Reading The Gospels Today:

Reading the Gospels Today Stanley E. Porter, 2004 As ancient documents the New Testament Gospels can seem distant from contemporary life or irrelevant to modern society Further complicating the task of reading the Gospels is the way they seem to introduce differing if not competing pictures of Jesus Reading the Gospels Today is meant to help Bible readers understand and move beyond the difficulties involved in interpreting Scripture in our current context In these insightful studies several biblical scholars explore the content of the Gospels while also discussing how to read these writings in relation to each other and in terms of today's world Some chapters consider issues that vex Gospel criticism others look at particular texts or Synoptic themes still others demonstrate how one's immediate interpretive context helps to raise the issues and shape the answers that are found when we read the Gospels Well organized thoughtfully written and widely accessible this volume will serve to draw readers into the exciting field of contemporary Gospels study Contributors Craig A Evans Michael Knowles Andrew T Lincoln Allan Martens Lee Martin McDonald Stanley E Porter Al Wolters Yong Eui Yang

Reading the Gospels Wisely Jonathan T. Pennington, 2012-07-01 This textbook on how to read the Gospels well can stand on its own as a guide to reading this New Testament genre as Scripture It is also ideally suited to serve as a supplemental text to more conventional textbooks that discuss each Gospel systematically Most textbooks tend to introduce students to historical critical concerns but may be less adequate for showing how the Gospel narratives read as Scripture within the canonical framework of the entire New Testament and the whole Bible yield material for theological reflection and moral edification Pennington neither dismisses nor duplicates the results of current historical critical work on the Gospels as historical sources Rather he offers critically aware and hermeneutically intelligent instruction in reading the Gospels in order to hear their witness to Christ in a way that supports Christian application and proclamation Reading the Gospels as Christian Scripture (Reading Christian Scripture) Joshua W. Jipp, 2024-03-19 This survey textbook offers an accessible introduction to the four Gospels in their literary canonical and theological contexts In part 1 respected New Testament scholar Joshua Jipp focuses on these two questions What are the Gospels How did we get four canonical Gospels In part 2 Jipp explores the role that history narrative and theology play in our reading of the Gospels Part 3 examines each of the four canonical Gospels from the perspectives of history narrative and theology particularly emphasizing the role the Gospels play in discipleship This is the third volume in a series of survey textbooks that will cover the Old and New Testaments Beautifully designed in full color with maps sidebars images and illustrations to hold interest and aid learning Reading the Gospels as Christian Scripture offers a faith friendly introduction to students of the Gospels Additional resources for instructors are available through Textbook eSources How to Read the Gospels Yung Suk Kim, 2024-05-29 This accessible introduction to the Gospels examines the distinctive messages offered by the texts giving students a better understanding of methods and interpretations It explores a close reading of each Gospel and encourages students to approach texts from their own perspectives from postcolonialism to environmentalism The discussion questions included will help students focus their reflections on the gospel narrative its theology and methods of reading it How to Read the Gospels is an ideal textbook for undergraduate and seminary classrooms The book aims to reach seminary and graduate students who study the Gospels critically and comprehensively It provides user friendly summaries such as the basics of each Gospel authorship history important parables etc the Jesus of each Gospel and notable interpretation and translation issues Without reading the entire story readers often focus on only specific passages This book aims to foster close reading of each entire text sensitizing students to historical and literary issues that commonly arise and helping them better understand various ways to interpret these formative stories What makes this book unique is that it also engages various readings of the Gospels from traditional to deconstruction approaches including womanist interpretation disability interpretation ecological interpretation and many more For example how can readers understand the story of Jesus surprising conversation with the Samaritan woman in John 4 through the lens of feminism Or postcolonial criticism By providing alternative ways to think about these stories and various methods of approaching texts that may be new to the student the book opens up how such passages can be interpreted and appreciated

Reading the New Testament Today Brian E. Beck, 1977 Why do we have to study the New Testament Is it not simply enough to read it Beginning with a reading of the Lord's Prayer Brian Beck sets out to show how even the most familiar passages may benefit from more detailed study He writes simply and directly about the problems which arise from translation not only for the student but for every Christian who cares enough about the New Testament to want to understand it better He then goes on to show the way in which the different books came to be written and how they were brought together Though he is ready to criticise a number of scholars when he thinks they are mistaken he nevertheless yields to nobody in his high regard for many of the fruits of contemporary New Testament scholarship

Mark's Gospel: An Actological Reading Malcolm Torry, 2022-05-19 This might look like an ordinary commentary on Mark s Gospel but it isn t one It understands reality as Action actions change diversity movement and the dynamic rather than as Being beings the unchanging the unitary rest and the static and it reads Mark s Gospel in the light of that distinctive understanding of reality It is all about action change and diversity and it understands God Jesus and ourselves as action change and diversity The initial chapter introduces the action based understanding of reality as action in changing patterns an actology rather than an ontology Then follows a section by section close study of the Gospel The result is a unique and somewhat unexpected reading of the text and a distinctive theology to match

The Four Gospels on Sunday Gordon W. Lathrop, 2012-06-01 Premier liturgical theologian Gordon Lathrop argues that far too often liturgy preaching and liturgical theology are informed by nave and outdated exegesis In another fully original and deeply reflective work Lathrop partners with newer biblical studies to see the Gospels anew He treats the Gospels as early witnesses to the meaning of Christian assembly and forces in the shaping and reshaping of liturgy Lathrop first probes each Gospel historically and exegetically to discern what it tells us about early Christian worship and Christians relationship to the Risen One Then Lathrop treats the Gospels together to draw out more of their contemporary importance especially ways in which they can enrich our reflection about the assembly itself ministry baptism the use of scripture in liturgy and unity within ecumenical diversity Taking seriously the origins of the New Testament as we understand them today Lathrop demonstrates that the Gospels can remain a true catalyst for liturgical theology and liturgical renewal as well as an inspiring link to the faith and convictions of the earliest followers of the Christian way

Reading Mark's Gospel as a Text from Collective Memory Sandra Huebenthal, 2020-05-28 How did the Gospel of Mark come to exist And how was the memory of Jesus shaped by the experiences of the earliest Christians For centuries biblical scholars examined texts as history literature theology or even as story Curiously absent however has been attention to processes of collective memory in the creation of biblical texts Drawing on modern explorations of social memory Sandra Huebenthal presents a model for reading biblical texts as collective memories She demonstrates that the Gospel of Mark is a text evolving from collective narrative memory based on recollections of Jesus's life and teachings Huebenthal investigates the principles and structures of how groups remember and how their memory is structured and presented In the case of Mark's Gospel this includes examining which image of Jesus as well as which authorial self image this text as memory constructs Reading Mark's Gospel as a Text from Collective Memory serves less as a key to unlock questions about the historical Jesus and more as an examination of memory about him within a particular community providing a new and important framework for interpreting the earliest canonical gospel in context
