Visual Analogy Barbara Maria Stafford, 2001-08-24 A groundbreaking book exploring the discovery of sameness in otherness Recuperating a topic once central to philosophy theology rhetoric and aesthetics this groundbreaking book explores the discovery of sameness in otherness Analogy poses an intriguingly ancient and modern conundrum How in the face of cultural diversity can a unique someone or something be perceived as like what it is not This book is for anyone puzzled by why today as Barbara Maria Stafford claims we possess no language for talking about resemblance only an exaggerated awareness of difference Well designed images Stafford argues reveal the mind s intuitive leaps to connect known with unknown experience The first of four wide ranging chapters paints a challenging overview of several pressing contemporary issues Cloning legal controversies about social inequity identity politics electronic copying and the mimicry of virtual reality expose the need for a nuanced theory of similitude The second examines the historical tug of war between analogy and allegory or disanalogy Stafford provocatively suggests that since the Romantic Era we have been living in polarizingly allegorical times The third roots this divisiveness within the momentous shift from a magical universe modeled on sexual bonds to an engineered world built of discrete automated units. Finally, recent developments in computational brain research notwithstanding, major phenomenological questions about memory, emotion, intelligence, and awareness beckon. In the fourth chapter, Stafford intervenes in the consciousness debates to propose a humanistic cognitive science with bridging analogy at its artful core.

Journal of American Culture, 1997 Probing Popular Culture on and Off the Internet Marshall William Fishwick, 2004

In Probing Popular Culture On and Off the Internet, one of the leading authorities in American and popular culture studies presents an eye-opening examination of the Information Age's influence on what we do, how we live, and who we are. Dr. Marshall Fishwick, author of the textbooks Great Awakenings, Popular Religion, and Popular Culture, Popular Culture Cavespace to Cyberspace, and Popular Culture in a New Age, focuses his penetrating gaze upon the impact of the cultural icons and events that color the fabric of our lives. He examines the most recent developments, crises, and anxieties encountered in our headlong dash down the Information Superhighway and illustrates the reasons behind the media madness. Peppered with quotes from influential figures ranging from Plato to P. T. Barnum, this book provides food for thought that will spark smart discussion about every aspect of popular culture from Henry Ford to Y2K, the impact on popular culture of the September 11 tragedy, and more.

Economics of Information Technology and the Media Linda Low, 2000

Interest in information technology and the media is growing apace. This book has been specially written to provide an economics framework for analysing the nature and scope, as well as issues pertaining to the new information and communication technology and revolution. It also presents some trends and perspectives from the Asia Pacific region. While the economic principles of efficiency and competition are the same everywhere, many socio-political issues with respect to information technology and the media are unique to some specific cultural contexts. The book will be useful to students, researchers, and policymakers in mass communication, information technology, and the media.

Alexander, 2022-11-01 From 9 11 to COVID 19 the twenty first century looks increasingly dystopian and so do its television shows Long form science fiction narratives take one step further the fears of today liberal democracy in crisis growing economic precarity the threat of terrorism and omnipresent corporate control At the same time many of these shows attempt to visualize alternatives using dystopian extrapolations to spotlight the possibility of building a better world Programming the Future examines how recent speculative television takes on the contradictions of the neoliberal order Sherryl Vint and Jonathan Alexander consider a range of popular SF narratives of the last two decades including Battlestar Galactica Watchmen Colony The Man in the High Castle The Expanse and Mr Robot They argue that science fiction television foregrounds governance as part of explaining the novel institutions and norms of its imagined futures In so doing SF shows allegorize and critique contemporary social political and economic developments helping audiences resist the naturalization of the status quo Vint and Alexander also draw on queer theory to explore the representation of family structures and their relationship to larger social structures Recasting both dystopian and utopian narratives Programming the Future shows how depictions of alternative world political struggles speak to urgent real world issues of identity belonging and social and political change
