Invisible Stars Donna Halper, 2015-02-11 Invisible Stars was the first book to recognize that women have always played an important part in American electronic media The emphasis is on social history as the author skillfully explains how the changing role of women in different eras influenced their participation in broadcasting This is not just the story of radio stars or broadcast journalists but a social history of women both on and off the air Beginning in the early 1920s with the emergence of radio the book chronicles the ambivalence toward women in broadcasting during the 1930s and 1940s the gradual change in status of women in the 1950s and 1960s the increased presence of women in broadcasting in the 1970s and the successes of women in broadcasting in the 1980s and 1990s The second edition is expanded to include the social and political changes that occurred in the 2000s such as the growing number of women talk show hosts changing attitudes about women in leadership roles in business more about minority women in media and women in sports and women sports announcers The author addresses the question of whether women are in fact no longer invisible in electronic media She provides an assessment of where progress for women in society as well as broadcasting can be seen and where progress appears totally stalled

Nationalising Femininity Christine Gledhill, Gillian Swanson, 1996 What was the relation between gender and nation when the waiting woman was displaced by the mobile woman and homes were flattened by bombs What happened to notions of femininity sexual difference and class as women moved into the workplace and donned dungarees military uniforms and utility clothing

Strictly Confidential (for Young Girls) Alice. M. Hustad, 1944 Latin in Modern Fiction Henryk Hoffmann, 2021-07-06 The goal of this book is to prove that Latin is not a dead language by demonstrating how prevalent and strong it still is in modern Western culture In order to do so the author an English philologist with a long experience as a Latin educator catalogues explains and interprets Latin quotations and references in a multitude of twentieth and twenty first century literary works by primarily mainstream authors from Aldous Huxley to Saul Bellow to John Irving crime mystery writers from Raymond Chandler to Elizabeth George to Dennis Lehane and frontier western novelists from Emerson Hough to Larry McMurtry The three areas of fiction constituting the main scope of the book indicate the author's major interest and preference as well as the subject matter of his extensive research both prior and current the former related to his already published books The writers offering the most impressive contributions to the thesis are featured in the three parts of the main body those with lesser input are listed in the Appendix The prospective readers of the book include all Latin students and educators at the secondary and college levels worldwide Fashion on the Ration Julie Summers, 2015-03-05

September 1939 just three weeks after the outbreak of war Gladys Mason wrote briefly in her diary about events in Europe Hitler watched German siege of Warsaw City in flames And she continued Had my wedding dress fitted Lovely For Gladys Mason and for thousands of women throughout the long years of the war fashion was not simply a distraction but a necessity and one they weren't going to give up easily In the face of bombings conscription rationing and ludicrous bureaucracy they maintained a sense of elegance and style with determination and often astonishing ingenuity From the young woman who avoided the dreaded forces bloomers by making knickers from military issue silk maps to Vogue's indomitable editor Audrey Withers who balanced lobbying government on behalf of her readers with driving lorries for the war effort Julie Summers weaves together stories from ordinary lives and high society to provide a unique picture of life during the Second World War As a nation went into uniform and women took on traditional male roles clothing and beauty began to reflect changing social attitudes For the first time fashion was influenced not only by Hollywood and high society but by the demands of industrial production and the pressing need to make do and mend Beautifully illustrated and full of gorgeous detail Fashion on the Ration lifts the veil on a fascinating era in British fashion Radio Programs, 1924-1984 Vincent Terrace, 2009-12-07

This is an encyclopedic reference work to 1 802 radio programs broadcast from the years 1924 through 1984 Entries include casts character relationships plots and storylines announcers musicians producers hosts starting and ending dates of the programs networks running times production information and when appropriate information on the radio show's adaptation to television Many hundreds of program openings and closings are included Domestic Modernism, the Interwar Novel, and E.H. Young Chiara Briganti, Kathy Mezei, 2016-12-05 Domestic Modernism the Interwar Novel and E H Young provides a valuable analytical model for reading a large body of modernist works by women who have suffered not only from a lack of critical attention but from the assumption that experimental modernist techniques are the only expression of the modern In the process of documenting the publication and reception history of E H Young's novels the authors suggest a paradigm for analyzing the situation of women writers during the interwar years Their discussion of Young in the context of both canonical and noncanonical writers challenges the generic label and literary status of the domestic novel as well as facile assumptions about popular and middlebrow fiction canon formation aesthetic value and modernity The authors also make a significant contribution to discussions of the everyday and to the burgeoning field of homeculture as they show that the fictional embodiment and inscription of home by writers such as Young Virginia Woolf Elizabeth Bowen Ivy Compton Burnett Lettice Cooper E M Delafield Stella Gibbons Storm Jameson and E Arnot Robertson epitomize the long standing symbiosis between architecture and literature or more specifically between the house and the novel Intermodernism Kristin Bluemel,2011-05-27 This collection of original critical essays newly available in paperback launches an ambitious long term project marking out a new period and style in twentieth century literary history Political and Social Issues in British Women's Fiction, 1928-1968 E.
