Leading researchers share their most current research on each issue covering theory and empirical research from a range of specializations including various content areas English language learners students with disabilities and reading assessment. Topics discussed include cognitive models of reading comprehension and how they relate to typical or atypical development of reading comprehension reading in history classes comprehension of densely worded and symbolic mathematical texts understanding causality in science texts the more rigorous comprehension standards in English language arts classes balancing the practical and measurement constraints of the assessment of reading comprehension understanding the needs and challenges of English language learners and students in special education with respect to the various content areas discussed in this book. This book is of interest to researchers in literacy and educational psychology as well as curriculum developers.

Reading More, Reading Better Elfrieda H. Hiebert, 2009-05-05 Teaching students specific literacy skills is important but equally critical and often overlooked is giving them the time and opportunity to read actual texts. Bringing together leading scholars this book focuses on how teachers can improve both the quality and quantity of reading experiences in K-12 classrooms. Essential topics include factors that make reading tasks more or less productive for different types of learners ways to balance independent reading with whole class and small group instruction how to choose appropriate texts and the connections between reading engagement and proficiency. The relevant research literature is reviewed and exemplary practices and programs are described.

Instructional Leadership Efforts and Evidence-Based Practices to Improve Writing Instruction

VanSlander, Jennifer, 2023-10-11 Writing is a critical skill for academic and professional success yet it is often neglected in schools. According to achievement data only a quarter of students in the United States are proficient writers indicating a significant need for improvement in writing instruction. One contributing factor to this problem is the lack of school and district leadership in writing instruction. School improvement efforts are often concentrated on reading and math leaving writing instruction overlooked. Additionally issues related to writer identities self efficacy in writing and educator training can also impact the effectiveness of instructional leadership in this critical subject. Instructional Leadership Efforts and Evidence-Based Practices to Improve Writing Instruction edited by Jennifer VanSlander of Columbus State University provides within this peer reviewed book an exploration of evidence based practices aimed at developing instructional leaders and enhancing student achievement in writing. It covers a broad range of topics related to writing instruction including learning theories conceptual models and the latest empirical research associated with the supervision organization implementation and monitoring of writing programs and instructional approaches. With its emphasis on writer identities self efficacy equitable and inclusive practices curriculum planning and implementation assessment instructional frameworks and managing instructional change this book provides educators with a comprehensive guide to improving writing instruction It is an essential resource for educators who seek to increase the effectiveness of instructional leadership and writing instruction at the classroom school or district level Resources in Education ,2001-04 Content Area Literacy John E. Professional Development Schools book series considers the role professional development schools PDSs play in expanding opportunities for linking research and clinical practice As in past volumes of this series PDS practitioners and researchers make a compelling case for the power of micro level initiatives to change practice Contributors share ideas to expand PDS work beyond site specific contexts to include a broader macro level agenda for clinical practice Authors hope to inspire large scale PDS reform through replication of successful initiatives featured in this volume Evoking change is not easy Nonetheless series editors and contributors conclude that PDSs generate a critical mass of PK 16 educators willing to form partnerships to address enduring educational dilemmas This volume represents a cross section of PDS stakeholders engaged in research along with innovative projects that uncover the richness of clinical practice Higher education faculty school practitioners and preservice teachers featured in these chapters explore the ways PDSs deepen clinical practice while enriching teaching and learning We begin with the discussion by Beebe Stunkard and Nath on the National Association for Professional Development School s NAPDS s role to support teacher candidates clinical practice through the cooperative efforts of university and school based personnel The authors explain NAPDS history and advocacy over the years to promote a context for schooluniversity partnerships to thrive and expand As the premier association guiding the work of collaborative P 12 higher education partnerships we welcome the insightful perspectives provided

Secondary School Reading, Process, Program, Procedure Walter Hill,1979 Secondary School Reading presents carefully thought out practical strategies for promoting the development of reading skills at the post elementary level Practical applications are presented through their relationship to the theoretical conception of the total reading learning process as they relate to the learner s needs Reading instruction in the secondary school is essentially different than elementary instruction in the school The older young people have different needs and interests and utilize different cognitive strategies This volume presents strategies for older learners which reflects a thorough knowledge of both reading and teaching as well as many years of experience in teaching this level Secondary School Reading is a good blend of theoretical constructs and practical application Its examples offer the teacher many ideas for learning activities Its appendices direct the reader to many sources of information and teaching materials

Teaching Inclusively in Higher Education Moira A. Fallon,Susan C. Brown,2010-04-01 This book is designed for higher education instructors The focus of the book is to assist all faculty instructors in higher education to better meet the needs of their student populations It addresses the major issue of higher education teaching today the need to reach all higher education students using active learning strategies Higher education today is rapidly changing and faculty members are being presented with new types of students ones who often have clear goals for bettering themselves but at the same time lack what might have been considered to be basic skills necessary for success in a college or university setting Instructors today must reach and bring all students into the college or university setting in an inclusive manner The emphasis of this book is on student focused strategies for teaching inclusively This book will provide valuable strategies and practical techniques for instructors to develop inclusive college classrooms that promote the learning of all students The audience targeted will be all instructors who work with higher education students including students in community colleges and vocational institutions The book is designed to be mainly practical instructional strategies with limited theoretical text and references At the same time major theories will be included to demonstrate why specific approaches are recommended Although the authors and editors are from the field of education the book is particularly valuable for all college instructors without a background in the discipline of education     Journal of Reading ,1983     English Journal ,1924     Reading Strategies and Practices
