The Presenting Past Michael Jacobs, 1985 Using and Not Using the Past after the Carolingian Empire Sarah Greer, Alice Hicklin, Stefan Esders, 2019-10-16 Using and Not Using the Past after the Carolingian Empire offers a new take on European history from c 900 to c 1050 examining the post Carolingian period in its own right and presenting it as a time of creative experimentation with new forms of authority and legitimacy In the late eighth century the Frankish king Charlemagne put together a new empire Less than a century later that empire had collapsed The story of Europe following the end of the Carolingian empire has often been presented as a tragedy a time of turbulence and disintegration out of which the new recognisably medieval kingdoms of Europe emerged This collection offers a different perspective Taking a transnational approach the authors contemplate the new social and political order that emerged in tenth and eleventh century Europe and examine how those shaping this new order saw themselves in relation to the past Each chapter explores how the past was used creatively by actors in the regions of the former Carolingian Empire to search for political legal and social legitimacy in a turbulent new political order Advancing the debates on the uses of the past in the early Middle Ages and prompting reconsideration of the narratives that have traditionally dominated modern writing on this period Using and Not Using the Past after the Carolingian Empire is ideal for students and scholars of tenth and eleventh century European history
