commerce is changing many market conventions Not only are old commercial practices being adapted to the new conditions of immediacy brought forth by the global networks but new products and services as well as new practices are beginning to appear There is already ample evidence that agent based technologies will be crucial for these developments However many theoretical technological sociological and legal aspects will need to be addressed before such opportunities become a significant reality In addition to streamlining traditional transactions agents enable new types of transactions For example the elusive one to one marketing becomes more of a reality when consumer agents capture and share or sell consumer demographics Prices and other transaction dimensions need no longer to be fixed selling agents can dynamically tailor merchant offerings to each consumer Economies of scale become feasible in new markets when agents negotiate on special arbitration contracts Dynamic business relationships will give rise to more competitively agile organizations It is these new opportunities combined with substantial reduction in transaction costs that will revolutionize electronic commerce

The UCITA Revolution Raymond T. Nimmer, 2000      BEG E-COMMERCE, REYNOLDS, 2000-03-09 The definitive beginning guide to e commerce with popular Microsoft technologies this book coincides with the growth of businesses retailing online and uses the latest versions of VB ASP ADO and MTS      Electronic Commerce Hossein Bidgoli, 2002 This four part overview of electronic commerce offers a more thorough and technical view of the subject than many recent books on the subject The book provides a balance of theories applications and hands on material Electronic Commerce is divided into four parts Electronic Commerce Basics Electronic Commerce Supporting Activities Implementation and Management Issues in Electronic Commerce and Appendix and Glossary The book's chapters begin with introductions of leading companies with significant e commerce expertise and at least two small case studies They include 10 or more hands on exercises encouraging readers to explore and analyze sites and a list of key terms and bibliographic citations They conclude with 25 30 review questions and 6 10 projects for further investigation Offers a generalist's overview of the field and its major players for people with little or no technical background Every chapter starts with an industry profile and two information boxes which serve as case studies and point to practical applications Projects and hands on exercises conclude each chapter

Preparing for Electronic Commerce Hal Stern, Information Management Forum, 1995      Enterprise E-commerce Peter Fingar, Harsha Kumar, Tarun Sharma, 2000-01-01 A holistic view of technology and business comments on the concepts jargon strategies scalability interoperability adaptability and integration of applications markets and customer service      Electronic commerce : technical, business and legal issues. A multidisciplinary approach to E-commerce, reflecting the latest research, 1999      Agent Mediated Electronic Commerce II Alexandros Moukas, Carlos Sierra, Fredrik Ygge, 2014-03-12 The Internet is spawning many new markets and electronic commerce is changing many market conventions Not only are old commercial practices being adapted to the new conditions of immediacy brought forth by the global networks but new products and services as well as new practices are beginning to appear There is already ample evidence that agent based technologies will be crucial for these developments. However, many theoretical, technological, sociological, and legal aspects will need to be addressed before such opportunities become a significant reality. In addition to streamlining traditional transactions, agents enable new types of transactions. For example, the elusive one-to-one marketing becomes more of a reality when consumer agents capture and share or sell consumer demographics. Prices and other transaction dimensions need no longer to be fixed; selling agents can dynamically tailor merchant offerings to each consumer. Economies of scale become feasible in new markets when agents negotiate on special arbitration contracts. Dynamic business relationships will give rise to more competitively agile organizations. It is these new opportunities combined with substantial reduction in transaction costs that will revolutionize electronic commerce.

Electronic Commerce Ronald J. Mann, 2011-03-23. The only casebook dealing with e-commerce. Electronic Commerce Fourth Edition utilizes problems to expound a transactional approach to electronic commerce. Written by Ronald J. Mann, a preeminent and prolific Commercial Law scholar, this system-oriented text is structured around the hypothetical representation of a technology company. The new edition has been meticulously updated with the latest cases and problems that reflect those cases and current issues. This concise casebook offers Distinguished authorship. Ronald Mann is a leading scholar in Commercial Law and recently served as Reporter for revisions to UCC Articles 3, 4, and 4A. Lucid and concise reading assignments that use non-technical language whenever possible. Need to know technology is explained clearly and accessibly. Exercises that clearly illustrate current issues in e-commerce practice. Dozens of separate assignments so that professors can easily concentrate on their own areas of interest. Coverage of important commercial law topics including Click-through contracts, Cybersquatting, Web site development, Software licensing, Electronic payments. New to the Fourth Edition: Updated problems based on recent case law and current issues. New cases including Rescuecom Corp v Google and Second Circuit decision permitting lawsuit against Google for selling ads based on trademarked name Jacobsen v Katzer and First appellate decision validating licenses for open source software Jaynes v Commonwealth of Virginia and Virginia Supreme Court case invalidating Virginia anti-spam law under First Amendment Fair Housing Council v Roommates.com and Ninth Circuit en banc decision on liability of Web site for discriminatory postings seeking roommates Chicago Lawyers and Committee for Civil Rights Under Law Inc v Craigslist Inc and Easterbrook decision exonerating Craigslist for behavior similar to Roommates behavior condemned by Ninth Circuit Conwell v Gray Loon Outdoor Marketing Group Inc and Indiana Supreme Court case interpreting contract for design of Web site.
