recovery and emergence of new identities in an increasingly multicultural world     Mind! Ferdinand Canning Scott Schiller,1876     Cyclopedia of Illustrations for Public Speakers
