Appreciating the Art of Television Ted Nannicelli, 2016-09-13 Contemporary television has been marked by such exceptional programming that it is now common to hear claims that TV has finally become an art In Appreciating the Art of Television Nannicelli contends that televisual art is not a recent development but has in fact existed for a long time Yet despite the flourishing of two relevant academic subfields the philosophy of film and television aesthetics there is little scholarship on television in general as an art form This book aims to provide scholars active in television aesthetics with a critical overview of the relevant philosophical literature while also giving philosophers of film a particular account of the art of television that will hopefully spur further interest and debate It offers the first sustained theoretical examination of what is involved in appreciating television as an art and how this bears on the practical business of television scholars critics students and fans namely the comprehension interpretation and evaluation of specific televisual artworks

Reception Studies and Audiovisual Translation Elena Di Giovanni, Yves Gambier, 2018-06-15 The coming of age of audiovisual translation studies has brought about a much needed surge of studies focusing on the audience their comprehension appreciation or rejection of what reaches them through the medium of translation Although complex to perform studies on the reception of translated audiovisual texts offer a uniquely thorough picture of the life and afterlife of these texts This volume provides a detailed and comprehensive overview of reception studies related to audiovisual translation and accessibility from a diachronic and synchronic perspective Focusing on all audiovisual translation techniques and encompassing theoretical and methodological approaches from translation media and film studies it aims to become a reference for students and scholars across these fields

Nation, Culture, Text Graeme Turner, 1993 Nation Culture Text Australian Cultural and Media Studies is the first collection of cultural studies from Australia selected and introduced for an international readership Participating in the de centring of cultural studies considering what perspectives other than the European and the American have to offer the contributors raise important issues about the role of a national tradition of critical theory and about the cultural specificity of theory itself A key theme is the place of the postcolonial nation within contemporary cultural theory particularly those aspects of contemporary theory which see the category of the nation as either outdated or suspect The writers tackle subjects ranging from the televising of the Bicentennial to the role of policy in film television and the heritage industry from the use of video technologies with remote Aboriginal communities to the role of ethnography in cultural studies

Lacan, Psychoanalysis, and Comedy Patricia Gherovici, Manya Steinkoler, 2016-08-02 This collection of essays explores laughter humor and the comic from a psychoanalytic perspective Edited by two leading practicing psychoanalysts and with original contributions from Lacanian practitioners and scholars this cutting edge volume proposes a paradigm swerve a Freudian slip on a banana peel Psychoanalysis has long been associated with tragedy and there is a strong warrant to take up comedy as a more productive model for psychoanalytic practice and critique Jokes and the comic have not received nearly as much consideration as they deserve given the fundamental role they play in our psychic lives and the way they unite the fields of aesthetics literature and psychoanalysis Lacan Psychoanalysis and Comedy addresses this lack and opens up the discussion

Tuning in Ronald Wayne Rodman, 2010 Television has been called the boob tube goof box and even a vast wasteland of American culture Yet for all its banality television is in many ways a mirror of culture and communicates messages within culture through the multiple channels of visual images language sound and music All of these channels contain their own unique coded messages to create the larger meaningful text of television As one of these sensory channels music contributes to meaning in television through its artistic language and through television viewers association of music with certain aspects of culture Music has always been an integral part of the American television even from its earliest days Like its parent medium of radio television broadcasts music to entertain viewers with live and video taped performances but music has also come to play a much larger role in television beyond its pleasurable performance aspects Music is used in narrative programs to evoke moods and identify characters and setting it is used to sell products through commercial jingles and most importantly music generally aids broadcast television in navigating through the continuous flow of daily programming This navigational aspect of television music is a distinctive feature and functions to transport the viewer through three spaces of TV the flow of the televisual apparatus with commercials newbreaks and promos the storyworld of each narrative program and the representational space between narrative and flow As Heard on TV is an examination and analysis of music in American television during the first fifty years of its history The book focuses on how music has functioned to serve as a navigator through the flow of television and contributing to structure narrative programs while also conveying meaning to its viewers by correlating with the images and sounds that it accompanies Drawing from precedents of the cinema and radio the book examines music in a number of classic television genres by positing a theory of functional musical spaces adapted from theories of Charles Morris Umberto Eco John Fiske and others
