In The Woman Who Married the Bear, authors Barbara Alice Mann, a scholar of Indigenous American culture, and Kaarina Kailo, who specializes in the cultures of Northern Europe, join forces to examine these Woman Bear stories, their common elements, and their meanings in the context of matriarchal culture. The authors reach back 35,000 years to tease out different threads of Indigenous Woman Bear traditions using the lens of bear spirituality to uncover the ancient matriarchies found in rock art, caves, ceremonies, rituals, and traditions. Across cultures, in the earliest known traditions, women and bears are shown to collaborate through star configurations and winter cave dwelling, symbolized by the spring awakening from hibernation followed by the birth of cubs. By the Bronze Age, however, the story of the Woman Bear marriage had changed; it had become a hunting tale refocused on the male hunter. Throughout the book, Mann and Kailo offer interpretations of this earliest known Bear religion in both its original and its later forms. Together, they uncover the maternal cultural symbolism behind the bear marriage and the Original Instructions given by Bear to Woman on sustainable ecology and lifeways free of patriarchy and social stratification. The British Journal of Dermatology, 1999, Vol 9, no 9, vol 28 includes a survey of current dermatological literature quarterly. Once Upon a Time in a Dark and Scary Book K. Shryock Hood, 2018-05-25 Contemporary American horror literature for children and young adults has two bold messages for readers: adults are untrustworthy, unreliable, and often dangerous, and the monster always wins, as it must, if there is to be a sequel. Examining the young adult horror series and the religious horror series for children, Left Behind: The Kids for the first time, and tracing the unstoppable monster to Seuss's Cat in the Hat, this book sheds new light on the problematic message produced by the combination of marketing and books for contemporary American young readers.
