Paradoxes of PrEP for HIV Prevention Morten Skovdal,2025-02-17 Available open access digitally under CC BY licence Pre exposure prophylaxis PrEP is a drug taken by HIV negative people that reduces the risk of getting HIV Comparing two case studies in Denmark and Zimbabwe this book demonstrates six paradoxes that users often encounter in navigating their PrEP journey These paradoxes lead to contentions uncertainties dilemmas and ambiguities that need to be carefully and pensively responded to through what the author terms everyday PrEP negotiations The social nature and need for such everyday PrEP negotiations help explain why PrEP works for some people and not for others This book argues that such insight is critical to make PrEP work for more people and to inform social public health responses

Socialising the Biomedical Turn in HIV Prevention Susan Kippax,Niamh Stephenson,2016-06-28 This book concerns HIV prevention In it the authors argue that until the world focuses its attention on the social issues carried and revealed by AIDS it is unlikely that HIV transmission will be eradicated or even significantly reduced The book argues that we are currently witnessing the remedicalisation or the continuing biomedicalisation of HIV prevention which began in earnest after the development of successful HIV treatment and that this biomedical trajectory continues with the increasing push to use HIV treatments as prevention undermining what has been in many countries a successful prevention response This wide ranging study argues that HIV prevention involves enabling people and communities to discuss sex sexuality and drug use and informed by these discussion devising locally effective strategies for promoting safe sexual and drug injection practices
