Memoirs And Diary:

Writing the Self Peter Heehs, 2013 The self has a history In the West the idea of the soul entered Christianity with the Church Fathers notably Augustine During the Renaissance the idea of the individual attained preeminence as in the works of Montaigne In the seventeenth century philosophers such as Descartes formulated notions of selfhood that did not require a divine foundation in the next century Hume grew skeptical of the self's very existence Ideas of the self have changed markedly since the Romantic period and most scholars today regard it as at best a mental construct First person genres such as diaries and memoirs have provided an outlet for self expression Protestant diaries replaced the Catholic confessional but secular diaries such as Pepys's may reveal yet more about the self After Richardson novels competed with diaries and memoirs as vehicles of self expression though memoirs survived and continue to thrive while the diary has found a new incarnation in the personal blog Writing the Self narrates the intertwined histories of the self and of self expression through first person literature

Smalley,2015-05-26 Between September 1939 and June 1940 the British Expeditionary Force confronted the German threat to France and Flanders with a confused mind set an uncertain skills set and an uncompetitive capability This book explores the formation s origins the scale of defeat in France and the campaign s considerable legacy Handbook of Autobiography / Autofiction Martina Wagner-Egelhaaf,2019-01-29 Autobiographical writings have been a major cultural genre from antiquity to the present time General questions of the literary as e g the relation between literature and reality truth and fiction the dependency of author narrator and figure or issues of individual and cultural styles etc can be studied preeminently in the autobiographical genre Yet the tradition of life writing has in the course of literary history developed manifold types and forms Especially in the globalized age where the media and other technological cultural factors contribute to a rapid transformation of lifestyles autobiographical writing has maintained even enhanced its popularity and importance By conceiving autobiography in a wide sense that includes memoirs diaries self portraits and autofiction as well as media transformations of the genre this three volume handbook offers a comprehensive survey of theoretical approaches systematic aspects and historical developments in an international and interdisciplinary perspective While autobiography is usually considered to be a European tradition special emphasis is placed on the modes of self representation in non Western cultures and on inter and transcultural perspectives of the genre The individual contributions are closely interconnected by a system of cross references The handbook addresses scholars of cultural and literary studies students as well as non academic readers

Lee's Tigers Revisited Terry L. Jones, 2017-10-18 In Lee's Tigers Revisited noted Civil War scholar Terry L. Jones dramatically expands and revises his acclaimed history of the approximately 12 000 Louisiana infantrymen who fought in Robert E. Lee's Army of Northern Virginia Sometimes derided as the wharf rats from New Orleans and the lowest scrappings of the Mississippi the Louisiana Tigers earned a reputation for being drunken and riotous in camp but courageous and dependable on the battlefield By utilizing first person accounts and official records Jones provides the definitive study of the Louisiana Tigers and their harrowing experiences in the Civil War

Early Modern French Autobiography Nicolae Alexandru Virastau, 2021-04-06 This book offers a survey of the constitution of the French memoir tradition and explores in detail the works of four representative authors Philippe de Commynes Louise de Savoie Philippe de Cheverny and François de Bassompierre Works of self writing were usually printed under the title of memoirs and have been often considered a uniform genre These early forms of self writing were in fact highly heterogeneous works at the crossroads of multiple genres from the account book to the astrological diary Their writing printing and circulation challenge modern notions of autobiographical genres their authorship is often questionable and collective and they tended to be compiled in large collections for political ends without regard to the authors intention
