Reading Under The Covers An Autobiography:

Reading Under the Covers Elizabeth Russell, 2005-08 I spent the first half of my life searching although had you asked I couldn't have told you for what I was searching Perhaps it was for love for an end to loneliness for someone to listen perhaps for answers to my questions about the meaning of it all Sometimes that search seemed futile but I was always aware of an elusive something just out of my grasp something that every once in a while revealed itself momentarily and kept me searching Author Elizabeth Russell's dramatic story speaks of the isolation and longing deep within us that is tempered by an appreciation of the awe inspiring world in which we live If being human means being fully engaged in knowing oneself then Reading Under the Covers may inspire others who have abandoned the search for self or have never engaged in it Reading Under the Covers is intended to generate a conversation that is missing in society today a conversation about aging that views life as an opportunity not to be squandered but to be cherished until the end Reading Autobiography Sidonie

Smith, Julia Watson, 2010 projects and an extensive bibliography Book Jacket I Read It, But I Don't Get it Cris Tovani, 2000 Practical engaging account of how teachers can help adolescents develop new reading comprehension skills Cris Tovani is an accomplished teacher and staff developer who writes with verve and humor about the challenges of working with students at all levels of achievement from those who have mastered the art of fake reading to college bound juniors and seniors who struggle with the different demands of content area textbooks and novels Enter Cris classroom a place where students are continually learning new strategies for tackling difficult text You will be taken step by step through practical theory based reading instruction that can be adapted for use in any subject area In a time when students need increasingly sophisticated reading skills this book will provide support for teachers who want to incorporate comprehension instruction into their daily lesson plans without sacrificing content knowledge The Road Less Traveled: A Memoir Urs Kuhnlein, 2024-06-25

Autobiography Swiss Molecular Biologist Animal Science DNA Fingerprinting Professor Urs Kuhnlein is an accomplished molecular biologist a celebrated mountaineer and nature lover and a devoted member of an extended family that stretches from Switzerland to Canada and the United States He graduated from the Eidgenössische Technische Hochschule Zürich ETH and the University of Geneva in Switzerland and excelled academically eventually becoming Emeritus Professor at McGill University in Montreal Canada In this volume he vividly recalls his summit experiences from the first on the Bietschhorn in the Canton of Wallis to Denali in Alaska His colleagues students friends family and like minded adventurers will recognize his keen interests in and rich insights into the diverse worlds captured in this memoir Urs now lives on Fidalgo Island in the San Juans of Washington State Reading Arab Women's Autobiographies Nawar Al-Hassan Golley, 2010-01-01 Authors of autobiographies are always engaged in creating a self to present to their readers This process of self creation raises a number of intriguing questions why and how does anyone choose to present herself or himself in an autobiography Do women and men represent themselves in different ways and if so why How do differences in culture affect the writing of autobiography in various parts of the world This book tackles these questions through a close examination of Arab women s autobiographical writings Nawar Al Hassan Golley applies a variety of western critical theories including Marxism colonial discourse feminism and narrative theory to the autobiographies of Huda Shaarawi Fadwa Tuqan Nawal el Saadawi and others to demonstrate what these critical methodologies can reveal about Arab women s writing At the same time she also interrogates these theories against the chosen texts to see how adequate or appropriate these models are for analyzing texts from other cultures This two fold investigation sheds important new light on how the writers or editors of Arab women s autobiographies have written documented presented and organized their texts Library Lin's Biographies,

Literacy has now been recognized as a human right for over 50 years in several international declarations and initiatives Every child has a right to read and we have a social responsibility as parents teachers librarians publishers booksellers campaigners and policy makers to ensure that they are able to exercise that right Reading by Right Successful strategies to ensure every child can read to succeed provides a collection of chapters from international experts covering aspects of overcoming reading difficulties or reading reluctance in children and young people The book reveals strategies that are proving effective in overcoming barriers to reading from birth to teens looking at practices and projects from around the globe and revealing some common principles and drivers that have generated success Content covered includes an examination of the current state of reading in the UK and internationally and what the latest research tells us about children who are failing to read how youngsters become reluctant readers and how to improve the situation for everyone examples of successful projects from the Republic of Korea and Finland countries that consistently perform well in reading tests and international league tables analysis of diversity in publishing and children s books drawing on expertise from authors and publishers This book will be valuable for readers from all those professions that engage with young people and families and with the development of literacy including librarians teachers service managers consultants and other professional practitioners and also to concerned parents Autobiographical Inscriptions Barbara Rodriguez,1999-11-11 As life writing began to attract critical attention in the 1950s and 60s theorists critics and practitioners of autobiography concerned themselves with inscribing that is establishing or asserting a set of conventions that would define constructions of identity and acts of self representation More recently however scholars have identified the ways in which autobiographical works recognize and resist those conventions Moving beyond the narrow prescriptive definition of autobiography as the factual chronological first person narrative of the life story critics have theorized the genre from postmodern and feminist perspectives Autobiographical Inscriptions contributes a theory of autobiography by women writers of color to this lively repositioning of identity studies Barbara Rodr guez breaks new ground in the field with a discussion of the ways in which innovations of form and structure bolster the arguments for personhood articulated by Harriet Jacobs Zora Neale Hurston Hisaye Yamamoto Maxine Hong Kingston Leslie Marmon Silko Adrienne Kennedy and Cecile Pineda Rodr guez maps the intersections of form and structure with issues of race and gender in these women s works Central to the autobiographical act and to the representation of the self in language these intersections mark the ways in which the American woman writer of color comments on the process of subject construction as she produces original forms for the life story In each chapter Rodr guez pairs canonized texts with less well known works reading autobiographical works across cultural contexts and historical periods and even across artistic media By raising crucial questions about structure Autobiographical Inscriptions analyzes the ways in which these texts also destabilize notions of race and gender The result is a remarkable analysis of the seemingly endless range of formal strategies available to adopted and adapted by the American woman writer of color

Substance Use Disorders in African American Communities Mark Sanders, 2016-04-08 This book is dedicated to the prevention treatment and recovery of African Americans with substance use disorders African Americans are disproportionately represented in the addictions criminal justice and child welfare systems It is clear that when their culturally specific needs are not met they are vulnerable to continuous relapse and the revolving door syndrome There has been little written that focuses exclusively on prevention treatment and recovery among African Americans This book was written to fill this gap It is an important contribution to the field of behavioral health providing a much needed treasure trove of important knowledge from specialists including physicians psychologists educators social workers addictions counselors public health specialists researchers the clergy as well as individuals in recovery This volume adds significantly to the knowledge base of practitioners and researchers whose work focuses on prevention treatment and recovery in African American communities This book was originally published as a special issue of Alcoholism Treatment Quarterly

Situating Josephus' Life within Ancient Autobiography Davina Grojnowski, 2023-06-15 Davina Grojnowski examines Life the autobiographical text written by ancient Jewish historian Flavius Josephus from a literary studies perspective and in relation to genre theory In order to generate a framework of literary practices Josephus Life and other texts within Josephus literary spheres all associated with autobiography are the focus of a detailed literary analysis which compares the texts in terms of established features such as structure topoi and subject This methodological examination enables a better understanding of the literary boundaries of autobiography in antiquity and illustrates Josephus thought process during the composition of Life Grojnowski also offers a comparative study of autobiographical practices in Greek and Roman literature demonstrating the value of passive education supplementing what had been taught actively and its impact on authors and audiences As a result she provides insight into the development of literary practices in reaction to various forms of education and subsequently reflects on the religious self views of authors and audiences Simultaneously Grojnowski reacts to current discourses on ancient literary genres and demonstrates that ancient autobiography existed as a teachable literary genre in classical literature
